TENSION WITH BRITAIN ENDS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 12.—After a rapid-fire exchange of notes between London and Paris, the speed of which is without precedent in diplomatic annals, the Franco-British incident is on the eve of a happy settlement. The result, which now seems assured, is regarded here as a distinct victory for the French Government.

After the details which stand in the way are cleared aside the outcome of the incident, I am informed, will be something like this:

The French Government will declare anew its intention of enforcing the treaty of Versailles, laying emphasis upon those clauses protecting France.

It will declare its intention to act on interallied measures of treaty enforcement only after having obtained the assent of its allies, at the same time reserving for unforeseen possibilities the eventual privilege of individual action, which sovereign right no free nation has ever in history surrendered.

The Germans will withdraw from the Ruhr all Reichswehr troops in excess of the twenty battalions permitted under the agreement of last August, this withdrawal being supervised by allied officers. This done, the allied Premiers will grant Germany a slight extension of the August protocol, which expired April 10.

Under these conditions France will withdraw her troops from Frankfort, Darmstadt, Hanau, Homburg, and Dieburg.

Germany Likely to be Only Loser.

Such a settlement, which may be regarded as almost assured, will have the result of Germany's being the only loser from the whole affair, for she will face a firmer attitude on the part of England and at the same time will see France holding firm to her right of separate action when her vital interests are affected.

Lord Derby, the British Ambassador, handed to Premier Millerand yesterday noon a note setting forth the argument that France had not fully lived up to her agreement to notify and consult her allies before acting on the extension of occupation, and asking for a more detailed explanation of the last paragraph of Premier Millerand's note of Saturday, in which he said that in interallied matters France foresaw no case in which she would not obtain the consent of her allies before acting.

Last evening M. Millerand replied in a note setting forth his view that the notification which he sent two days before Marshal Foch acted, as well as previous conversations, constituted ample notification and consultation. As for the last paragraph, he said that it meant that, although France foresaw no such eventuality, she could not absolutely close the door on the possibility of individual action in the future.

At 1 o'clock today Lord Derby delivered another note from Earl Curzon, asking for a still further statement as to France's reservation of the right to individual action. M. Millerand this afternoon explained orally to Lord Derby, besides incorporating his explanation in a formal note, that France desired, above all things, the maintenance of the alliance, coupled with the enforcement of the treaty.

Millerand's Note Pleased Derby.

M. Millerand recalled that the English note of yesterday declared the intention of Great Britain to enforce the treaty. That being the case, M. Millerand argued, there was no issue of individual action, since the enforcement of the treaty was all that France sought.

As for absolutely binding herself never to act in the next thirty years in any matter connected with the treaty which affected the vital and peculiar interests of France, M. Millerand said that never in history had there been any such condition attached to any alliance.

I understand that Lord Derby was well satisfied with M. Millerand's explanation, and at once sent a communication to the British Cabinet to that effect. It is believed that Lord Derby

Jersey Gives $100 Bonus Expected to Cost $12,000,000

TRENTON, N. J., April 12.—The Senate tonight passed the House Soldiers' Bonus bill, allowing $10 a month for each month a New Jersey man served in the war with Germany. A maximum of $100 is fixed. A bond issue of $12,000,000 for paying the bonus will be referred to the people to vote upon.

CABRERA SHELLS GUATEMALA CITY

MANY CIVILIANS KILLED

Marines Landed from Our Warships — Minister McMillin Seeks to Act as Peacemaker.

GUATEMALA CITY, April 12 (Associated Press).—Many noncombatants have been killed in Guatemala City, which has been under shellfire of the forces of President Estrada Cabrera since Thursday evening.

The city is undefended except by volunteers armed with rifles. On one day the bombardment was kept up from 10 o'clock in the morning until 8 at night. Shells fell in various parts of the city, and the casualties are believed to have been heavy.

Cabrera is strongly intrenched in La Palma, outside the city.

MEXICO CITY, April 12.—The Estrada Cabrera Government in Guatemala has been overthrown, according to dispatches to the newspapers here. The revolutionists have formed a new Government, with Carlos Herrera as President.

Advices to The Universal of Mexico City from Tapachula, State of Chiapas, say that the Unionist Party is triumphant. The revolt began in the capital, and spread quickly to the interior and principal cities. Firing in the capital continues. The principal railroad is in the hands of the Unionists.

One report has it that Cabrera is a prisoner, and another that he is besieged in his home.

Great excitement prevails throughout the republic. Numerous Guatemalans are crossing the Mexican border to participate in the revolt.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Guatemala City has been captured again after street fighting by revolutionists, and Estrada Cabrera, President of Guatemala, has withdrawn from the capital, it is announced by the State Department today.

According to unofficial but authoritative advices which have reached Washington, Cabrera has been declared not responsible by the National Assembly, and Carlos Herrera, a large plantation owner and man of affairs, has been chosen as provisional President.

Marines from the United States ships Tacoma and Niagara have been landed for the protection of the American Legation, the State Department says. President Cabrera's forces, with artillery, hold important strongholds near the city, including Matamoras, San José nd La Palma.

Benton McMillin, American Minister to Guatemala, has been instructed to use his good offices in an effort to compose the differences between the rival political factions. The attitude of the United States Government was announced in the statement issued last week by Mr. McMillin, following the proclamation by President Cabrera, in which the latter promised that an immediate program of reform would be put into effect and the appointment made of a new and progressive Cabinet.

In some quarters here the view is held that Cabrera withdrew from the capital to surrounding strongholds which dominate the city so as to avoid an actual battle with the revolutionary forces, and that he intends to try to "starve them out" by controlling the water and other supplies from the outside.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (Associated Press).—Dispatches to the Guatemalan Legation say President Cabrera was hoping American Minister McMillin would be able to bring about a settlement which would avoid further bloodshed.

The Legation says there are practically no Government troops in the capital and that the troops are concentrated at Matamoras, a fortress on the outskirts, and at President Cabreras' Summer home, La Palma, in the suburbs.

117,833 Migrate to Canada in 1919.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 12.—The Department of Immigration and Colonization today announced that during the 1919 calendar year 117,833 immigrants entered Canada, and during January and February, 1920, there were 8,816 more admitted. The total number of immigrants who have entered the Dominion since 1891 is 3,730,321. There are no statistics available in the department relative to emigration.

STRIKE DOUBT IS CLEARED

ALL FOUR WIRE MESSAGES

MEN VICTIMS OF AGITATORS

Talks with Them in Jersey City Show They Have Been Misled as to Union.

It became apparent yesterday that the mysterious persons who started the railroad strike by appearing among the switchmen at various places and bidding them quit work had conveyed the impression to the men that the strike had the secret connivance of the officials of the four railroad brotherhoods, who dared not openly approve it for fear of coming in conflict with the law. Inquiries by a TIMES reporter among the strikers in Jersey City showed this impression to be quite general. That the railroad officials had become aware of this impression was shown by the making public of correspondence between Vice President W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania and officials of the brotherhoods, in which the latter strongly reiterated their disapproval of the strike.

Brotherhood officials were very active yesterday in trying to remove this false impression from the minds of the strikers and to persuade them to return to work. They addressed meetings of the strikers in various parts of the country. Samuel Gompers and W. G. Lee made strong addresses in Cleveland, the headquarters of the trainmen's brotherhood.

Following these efforts railroad officials and officials of the four railroad brotherhoods held a conference last night at the Grand Central Station and agreed to co-operate to end the strike. The conference was called by John G. Walber, Secretary of the Bureau of Information for the Eastern railroads, who came here from Washington for that purpose. The others participating in the conference were Timothy Shea, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; L. G. Griffing, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and S. C. Cowan, representing the Order of Railway Conductors. This was the first official conference here since the strike began between railroad and brotherhood officials.

Believe Strike Will "Burn Out."

The consensus of those attending the conference was that the strike would "burn itself out." The conference followed a day's missionary work by the Brotherhood officials among the men in the New Jersey terminal district, which was said to have shown some promise of results.

Mr. Walber said after the conference that he had received information that the strike was losing ground at Chicago, Indianapolis, Columbus and other Western points, but that the situation locally was unchanged. In explaining the local situation, he said that some additional men had gone out during the day, but that others, who had been on strike, had returned, the net result being no change.

Mr. Walber said that the local brotherhood leaders had done their best to have the men ignore the radical agitators promoting the strike and respect their contracts. He characterized the strike movement as a "mob" movement, and asserted that it is bound to break, but did not venture to predict how soon the break might be expected. One of the surprising things in connection with the strike, Mr. Walber said, was that men, who had been always classed as conservative, have become infected with radicalism. He declared that the entire strike movement was fostered by radical influences.

The Atterbury Correspondence.

The correspondence between Mr. Atterbury and the brotherhood officials follows, beginning with Mr. Atterbury's letter:

I find that the strongest propaganda that is influencing our men, particularly the younger men, is the word that is being passed around that this movement has the support of you gentlemen and the organizations you represent, but that, in view of the fear of injunction being served on you and your organizations the strike is being engineered by word of mouth and that no regular orders have been issued or are to be expected.

Of course, I am not in a position to show what you have already done, but I cannot help but feel that your position is not understood by all your members locally and therefore, for your own sake and the sake of the organizations you represent my suggestion is that you declare your position, through your reguar channels, to the local chairmen, in no uncertain terms.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 12, 1920.

There is no truth in the report that present strike movement has our sup-

Jersey Boy Doomed by Germans Shot Dead in Trying to Escape

BERLIN, April 12.—Paul De Mott of Paterson, N. J., supposed to be an American citizen, was shot dead by a sentry while trying to escape from the prison at Wesel, where he was held under death sentence.

The Foreign Office has ordered an immediate investigation. Just what De Mott was sentenced for is not known.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The United States Commissioner at Berlin has been instructed to investigate the case of Paul De Mott, reported sentenced to death by a courtmartial in the Ruhr district. De Mott is said to have been charged with participating in revolutionary activities.

PATERSON, N. J., April 12.—Wilbur R. De Mott, father of Paul De Mott, said today that at the beginning of the war his son left Alfred University to enter the merchant marine. Later he began to do publicity work for the American Society of Friends in Paris, and afterward engaged with the Red Cross in similar work.

HOWAT DENOUNCES GOVERNOR AS 'SKUNK'

Head of Kansas Miners Also Assails Legislature and the Judge Who Jailed Him.

SPEAKS FROM JAIL BALCONY

Crowd Votes Thanks to Sheriff at Girard Who Permitted Prisoner to Address Them.

GIRARD, Kan., April 12.—Alexander Howat, head the Kansas Coal Miners' Union, speaking from a balcony of the jail here by permission of the Sheriff of Crawford County, denounced Governor Allen as a "skunk of a Governor" before several thousand persons, mostly miners and their wives, gathered in front of the jail here today. Howat is in jail for refusing to testify before the State Court of Industrial Relations.

"We won't recognize this court," Howat said. "It is composed of three corporation lawyers appointed by that skunk of a Governor, Allen."

Howat denounced over and over in the most bitter terms he could command the Governor and the Legislature which enacted the law. He also paid his respects to Judge Andrew J. Curran of the Crawford County District Court, who sentenced him to jail for contempt. Judge Curran had been referred to in a newspaper story as a sturdy American.

"They talk," said Howat, "about sturdy Americans—sturdy Americans who send men to jail who have committed no crime. The men and the women are going to attend to these sturdy Americans when they get the opportunity."

Howat spoke for an hour. He was repeatedly cheered by the crowd which mobilized two or three miles outside of the town and marched in following a band carrying American flags and banners. One of the latter read "We are for the U. S. A." After parading around the court house square, the friends of Howat gathered in front of the jail.

While Howat was speaking, Thomas Harvey, Secretary Treasurer; August Dorchey, Vice President; and Robert Foster, Auditor, all district officials of the Kansas miners who are in jail with Howat, stood on the porch of the jail. Sheriff Webb appeared on the balcony with Howat, and the crowd voted thanks to him for allowing Howat to deliver his address.

Following the breaking up of the gathering in front of the jail, miners marched around the square and in the corner of the square another meeting was held. It was addressed by a Socialist orator.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 12.—Ninety per cent. of the coal miners of Kansas are idle today. The miners refrained from work as a demonstration of protest against the imprisonment of Alexander Howat, their President, and three other district union officials.

In the District Court today, Judge Curran, upon application of attorneys for the Court of Industrial Relations, issued an order for the appearance before the Industrial Court as witnesses of twenty-five persons, most of them miners' union officials, some being district officials. The order is similar to that issued against Howat and other district officers, now in jail.

PRINCETON MEN OFFER TO BREAK THE STRIKE

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 12.—Princeton University students have offered themselves as railway strikebreakers. Samuel Rea, President of the Pennsylvania lines, has notified President Hibben that, while he cannot use volunteers at this time, he will not hesitate to call on the students if they are needed. Independent groups of students left Princeton this afternoon to help break the strike. A number of them, including several members of the football team, have gone to aid the Erie and the Lackawanna until Sunday.

The last train from Princeton to Princeton Junction was run at 1:15 this afternoon. The civil engineering department stands ready to furnish enginemen for the locomotives if the Pennsylvania so desires.

COPELAND FEARS CRISIS SOON

WANTS A MEETING TODAY

STORED EDIBLES LISTED

Appeal to Workers' Leaders Counted Upon to Insure More Shipments.

Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland declared last night, following a two-hour conference with twenty-odd dealers and distributers of the various food commodities, that unless the present conditions as regards food, brought about by the harbor and railroad strikes, are immediately relieved the lives and health of the people of the city will be menaced. His first step toward relieving the situation was issuance of a call last night for a meeting in his office this afternoon with the leaders of the railroad strike. He promised not to reveal their names and said that if they did not want to come to his office he would meet with them anywhere they might suggest. The food situation alone would be dealt with by Dr. Copeland, who says that some way must be found to open the regular channels through which foodstuffs are daily brought to this market.

There are more than 40,000,000 pounds of meats, fish and butter in cold storage in New York City available for immediate use, as well as a large quantity of canned goods, but this supply will not provide for the subsistence of the people for many days, Dr. Copeland said. It is absolutely necessary that the usual daily shipments be received in order that there may be no want.

While the situation has not reached that point yet, Dr. Copeland said that if the food supply of this city should be materially reduced for as short a period as two weeks he would not want to be responsible for health conditions that might arise from bubonic plague, cholera and typhus fever coming to our shores from European ports. Without proper nourishment the resistance of the people would be so low that an epidemic of the plagues of Europe would be sure to follow, in his opinion. It is in the hope of bringing the union leaders to an agreement to handle foodstuffs without resort to his powers as Health Commissioner that Dr. Copeland has called the conference with the unknown strike leaders this afternoon.

Little Food Received.

Very little food was received in the city yesterday, and the Washington Street market district wore the appearance of a holiday. Milk trains came through, but were delayed several hours in some instances. Dr. Copeland made it plain that he did not consider the food situation as justifying hoarding by persons who have the money to buy supplies for days ahead. Nor did he consider it sufficient to justify the dealers in asking excessive prices, though he conceded to them the right to pass on to the consumer the extra amount they are now forced to pay for carting goods from the points they are obtained from the railroads. The Department of Justice took a similar view of the situation, and justified the action of the meat packers yesterday in advancing the price of meat 1 cent a pound. Dr. Copeland said he saw no reason for the reported advance of 1 or 2 cents a loaf on bread by the bakers, as a representative of the Ward Baking Company said enough bakery materials were on hand to last two or three weeks.

"There is a great mystery in the leadership of the railroad strike," said Dr. Copeland. "My duty as Health Commissioner is to get in touch with the leaders of this movement. I extend an invitation to every leader in this strike to appear at the Health Department office Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. I desire to point out to them the evil effects of an under supply of food and the necessity of protecting the community against this menace or the switching to an unusual diet.

"I am confident that for the sake of the common cause no leader in this movement would wish to deprive the women and children of necessary food."

Dr. Copeland said that it had been a month since New York received its normal daily food supply, on account of strikes of longshoremen and harbor workers, and before that storms interfered with movement of some of the supplies.

The conference yesterday was attended by the following: J. J. Fitzpatrick, F. W. Duryea and I. N. Hungerford of Borden's Farm Products Company; J. E. Reid, William Voorhees and R. W. Nix of the Fruit and Produce Trades Association; H. H. Williams, Milk Products Corporation; F. X. Pur-

Summary of the Rail Strike Situation In New York at 3 o'Clock This Morning

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY practically had abandoned commuter service for today because of the walkout of switchmen and firemen last night. Freight service was suspended.

NEW YORK, NEW HAVEN & HARTFORD annulled many trains, including the Merchants' Limited to Boston. Other trains were delayed. The commuters' service was crippled. Parlor, dining and club car service was stopped. Freight service was suspended.

ERIE passenger and freight service continued suspended east of Port Jervis, except for occasional mail and milk trains. Trains from the West consolidated on Port Jervis and arrived here many hours late.

LACKAWANNA passenger and freight service continued suspended. Through trains ran irregularly. One commuters' train was brought in by a volunteer crew.

PENNSYLVANIA passenger service was curtailed 50 per cent. All service was delayed and irregular. Many through trains were taken off.

BALTIMORE & OHIO passenger service from the Pennsylvania Station was subject to the same irregularity as Pennsylvania trains. Several trains were canceled. Freight service on Staten Island was suspended, but was later partly resumed.

LEHIGH VALLEY operated most of its through trains, subject to delay. Trains from Pennsylvania Station were delayed, and several were consolidated. Some freight service was maintained.

NEW YORK CENTRAL ran its normal service, with slight delays. Dining cars were stopped. Some freight was moved.

WEST SHORE maintained good passenger service on schedule. Freight service was suspended.

LIFT EMBARGOES IN CHICAGO

Thousands Are Forced Out of Work in Detroit, Columbus and Other Points.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Officials of the railroad brotherhoods, which are fighting the insurgent union, declared tonight that the status of the "outlaw" strike was as follows:

Much improved in Chicago.
Better throughout the Middle West.
Worse in the East.

From the Ohio River west to the Coast, they said the strike is breaking up, but from Pittsburgh east it is gaining strength. Reports received here tonight indicate that the tieup of the steel and iron districts of Pennsylvania is so complete that unless the walkout ends within the next two or three days 225,000 men will be thrown out of work in the Pittsburgh field alone. Coal shortage has already hit Gary, Ind.—for eight days not a carload of fuel has come in and 10,000 men in the steel mills are idle as a result.

The opening of lake navigation is expected to help the situation before the end of the week.

Chicago's freight terminals showed marked improvement today. Some of the roads lifted the embargoes which were declared last week and the Illinois Central was operating a full force of engines and handling an 80 per cent. of normal freight traffic. The St. Paul, where the strike started two weeks ago, was operating 114 crews and during the day this road opened, the east "hump" at Mannheim.

The Northwestern reported work in its yards was nearer being cleaned up than in a month past and that eighteen yardmasters had returned to work. The road lifted its freight embargoes.

10,000 Return to Stockyards.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy brought in cattle trains today and 246 cars of livestock were received at the yard today. More than 10,000 employes who had been forced out of work by the strike returned to the slaughtering and packing houses today. About 85,000 stockyards workers are still out of employment. All told, it is estimated 25 per cent. more freight moved into the Chicago switching yards today than on any day since the walkout.

About 25 per cent. of the normal supply of coal is being received.

Officials of the brotherhoods declare that the significant feature of the day's developments was the return to work of regular men who had been on strike. They insisted the improvement was not due today to an influx of men from outside points or to the recruiting of strikebreakers. This was, however, strenuously denied by John Grunau, head of the "insurgent" union.

A. F. Whitney, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, declared that the strike was rapidly disintegrating in the West. Messages, he said, showed that in Seattle, Tacoma, Denver, Pueblo, Memphis, and Cincinnati the men were standing solid and refusing to strike, and that in Fort Wayne, Columbus, Akron, Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Saginaw, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Superior some switchmen returned to work.

In Kansas City the Rock Island's men went back, and at St. Joseph, Mo., a large freight centre, trainmen by a vote

STRIKERS TIE UP JERSEY CENTRAL

BAR HURLED INTO COACH

The principal gain made by the strikers yesterday was in the calling out of trainmen, yardmen and switchmen of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which previously had maintained its passenger schedules.

Most of the crews deserted their trains as fast as they came into Jersey City with trainloads of commuters in the morning, and for a time it appeared that about 30,000 commuters would be stranded in New York. President W. G. Besler and other officials of the railroad hastily crossed the river and pleaded with the strikers, who had remained near the railroad yards, to postpone the strike until the commuters, thousands of whom were personal friends of the railroad men, had been taken home. This plea was effective, and enough men stayed on the job to take return trains, belated and doubled in size, over all the lines of the Jersey Central.

On reaching the other ends of the runs last night, however, the crews announced that they were through and that no trains would run over the Jersey Central today. Jersey Central officials admitted tasl night that the service today would be greatly reduced, but said they hoped to run some trains.

Bar Hurled Through Window.

The first violence of the strike occurred yesterday morning, when an iron bar was hurled through the window of a passenger coach on a Jersey Central passenger train at Richard Street, Jersey City, striking the head of John McDonald, 45 years old, living at Matawan, N. J. He was hurt only slightly. The man who threw the missile escaped. Railroad police could not advance any reason for the throwing of the bar.

Two train crews, consisting of fourteen men, struck at 7:30 o'clock last night, leaving trains awaiting passengers at St. George, Staten Island, just as a ferryboat from Manhattan drew in. Superintendent E. F. Kelly rushed out into the yards and collected substitute crews regularly employed in passenger service, and by the time the passengers were aboard the emergency was over. The trains left on schedule time.

This is the extent of the strike on the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railroad, in spite of the fact that the yards swarmed during the day with agitators from New Jersey. An engineer, speaking for the older employes of the road, said there was no sympathy with the strike, and it would not spread. The crews that abandoned the trains were young men, with comparatively little experience, he said.

Outbound Freight Made Up.

While there was no incoming freight over the Arthur Kill Bridge connecting with Arlington, N. J., outbound freight was made up without interruption at the St. George and Clifton yards, on Staten Island.

Railroad employes to the number of approximately 1,500 in the Pennsylvania Railroad freight yards in and around Trenton went out yesterday, completely paralyzing all freight transportation in and out of Trenton. The yards affected are the Coalport and Barracks in Trenton and those at West Morrisville, Pa., across the Delaware River from Trenton. All the Trenton em-

GAINS MADE BY STRIKERS

SOME P.R.R. CREWS RETURN

Business Men Stoke Engine on Morristown Train—Citizens Promise Aid Today.

The "outlaw" strike made big gains yesterday and last night, wiping out the suburban service of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which had been previously unaffected by the strike, and making further sharp reductions of the passenger service of the Pennsylvania and the New Haven. The Long Island passenger service was impeded, but not disorganized.

The crews of the 11 o'clock and 11:30 o'clock trains leaving St. George on the North Shore Division of the Staten Island and Rapid Transit Company struck last night, tying up the service from St. George to Port Richmond, New Brighton, Mariners' Harbor, West Brighton and other towns and compelling theatregoers to bid for taxicabs and undergo long waits in getting home. It was predicted that this would be followed by a general walkout on all three divisions, cutting off 20,000 commuters from Manhattan.

The strongest stand was made against the strike by the New York Central, which maintained its passenger service uninterrupted in the face of scattering strikes of switchmen and yardmen, and continued to run gigantic "food specials" into Manhattan Island on its west side tracks, which now forr the life line of New York. No danger of food shortage in New York exists while the New York Central can run its vital freight service.

The milk trains, generally, were not interfered with by the strike, and it was stated officially last night that New York City had on hand a milk supply for forty-eight hours.

At the Pennsylvania Railroad offices it was said early this morning that some of the crews of electric engineers who had struck had reported for work late last night. The day trains, it was reported, would be operated by ten crews working sixteen-hour shifts. The electric service to Manhattan Transfer will be augmented by eight new crews to replace some of the fifty who walked out. Twenty-three crews had reported for duty this morning, the train dispatcher said.

Officials of the international brotherhoods sent here to aid in stemming the tide of the "outlaw" strike were hooted down and silenced at meetings in Jersey City and Newark, but they asserted, despite these demonstrations, that the force of the strike was spent and that the men would gradually return to work.

Business Men Stoke Engines.

The public showed yesterday the first signs of asserting its power. Business men boarded a train at Morristown, N. J., when the firemen had struck, and kept steam up for the engineer by shoveling coal all the way to New York.

Commuters began to hold meetings in New Jersey and to pledge themselves to go to work on the railroad as strike breakers if the breakdown of service continued. President Hibben of Princeton was authorized by the students to offer their services to aid in maintaining the vital service of the railroads to the nation, but President Rea of the Pennsylvania replied that they could not be used at present.

Officials of the Erie Railroad announced last night that they were going to run a train from Tenafly and one from Englewood with the help of citizens who have volunteered to act as firemen.

The first violence of a strike which, considering its widespread and sensational character, has been singularly free from violence, occurred yesterday on the New Jersey Central. An iron bar was thrown through the window of a passenger coach in Jersey City, hitting a man on the head, but not injuring him seriously.

"Outlaw" agitators sought yesterday to induce employes of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company to follow the example of the Hudson Tube employes and join the strike. This move was opposed by the regular officials of the union, but it created much unrest among the B. R. T. employes. Receiver Garrison issued a statement, threatening the discharge of any who quit. The B. R. T. employes met yesterday, without action, and will meet again today to consider joining the strike. The Interborough employes have so far been little affected by the strike agitation.

The twenty-seven ferryboats, which have been maintained in operation in spite of the strike of railroad boatmen, handled big crowds and gave satisfactory service yesterday to commuters. The shutdown of the Hudson tubes was partly offset by the fact that thousands of commuters remained at home, rather-than venture forth, in the face of the uncertain transportation conditions.

The Board of Trade and Transportation announced that urgent and essential freight had been sent out of New York City in motor trucks to points as far distant as Springfield, Mass., and that a flood of inquiries had come from New England cities from manufacturers who want greatly needed materials sent by motor trucks.

The board has been seeking to organize a motor-truck freight system to handle freight to and from New York City in the order of its importance, but has been blocked so far by the fact that most vehicles fit for this purpose have already been engaged. Thousands of motor trucks have been freed for this use by the freight stagnation in this city.

The search for a central inspiration and directing genius of the strike was prosecuted by the railroads and by the Department of Justice yesterday without any reported success. The names of the men who apparently give orders remained secret.

A committee composed of bolting Brotherhood officials and radical agitators was reported to be holding conclaves and influencing the strike from some place in New York City. Railroad officials asserted that orders of strike leaders were being executed with a military precision which proved the existence of brains at the top and an efficient organization controlled by them.

Deny They Have Leaders.

Strikers, on the other hand, asserted that the strike had no leaders or organization, and that it was an idea which was producing such widespread effects. Dissatisfaction with the Government, with the railroad companies and with the Brotherhood officials, because of the delay in acting on wage demands, were given as the sole reasons for the movement.

Mayor Hague, who gave whole-hearted support to the strike in a speech on Sunday, yesterday begged the strikers to go back to work to save their neighbors and fellow-citizens from suffering, but he made no apparent impression on them.

Many big factories in New Jersey were closed for lack of coal or raw materials, and men and women were thrown out of employment by the thousands.

JERSEY COMMUTERS OFFER TO AID ROADS

Residents in the districts of New Jersey that have been most affected by the tieup of the transportation systems are offering their services to the railroad companies to run the trains that the strikers abandoned, in defiance of the leaders of their organized brotherhoods.

At Englewood and Tenafly, N. J., hundreds of men answered a call to attend mass meetings, at which the situation was described as intolerable and unjustifiable. After a number of speakers had denounced the action of the "outlaw" strikers the citizens unanimously volunteered to go to the assistance of the railroads and help man the trains.

Mayor McKinney of Englewood and Roger Clark, State Highway Commissioner of Tenafly, following the meetings in their respective communities, got on the telephone immediately to inform J. J. Mantell, Chairman of the General Managers' Committee, that they were ready to put on overalls and stoke the trains running from Englewood and Tenafly.

Mr. Mantell gladly accepted the offers. He promised that he would have two ten-car trains ready for each of the places this morning. The first will depart for New York at 7 o'clock, with the second starting at 7:20.

When the 4:15 train for Morristown, N. J., left the terminal of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad at Hoboken in the afternoon it was manned, with the exception of the conductor and the engineer, by a group of Morristown residents, composed mostly of bankers, who were determined that their train, known as the "Millionaires' Special," should continue to run.

The announcement that the citizens of Morristown had elected to serve as trainmen on this particular train was made from the offices of the Lackawanna Railroad at 90 West Street. This was the first outbound train to leave the terminal in Hoboken during the afternoon rush hour.

The crew of embryo railroad men had put forth untiring efforts throughout the day, and toward afternoon they seemed to have mastered many of the elementary details of railroading. Some of the improvised crews, upon the delivery of their train at the Hoboken terminal changed their clothes and went to their offices in Manhattan. Others had forgotten to bring along a change. They returned to their homes, looking not much worse for wear and tear.

The amateur firemen received the most attention, for they were depended upon for the power with which to make the run possible. They were coached by one of the veterans of the Lackawanna, George Black, who has been an engineer in the service of the road for thirty-seven years.

William L. Lyall, President of the Brighton Mills; Henry C. Richardson, President of the Richardson Steel Company, and other Passaic manufacturers offered to run trains after a special meeting last night of the Passaic Board of Trade.

A committee was named to organize a fleet of motor trucks to bring milk and other products from farms. The milk supply was reported so low that all adults would be asked to use no milk. The coal shortage was reported acute at several of the industrial plants. A ration of 50 per cent. of normal food supply was discussed. Resolutions asking the Government to take immediate steps to restore traffic were adopted.

STRIKE DOUBT IS CLEARED

Any such statements being circulated among the men are absolutely untrue. In order that there may be no mistake regarding our position I am today issuing a circular letter to all divisions.

> WARREN S. STONE.

W. S. Carter, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, replied from Cleveland, quoting and indorsing the statement issued jointly by the executives of the four organizations on April 9, as follows:

> The present strike of men engaged in switching service was originated in Chicago, being a new organization which has for its purpose the destruction of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union, and in its inception had nothing to do with wage questions, but was a demand for the reinstatement of the leader of this opposition organization. After this strike was instituted for this purpose, the leaders of the new organization then injected the wage question for the sole purpose of deceiving the yardmen throughout the United States and promoted the "One Big Union" idea. There can be no settlement of the pending wage question while this illegal action continues.

> I am sending out word in no uncertain terms, stating our existence is at stake, to work in yards if necessary. Have mailed Elisha Lee and yourself sample copies of instructions sent Chairmen Lines East and Long Island.

C. E. Musser, General Chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, has authorized the management of the Pennsylvania System to make public the following message sent out from this city today by Mr. Musser, to all local chairmen and members of his organization on the lines of this railroad/system:

> In these moments of stress may I not charge you with your responsibility to your Government, to your organization and to the company by which you are employed?
> No doubt you will be told that this is a "sub rosa" strike, which it is claimed the organization has sanctioned. In all sincerity, I desire to say to you on my word of honor that the present strike is unauthorized; that the Brotherhood will not in any way lend its support to the strikers; but rather lend its support in an endeavor to maintain regularity of service.
> To those of you who have been in the service of the company for a great number of years, I advise you not to permit the agitator, at this critical moment, to influence your good judgment and induce you to leave your job, as after the agitator has tried out his purpose of disruption, you perhaps may be without a job. Therefore, permit me to charge such of you as are loyal to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and loyal to the company which employs you, to return to your jobs and those who have not discontinued work, to remain on your job, so that we may show to the world that we are a law-abiding organization and that we will uphold the integrity and the obligations we assume to members of the organization.

Strikers Deceived.

During the progress of four meetings of the strikers yesterday, and particularly at a meeting of the local unions of firemen and engine-drivers held in Odd Fellows' Hall, Bergen Square, Jersey City, strikers openly declared at the close of the meetings that the four International Brotherhoods were "in sympathy" with the strike, and that the references to the strikers as "outlaws" by high officials of the international organizations were "camouflaged."

The meeting in Odd Fellows' Hall yesterday afternoon, however, did not develop much outward respect for Timothy Shea, President of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers, who, from reports received from some of the strikers at the close of the meeting, unsuccessfully endeavored to urge the men to return to work.

Shea was the first international officer to appear in Jersey City since the men went out last Friday. He entered Odd Fellows' Hall soon after the meeting of Locals 3 and 53 of the firemen and engine men's organization began. He was accompanied by L. G. Griffing, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Thomas R. Dodge, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

About 1,000 of the strikers of the two locals managed to get into the hall, but 500 others had to remain outside because of lack of space within. Soon after the meeting began sounds of tumult were heard outside.

"Put him out; he's not one of us!" "Make him sit down!" "Throw him out!" were demands that drifted through the side windows of Odd Fellows' Hall to the crowd of persons gathered in front of the building.

The meeting was in progress for more than two hours before any of the strikers began to leave the building. When some of them were approached they declared that Shea had attempted to address the gathering on four occasions, and that each time he was howled down. Shea's eyeglasses were destroyed during the excitement, it was reported, but the manner in which they were destroyed could not be ascertained.

One group of strikers, intercepted after they had left the meeting in Odd Fellows' Hall, at first refused to talk about the strike and its developments, but when their attention was called to the fact that officers of the international body have been insisting that the strike was illegal they became incensed and declared that statements that they were "outlaws" were without foundation.

"Have you heard anybody say that any of the locals in this district have received word directly from headquarters in Cleveland that we must not go on strike?" one of the men asked.

He was reminded that W. G. Lee, President of the International Brotherhood of Trainmen, had declared that the strike was unauthorized, and he immediately replied: "That's all right. You can believe that if you want to. But don't believe that the four big Brotherhoods are not in sympathy with us in this strike. The statements given out by the leaders denouncing us as 'outlaws' are for the benefit of the newspapers, and are not intended for us."

It was plain at the close of the meeting in Odd Fellows' Hall that the strikers themselves are getting tired of the secrecy which surrounds the strike, and are endeavoring to obtain more light on the question of whether the international organizations intend to aid them in any manner in winning the strike.

One of the strikers, who seemed to be in charge of the group stationed outside the building, volunteered to intercede with the leaders, who remained in the hall for an hour after the meeting adjourned, and after fifteen minutes he came out and declared that the "Executive Committee" would issue a statement at 9 o'clock this morning at Grand View Hall, in Ogden Avenue, regarding what had taken place at the meeting. Attempts to learn the identity of the members of the "Executive Committee" were met with the statement: "You will not learn who the members of the Executive Committee are."

Earlier in the day strikers to the number of 2,000 met in Grand View Hall, where they were reported to have been addressed by Vice President Griffing of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Vice President Dodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Unlike the meeting at Odd Fellows' Hall, where only firemen and engine men were admitted, the meeting in Grand View Hall was open to the strikers of all the unions that joined in the walkout—the firemen, enginemen, conductors, trainmen, switchmen and yardmen.

One of the strikers later explained that although the meeting in Grand View Hall was in progress all day, its purpose merely was to keep "pep" in the strikers, so that they would not return to their work.

At 11 o'clock in the morning a committee of twelve strike leaders called on Mayor Frank Hague in the City Hall in Jersey City, in compliance with a request from the Mayor for a conference looking toward having the strike leaders submit their grievances to a board of arbitration. The twelve strike leaders, it was declared later, had been elected by 120 delegates selected by the local unions in the strike, three from each union, following the appearance of Mayor Hague before the strikers Sunday at a meeting held in Grand View Hall.

Charles F. X. O'Brien, Commissioner of Public Safety, participated in the conference with the Mayor, and after discussing the matter for an hour and a half the meeting adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock. Before the conference began Mayor Hague issued an appeal to the railroad and tube strikers in which he asked them to suspend the strike, "because if this strike continues, even for a few days longer, the metropolitan district will face starvation."

After all of the strikers had left Odd Fellows' Hall, at 6 o'clock in the evening, it was said that a committee had been selected by the firemen and enginemen to join the conference in Mayor Hague's office at 10 o'clock this morning, and that Acting President Shea of the International Brotherhood will be among those who will participate in the conference.

Mayor Hague, at the close of the conference with the twelve labor leaders, issued a statement in which he took issue with E. V. Rine of the Lackawanna Railroad, who is Chairman of the General Managers' Committee of the railroads in the strike situation, on the latter's attitude in refusing to treat with the men through the Mayor, because of published statements made by Hague upholding the cause of the strikers.

Mayor Hague also announced that the strike leaders who attended the conference in his office had refused to order the men to return to their work. Mayor Hague was asked if he knew who the men are that are behind the strike, and he declared that he did not. He said he did not care to reveal the identity of the men who called on him in his office and said that he appeared at the meeting in Grand View Hall Sunday unexpectedly.

The only strike leader he could recall meeting at Grand View Hall, he said, was Edward McCue, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the United Railroad Workers of America, the name of the new organization of the strikers.

GOMPERS SPLITS RANKS OF CLEVELAND STRIKERS

Some Yardmen Say They Will Return to Work This Morning—Others Waver.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, April 12.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, and W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, today told about 350 trainmen, mostly striking yardmen, that their strike would fail and the only way to get their demands is to return to work at once.

On their way out of a meeting held here today many strikers said they were in doubt, some said they would be back at work at the switches in the morning, and others declared they would stay out "till the railroads come across with more money."

The two labor leaders, with W. S. Carter, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, spoke at a meeting arranged by the five trainmens' locals here.

"The life of organized labor is at stake in this strike," President Gompers asserted, adding: "Without question the demands of the strikers are justified. You are entitled to more wages and you are entitled to a living wage, but the method you are using to get it cannot gain you a single thing.

"The strike will simply assist in discrediting legitimate labor organizations.

"For the sake of organized labor, for your own sake, return to work."

Gompers recalled the famous strikes of 1877 and 1894 as leaderless efforts, like the present one, and said the damage they did to bona fide labor organizations of the time was being repeated.

"The adjustment through the Labor Board is a slow one, but the slow method is the strongest in the end.

"You strikers are making a serious mistake by taking hold of this new and untried method, renouncing the established policies of organizations which have been here more than thirty years."

President Lee of the Trainmen's Brotherhood then questioned Mr. Gompers before the strikers' audience concerning the actions of both in Washington two months ago, when the trainmen were pressing their demands for wage increases.

The trainmen at that time were threatening to strike and the abrupt withdrawal of the strike threat led to the discontent among trainmen which he blamed in part for the present revolt against Brotherhood regulations.

Gompers said Lee had told him that he would call out the Brotherhood of Trainmen alone if the other thirteen railway labor organizations refused to cooperate. This was in Washington in February.

Gompers said he then asked Lee: "Do you think this is the time to call out a strike, with the boys on the hill (Congress) threatening to pass anti-strike legislation?"

Gompers said Lee replied: "Sam, I've stood against it long enough. I am sitting on the lid of a volcano. It's likely to blow up any minute. I can't and won't hesitate any longer. But I know the attitude of Congress as well as you do. It's no use to tell me this—come now and tell it to the other thirteen executives and the twenty-two trainmen's committeemen."

So Gompers made an address to the representatives of the fourteen railway labor organizations that day in Washington, about Feb. 27, in which he argued against any strike which might bring about anti-strike legislation. Such laws would affect all organized labor too seriously for years, he said.

Lee had Gompers review the whole story to show the strikers, he said, that he and the brotherhood had done everything in their power to obtain wage increases quickly and that they had been deterred from a strike only by considerations they deemed weightier than even the necessity for higher wages.

GRUNAU'S CHARGE DENIED.

CHICAGO, April 12.—President Grunau of the Yardmen's Association today denied that the switchmen's strike was illegal.

"The brotherhood chiefs who accuse us should come with clean hands," he said. "The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen took a strike vote in secret two weeks ago. Ballots were cast at 140 points, and authorized brotherhood officers to call a strike if their demands for increased pay and better working conditions were not granted. If our strike, cleanly called in the open, is illegal, what do they call tactics like that?"

J. A. Farquharson, an officer of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said Grunau's charge was "a fabrication out of whole cloth."

SHEA SAYS MORE PAY WILL END STRIKE

Vice President of the Firemen's Brotherhood Says It Is the Only Way.

An immediate and substantial increase in pay is the one thing which will put an end to the strike, Vice President Timothy Shea of the Brotherhood of Firemen, said last night after the sixteen-hour meeting of the New Jersey State Executive Committee of the Brotherhood in the Recorder's Courtroom at Hoboken last night.

The meeting of the Executive Committee, which was attended by 200 local officials, including men on strike and men opposing it, ended without result and will be resumed today in the hope of agreeing on a program of demands. Mr. Lee, who has opposed the strike, said that it was hopeless to try to get the strikers to return to work without an increase in pay.

Mr. Shea said the cost of living had increased 95 per cent. and railroad employes had received an increase of only 50 per cent. in wages.

"Railroad men have waited and waited patiently," he continued, "and they feel now that something should be done to relieve this situation. They have willingly and patriotically carried the burden themselves during the period of the war and since the armistice was signed. That is the cause of the crisis today.

"When the railroad men showed in 1919 that they were not receiving enough for the support of themselves and their families, President Wilson asked them to do nothing because his Administration was about to reduce the high cost of living. If the high cost of living was not reduced, he said, he would ask for an increase in pay ample for themselves and for their families. But the high cost of living was not reduced, nor was the wage increase granted. They waited until Jan. 28, when they took up the question again with the President and received no satisfaction at all."

Later, he said, the Director General of Railroads told the men he was unable to do anything because the railroads were about to return to private ownership. Then, said Mr. Shea, the men decided it was time to take the situation into their own hands.

CALLS STRIKE, UNION REBUKE.

Firemen's Local Official Accuses International Chief of Despotism.

An official of Local 666 of the Brotherhood of Firemen, which met at McGuire's Hall, in the Bronx, said yesterday that the main object of the rank and file of the railroad men in joining the strike was to chastise the international officials, who are accused of exercising despotic control over their followers and of being negligent in pressing their demands.

"Why don't you get rid of them?" he was asked.

OUTLAWS AGITATE TRANSIT LINE STRIKE

Work Among Employes of I. R. T. and B. R. T., Officials of Companies Report.

Officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company yesterday were told that many motormen and guards employed by the company had been asked to strike by men who had visited them on the trains, at their homes and on their way to and from their work. It was said the attempt to tie up the lines by personally soliciting the men began late Saturday, continued all day Sunday and was still going on yesterday afternoon. The efforts of the troublemakers, it was said, had failed in every case, but that it was possible that some of the employes might finally be induced to join the army of outlaw strikers.

James L. Quackenbush, general counsel for the Interborough Company, said plans were made two days ago to fight any attempt to interfere with operations. Men were sent out on all lines to observe those who talked with employes, and other men were stationed at the various terminals, with instructions to discover whether any employes had been solicited to quit work.

A similar situation, it was said, existed among the employes of the New York Railways Company. Some of the employes of these and of other surface lines had been asked to quit work by men who were careful to conceal their affiliations, but little attention had been paid to them. Mr. Quackenbush expressed the hope that before long the efforts of the company to discover the identity of the men who were seeking to tie up the lines would succeed. He said that when this was accomplished all danger that any success would attend their efforts would rapidly disappear.

Rumors that the employes of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company had become restless and dissatisfied over the delay on the part of the company in putting into effect the changed working conditions agreed upon, and that the more radical of them were indulging in talk of a possible strike, were heard in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon. The union of the men, the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, will hold a special meeting this evening at the Brooklyn Labor Lyceum. It was hinted yesterday that an attempt would be made by the radical element to have the leaders who have been carrying on the negotiations with the company replaced by representatives who could be counted on to "deal more firmly" with the company. This, it was reported, might result in a serious split in the union between the radicals and the conservative element, which latter is largely made up of the older employes.

List of Food in Storage.

The holdings of principal food commodities in public cold storage houses in New York City on April 1 last were announced yesterday at the New York office of the Division of Foods and Markets of the State Department of Farms and Markets. The figures follow:

Butter, lbs..	3,057,016	3,092,049	—35,033

Added to the above are 6,000,000 pounds of army beef and 500,000 pounds of pork. The army has in storage here 18,000,000 pounds of beef, but 12,000,000 pounds of this amount are included in the statement of the holdings in the public cold storage houses. In addition the army has a large quantity of canned goods in warehouses. There are about 200 private storage warehouses in the city, which have many millions of pounds of meats, canned vegetables, &c.

The consumption of butter in this city is 60,000 pounds daily, Dr. Copeland said. The army yesterday released 13,000,000 pounds of cheese for use in this zone.

Fifteen carloads of spinach, cabbage, peppers and potatoes were received yesterday, according to Commissioner of Public Markets O'Malley. Spinach, lettuce and potatoes started out high, but on slight demand the prices dropped, it was said.

Watching the Profiteers.

It was announced at the office of the Flying Squadron of the Department of Justice that agents of the department were at all the markets yesterday, and also at the Mercantile Exchange, in search of violators of the Lever act. The agents suspected that much "injurious speculation" was going on on the exchange, it was said. It was also announced that President W. H. Maher of the Mercantile Exchange asked brokers on the floor yesterday to refrain from bidding in butter, and would make the same request again today. Dealers assert that if this policy is continued butter prices will drop substantially.

Mr. O'Malley said he was prepared to stand on his original statement that there were sufficient supplies of non-perishable foods in the city to cover a period of six months.

"These foods are in the hands of private dealers," he said, "over which the Department of Markets has no control."

100 Cars of Meat Arrive.

It was said in a statement issued last night from the offices of the New York Central that 100 cars of meat and provisions had been unloaded in the west side yards along Eleventh Avenue during the day. An additional 100 cars are between this city and Albany and are expected to arrive today. During the day a trainload of hogs, consisting of twenty-five cars, and nineteen cars of other livestock were received at the West Thirtieth Street yard. A quantity of west-bound freight was also sent out yesterday from the Kingsbridge yard in the Bronx. It was said that unless something unforeseen occurs four trains of sixty cars each, bringing food products, will arrive here today from Chicago.

WILSON PREPARED TO ACT ON STRIKE

Palmer Also About to Take Steps—He Declares Law Is Sufficient to Protect Public.

LABOR BOARD COMPLETED

Will Be Nominated Today—Mail to be Protected — Poindexter Offers Drastic Bill.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Both the White House and the Department of Justice declared today that they were prepared to act in the strike crisis.

At the White House it was announced that the President was in a position to take command of the situation. Joseph P. Tumulty, Secretary to the President, took luncheon today with Attorney General Palmer, and it was said at the White House that President Wilson had kept in close touch with the situation.

Brice Claggett, Assistant to the Director General of the former Railroad Administration, which remains in existence long enough for liquidation, called at the White House in the afternoon, but said that his visit had nothing to do with the strike.

The names of the members of the Labor Board, authorized under the Transportation Act, it was officially announced at the White House, will be sent to the Senate tomorrow for confirmation. It is believed here that the White House pins much faith to the view that the actual setting-up of this board will do much to quiet the turbulent situation.

There seems to be no doubt that the Senate will confirm the nominations for the board. The speeches of the Senators, coupled with Senator Medill McCormick's demand for the appointment of the board, bears this out. It is undersood that not all of the three men selected by the President to represent the public on the board have yet accepted.

Palmer Says Law Is Adequate.

In an interview this afternoon Attorney General Palmer said:

"The Government will not run away from its responsibilities. There is plenty of law on the statute books for the protection of the people. The law will be enforced. The question now with the Government is one of completion of the investigation of the facts."

To what extent this investigation of the strike has gone was not disclosed by Mr. Palmer's department. The fact that officials of the Department of Criminal Investigation were more tight-mouthed than usual lends color to the view that their agents have made a thorough inquiry into the matter.

It was learned that while the Department of Justice feels confident that it has the situation well in hand, it has not actually decided upon its course. There appear to be two probable roads open to the Government. One is prosecution for conspiracy under the Lever law, on the charge of interfering with the dispatch of foodstuffs and necessaries of life. While the idea that it would be difficult to prove conspiracy in the present case prevails in some quarters, Federal officials here laugh at the suggestion that the strike was not brought about by conspiracy.

The alternative left to the Government would be individual arrests in extreme cases of physical interference with train movements.

"What is behind this strike?" is the chief question in Washington. The outstanding view here seems to be that radicals of some kind have stimulated and have probably incited it. This charge is laid at the door of the I. W. W. and also of the Plumb Plan advocates.

Cummins Gets White House Assurance.

In the Senate today there was vigorous criticism of the strikers but no action affecting the situation was taken. While the investigation which the Interstate Commerce Committee was ordered to make hung fire, Senators upon the floor denounced as Bolshevistic the walkout of railroad employes and demanded legislation making a repetition of such a strike impossible.

A measure intended to prevent future strikes interfering with transportation was introduced by Senator Poindexter of Washington. It imposed heavy penalties and would act as a deterrent, Senator Poindexter said.

Early in the day Senator Cummins, Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, called at the White House to learn when the railroad labor board created by the Esch-Cummins law would be appointed. Mr. Cummins did not see the President, but stated after he left the White House that he had been assured that the board would be named today or tomorrow.

Senator Cummins said that he believed that an amendment to the law permitting the board, when appointed, to go to work in Washington immediately, instead of setting up headquarters in Chicago, as provided in the law, would save much time. He said that records and other data which the board would require were in Washington, and to move them to Chicago would entail a loss of time, which might result seriously.

Terms of Poindexter Bill.

As soon as the Senate met, Senator Poindexter presented his bill, which provides:

1. That whoever with intent to obstruct, delay, hinder, impede or prevent the movement of commodities in interstate or foreign commerce shall "by word of mouth or by the presentation, exhibition or circulating of written or printed words or otherwise solicit, advise, induce or persuade or attempt to induce or persuade any person or persons engaged in any capacity in the production, care, maintenance or operation of any means or agency of such commerce to quit such employment shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $10,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding ten years, or both such fine and imprisonment."

2. That whoever by force or violence, or by threats of force or violence, tries employment or continuing in employment in connection with agencies of commerce shall be fined $15,000, imprisoned for fifteen years, or both.

3. That whoever destroys or persuades others to destroy ships, cars, tracks or any other agency of commerce shall be fined $10,000, or imprisoned ten years, or both.

"The outlaw unions backing this strike," said Senator Poindexter in presenting the bill, "are claiming the right to dictate the management of the railroads.

"It is Bolshevism, pure and simple. It is backed up by every anarchist and revolutionist, alien and domestic, both of the outdoor and parlor varieties."

Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey read into the record telegrams from the Mayors of Hackensack and Tenafly, condemning the strikers and urging Governmental action.

"I want to raise my voice in behalf of action which will make any conspiracy to starve or freeze the American people in the future illegal," said Senator Frelinghuysen. "This strike has almost reached the point of red revolution."

Senator Edge declared that a law should be enacted making it a crime for transportation workers to quit without giving due notice of their intention when by quitting they would cause suffering or loss to the general public.

Charges Political Obstacles.

"Nothing will be done by Congress until after the election," commented Senator Thomas of Colorado. "Senators were warned weeks ago that the Plumb Plan would be made the basis of a vigorous campaign. This mysterious strike is evidently the carrying out of well-laid plans to that end. The strike we now face is an organized effort to punish the representatives of 110,000,000 people because they failed to provide for Government ownership of railroads. It is a part of the propaganda, financed from Russian sources.

"Do you think anything will really be done until after next November? The head of the Department of Justice, the distinguished Attorney General of the United States, is a candidate for the Presidency. Half the members of this body are absent, campaigning for themselves or others."

Senator Kellogg of Minnesota scored Congress for failing to act courageously. "We will do nothing," he said, "but the day is coming when we will do something. When that time comes men cannot take a nation by its throat and starve it to death."

Expect Federal Decision Today.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (Associated Press).—Decision as to the Government's course in the railway strike situation may be reached tomorrow, Attorney General Palmer announced today.

"The department has done nothing," Mr. Palmer said. "We are watching the situation with keen interest and investigating it with great care. We went all angles of the situation before we decide."

The Federal agents were "gathering up loose ends" in their inquiry, Mr. Palmer said.

"I want it distinctly understood," he added, "that the Government is not going to take sides in this controversy. What I mean is that it will not fight the battles of the railroad companies as against the strikers or the battles of the strikers as against the railroads. It was created to serve the people, who support it, and they will be protected."

Vigorous action will be taken if there is any interference with the transportation of the mails as a result of the strikes, it was announced at the Post Office Department. Otto Praeger, Second Assistant Postmaster General, sent this telegram of instruction to all Superintendents of the railway service:

"Instruct all chief clerks, transfer clerks and others to report any obstructions, directly or indirectly, by conspiracy or otherwise, of passage of mails as result of strikes, together with names of person or persons involved. Bring to immediate attention of local Post Office Inspectors, Inspector in charge and United States District Attorney, with request that offenders be vigorously prosecuted if facts warrant. See Sections 1,690, 1,712, 1,714 and 1,718, postal laws."

Officials had under consideration measures for feeding communities which might be cut off by the strike. War Department stores were said to be located in half a dozen large cities and, should food conditions necessitate, could be drawn upon.

The food shortages had not reached a stage tonight where outside help was necessary, but served to bring the Government face to face with the problem of soaring prices. Federal District Attorneys and field agents were instructed to deal with individual and firms "making exorbitant profits out of the situation" under the profiteering statutes.

The Motor Transport Corps of the army is ready to move "to the aid of any city imperiled" by the strike, according to announcement by the Council of National Defense. The Federal Highway Council, which handled the question for the Council of National Defense, has undertaken co-ordination of various schemes for utilizing the motor transport should the strike continue.

RECRUITS LEARNING IN HUDSON TUBES

While Lines Are Shut to the Public, Practice Trains Run Regularly.

The Hudson tubes still were closed yesterday, with the exception of empty instruction trains which were run over the lines on a regular schedule which was started on Sunday night by officials of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company to instruct new trainmen, who are required under the regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission to make a certain number of runs before they can become qualified as expert train operators. At the close of the day the company's officials apparently were not satisfied that it had broken in the new men sufficiently to warrant any attempt at a resumption of regular service, and the office of the General Superintendent issued a brief statement saying:

"We do not expect to handle service tomorrow."

The extent to which the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company is planning the replacement of the strikers is a matter that is being closely kept from the knowledge of all outsiders. Those employes who have remained loyal to the company have been instructed to divulge no information concerning the condition of the tube system or its plans for the resumption of service, and have been told to refer all inquiries to the office of Oren Root, the President.

Efforts to see Mr. Root were made without success, as it was explained each time that he either was very busy or was out of his office. The other officials were equally reticent about the preparations that are being made to break the strike.

HOTELS OVERFLOW WITH THE STRANDED

Because of the railroad strike, demands for reservations continued to pour into the hotels yesterday, and there seemed little likelihood that the condition would improve today. Those who are in town and have important business are unwilling to take a chance in being marooned out of town, and travelers to distant points reason that it is far more comfortable to remain here than to run the chance of being held up at some remote place.

It was a fortunate man who found a room in a hotel after 10 o'clock last night. All the emergency billets were pressed into service, and there was scarcely a ballroom or banquet room in the city last night that was not transformed into a dormitory. Most of the large hotels simply closed their registers early in the evening and the clerks spent their time trying to place guests in other hotels.

The clubs proved to be a haven for members living out of town, and for the first time in the history of many of them cots and beds were placed in smoking rooms and lounges. Turkish baths served as a last resort for many and hospitable friends found themselves flooded with calls from self-invited guests. Few commuters were courageos enough to join their families in the country, and the telephone lines were kept busy with men eager to inform their families they were all right, but "simply didn't want to take a chance."

of three to one decided to remain at work.

At Omaha and Council Bluffs, where "insurgents" tried for four days to cause a tieup, the men were said to have torn up their cards in the new union and to have voted the money they gave it to the Salvation Army.

At Dayton, Ohio, 300 switchmen voted to end the strike tomorrow.

At St. Louis passenger service was reported back to normal and although freight traffic was still paralyzed the strike of the yardmen was said to be waning.

In Detroit about 50,000 workmen in factories were laid off tonight for lack of electric power.

The "insurgent" union did not present demands to the railroad managers today. The managements themselves took the ground that they could not and would not enter into any negotiations with the strikers.

Officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, replying to the statement of the striking switchmen that present rates of pay made living conditions intolerable, have published an excerp from the "time book" of their Chicago yards covering the twenty-seven working days in March. The statement says:

"Twelve men received $300 and over. Seventy men between $275 and $300, twenty-six men between $250 and $275, forty-two between $225 and $250, thirty between $210 and $225, thirty-one between $200 and $210, seventy-three between $175 and $200, seventy-seven between $150 and $175, twenty-one less than $150.

ployes in the passenger service on the New York Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad are reported to be out, with the exception of one man. Superintendent Clark of the Trenton Division has asked the police for protection in case of trouble, but none has developed yet.

As a result of the strike in Trenton more than 3,000 employes of the shipyards at Bristol, Pa., are idle. About 000 shipyard workers in Trenton were forced to turn back yesterday when the Pennsylvania Railroad canceled its usual commutation train because there was no crew to man it.

100,000 MEN ARE IDLE IN PITTSBURGH FIELD

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Approximately 1,000 railroad men, including shopmen, machinists, power plant men, electricians and yard and road engine crews joined the ranks of strikers at the Conway Yards, an important Pennsylvania line terminal at Rochester, Pa., this afternoon. It is estimated that between 4,000 and 5,000 men are out at the yards now. Passenger train engine crews remained at work, but it is said the strike of the shopmen will seriously interfere with passenger service in the Pittsburgh district.

Sixty switchmen and trainmen in the Cleveland and Pittsburgh yards of the River Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Bellaire, Ohio, are reported to have joined the ranks of the strikers.

The railroad freight tie-up in the Pittsburgh district was almost complete today and passenger traffic was seriously affected. Blast furnaces and other sections of the steel industry were more and more feeling the influence of the strike, and more than 100,000 men, it is estimated, are already out of work.

The general offices of the Central Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad today issued the following statement:

DETROIT SHORT OF FUEL 50,000 OUT OF WORK

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., April 12.—Approximately 50,000 men were thrown out of work at 5 o'clock this afternoon through the Detroit Edison Company restricting the use of electric current on account of the strike of railway switchmen. More than 50,000 men face idleness if the strike continues another week.

Use of current will be limited to essential industries until the situation is relieved, the company announced, and Detroit returns to a war basis in the matter of light and food.

After a conference with the Market Director, Mayor Couzens said that the same rules regarding purchase and hoarding of food as prevailing during the war should be observed. He is considering calling a conference of food dealers to check profiteering.

The Edison Company supplies power to the majority of manufacturing concerns in the city, but these do not include Dodge Brothers, Packard Motor Car Company, and Ford Motor Company.

MORE WALK OUT IN COLUMBUS

Strikers Call Out Crews Handling Passenger Traffic.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 12.—The Columbus Yardmen's Association, composed of nearly 3,000 striking switchmen here, late today voted to call out tonight all switching crews employed in this city to handle passenger traffic.

Only about fifty switchmen are affected by the order, it was said, but strike leaders said the action would prevent passenger trains made up here from leaving the city. Railroad officials denied that the strike of switchmen in the passenger service would prevent movement of trains.

Practically every railroad yard worker in the city has joined the new organization, leaders said tonight. It was declared 1,200 men joined the organization today.

SOME RETURN IN ST. LOUIS.

Freight Service Is Still Crippled and Many Industries Shut Down.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 12.—Some of the striking switching engineers and firemen returned to work today in the yards of the Terminal Railroad Association and officials of the Terminal report material improvement in the traffic situation.

No attempt was made today to handle freight. Officials declared that there are enough switch enginemen back to handle the freight, but that switchmen, switch tenders and other yard employes are still out.

Sixty coal mines in Illinois have been shut down, throwing 25,000 men out of work. St. Louis industries are feeling the effects of the coal shortage and many plants have been shut down, others have coal for only a day or two.

NEW ENGLAND PREPARES.

Governor Has Motor Trucks Ready to Distribute Food.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 12.—New England is prepared should the railroad strike spread to this section. It is hoping to spread to this section but it is hoping to escape. Determined efforts are being made by the strikers to get New England men out, but so far they have had their labor for their pains.

Governor Coolidge announced today that while he anticipates no difficulty from the present trouble between the railroads and their employes, he has caused to be prepared, through a committee, complete plans for meeting the public needs in case railroad transportation should be suspended. The plans call for mobilizing motor trucks in sufficient numbers to move into Massachusetts and to distribute all food supplies necessary to feed the public. The Governor is confident of the plans meeting the emergency if the occasion arises.

STRIKERS AT SYRACUSE VOTE TO RESUME WORK

Reserve Right to Quit Again in Ten Days if Demands Are Not Granted.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 12.—Switchmen, trainmen and other employes on the lines of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and New York Central Lines in Syracuse tonight voted unanimously, after a session of nearly four hours, to return to work at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning for a period of ten days.

They named a joint committee of four men representing employes of each road to lay their conclusions before T. W. Evans, Assistant General Manager of the Central, and G. C. Ferris, Assistant Superintendent of the Lackawanna, and delegated the same committee representatives to go to Washington to take up their emands for higher wages with the heads of the various brotherhoods and with and through them with the wage commission to be named by President Wilson, or, in case of failure to immediately appoint that board, with the President himself.

They reserved the right to go out again in ten days if there was no assurance that consideration was at once to be given to their claims.

The return to work tomorrow morning marks the first big break in the walkout in the East. More than 600 men had left their positions an the De Witt freight yards, one of the largest in the United States, had been seriously crippled.

Vice President R. D. Starbuck of the New York Central Lines said at an early hour this morning that the decision of the men employed in the yard at Syracuse to return to work today meant that the backbone of the strike was broken.

READING SYSTEM CRIPPLED.

Not a Freight Car Running, Though Passenger Cars Are Operated.

READING, Pa., April 12.—The tie-up on the Reading Railway tonight, as far as the movement of coal and freight traffic is concerned, is the worst since the great strike of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in 1877. About 500 yardmen, switchmen and freight men are out in Reading and vicinity. Not a car is being received, or passing East Penn Junction, Rutherford or Philadelphia. What freight and coal is moving, is being sidetracked, but passenger trains are in operation.

All of the mines of the Reading Coal and Iron Company, as well as individual operations in the Schuylkill region, resumed work this morning, and it is expected the output at the mines will reach normal, but will be held up by the walkout.

Nearly all of the switchmen in this city have responded to the order to quit. This move is sure to cripple the industrial plants, and may cause most of them to cease operations. Few of the industries have more than a few days' supply of fuel. Even the Reading Railroad Company is short of bituminous coal.

STRIKE BRINGS MANY TIMETABLE SHIFTS

New Haven, Pennsylvania and Jersey Central Revise Schedules to Meet New Conditions.

Walkouts on the New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Pennsylvania caused new changes in schedules yesterday, further complicating the passenger transportation service.

Twenty-three New York, New Haven and Hartford trains were annulled, including the Merchants' Limited, leaving at 5 P. M. for Boston. All passenger service on the Harlem River branch of the New Haven road had been withdrawn. All parlor cars were withdrawn except on the Knickerbocker Limited, leaving at 1 o'clock for Boston. It was hoped to operate sleeping car trains leaving at 11:35, 12:00 midnight and 12:10 o'clock this morning.

The following trains were cancelled:

EASTBOUND—LEAVING.

46..7:51 A. M. for Boston.
268..9:46 A. M. for Winsted.
88..10:50 A. M. for Springfield.
272..2:55 P. M. for Springfield.
24..5 P. M. for Boston.
288..5:30 P. M. for New Haven.
202..10 P. M. for New Haven.
30..11 P. M. for Boston.

WESTBOUND—DUE.

297..2:30 A. M. from New Haven.
275..8:44 A. M. from New Haven.
45..2:48 P. M. from Boston.
267..4:27 P. M.: from Winsted.
83..5:40 P. M. from Springfield.
23..10:10 P. M. from Boston.
283Y..10:53 A. M. from Stamford.

Train 53 is combined with 83.

Trains 102, 218 and 164 will make special stops at Mount Vernon, Columbus Avenue and Pelham.

Seven trains from New York to New Rochelle were taken off. They are No. 140, leaving 3:50 P. M.; No. 142, leaving 4:12 P. M.; No. 144, leaving 4:18 P. M.; No. 146, leaving 4:32 P. M.; No. 148, leaving 4:45 P. M.; No. 136, leaving 4:51 P. M. and No. 150, leaving 4:57 P. M.

The Pennsylvania service was demoralized. Thirty trains were canceled, while thirty-seven trains were run, with delays ranging from two minutes to one hour and fifty-five minutes. Only eight trains left on time.

The following trains are announced for today:

Train No.	Name of Train.	Scheduled Leav'g Time.
103	Washington Express	12:15 A.M.
101	S. A. L., So. Ry. Wash. Exp.	12:30 A.M.
203	Philadelphia Local	12:45 A.M.
105	Washington Newspaper Exp.	2:10 A.M.
171	Federal Exp. to Washington	2:30 A.M.

33	Panhandle Express	2:08 P.M.
29	Broadway Limited	2:55 P.M.
127	Congressional Limited	3:25 P.M.
173	Colonial Exp. to Washington	3:30 P.M.
31	The St. Louisan	5:04 P.M.
129	Washington Express	5:08 P.M.
23	Manhattan Limited	6:04 P.M.
45	Chicago Mail	6:55 P.M.
11	St. Louis Mail	9:45 P.M.
37	Iron City Express	11:30 P.M.

In addition to the above service out of New York, other scheduled trains will be run from time to time as conditions permit.

South Orange residents will be able to reach New York this morning on a train leaving at 8:30 o'clock, manned by their own fellow townsmen. East Orange, in all probability, will follow the lead of the other towns of Northern New Jersey. The townspeople have been called upon by their Mayor, Charles H. Martens, to attend a mass meeting tonight at Ashland's School, when it is more than likely that they will decide to offer their services to the Lackawanna.

STATE NATIONAL GUARD READY FOR ACTION

It was reported last night that the State National Guard units had received instructions to be ready for instant call in case they should be needed for strike duty. Major General John F. O'Ryan, Commander of the Guard, at his home, 312 Riverside Drive, declined to affirm or deny the report. General O'Ryan said it was the Guard's duty to be ready in any emergency.

It was learned from official sources at the same time that the State Guard is in good shape for mobilization. Over 3,000 men and 369 officers who served with the 27th Division overseas have re-enlisted in the State organization.

FREIGHT AT A STANDSTILL.

Milk Cars and Small Amount of Perishables Alone Moved.

Freight service on all the railroads remained practically suspended yesterday, although some of the roads moved a few cars of perishables. Many milk cars, which are not run as a part of the freight service, were also moved.

The Pennsylvania Railroad expects to float forty more carloads of food by noon today. One hundred and seven cars of food have been placed at Jersey City, of which about seventy cars were floated to New York yesterday. There has been a complete stoppage of freight movement east of Trenton.

The New York Central brought several trains of live stock and perishable freight from the West yesterday. Cars were laid out in the west side yards, where produce dealers were asked to go with their trucks.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford has practically suspended its freight service because of the strike of the Harlem River yard switching crews and the marine strike.

The Baltimore & Ohio freight service was suspended for a short time yesterday and then partly resumed.

The Erie, Lackawanna, Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Lond Island freight service remained practically suspended.

Situation Worse in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—Late tonight the Pennsylvania Railroad Company admitted that the strike situation was growing worse. It was estimated by the company that in the Philadelphia district alone 2,500 men are now on strike, of this number 2,192 are shopmen. Up to 9 o'clock tonight 105 of the 700 trains originating, passing through or terminating in Philadelphia, had been cancelled.

GOVERNMENT WATCHES MAIL SERVICE DELAYS

The action of the railroad strikers in abandoning and interfering with trains carrying mail caused the Department of Justice and the post office authorities in this city yesterday to institute a searching inquiry. Officials of these agencies conferred and men were sent to the scenes where disorder was reported to ascertain the facts.

In the absence of United States District Attorney Francis G. Caffey, who was reported to be marooned somewhere in New Jersey by the strike, no definite word as to what further procedure would be taken could be ascertained. Assistant United States District Attorney Ben A. Matthews said that he was giving his attention to the mail situation in his district, which covered Manhattan, the Bronx and points upstate to just south of Albany.

"I am investigating all the reported cases of desertion of mail trains and alleged interference of mail trains by strikers," Mr. Matthews said. "The postal officials are aiding me in getting the facts of these cases."

It was said that a report made to him of the desertion of the train at Port Jervis was to the effect that the firemen would have continued on their jobs until the train reached its destination if the railroad officials had not insisted that the passengers be carried as well as the mail.

William E. Cochran, Chief Inspector, and F. J. Schardt, Superintendent of Railway Service at the Post Office here, are in charge of the postal end of the investigation. They are including in their investigation a survey of the whole mail situation since the strike began.

Mr. Schardt said he had wired the Post Office Department in Washington that it would be advisable to use army motor trucks to transport mail to a number of places in New Jersey reached by local train service which has been demoralized by the strike. He said that up to yesterday the Post Office here was able to handle the mail without difficulty, but the volume of parcel post matter, which has increased daily since the freight and express embargo, would handicap them unless the situation improved.

Residents of Tenafly, N. J., who have been without mail since Saturday morning, were grateful yesterday to Major Vernon Olsmith, commanding officer of Camp Merritt, who sent a motor truck under guard to Jersey City, to bring back the accumulated mail. This gave rise to the report that United States soldiers had been sent to guard the mails.

Railroad officials said yesterday that the action of the Erie employes in abandoning the Chicago express at Port Jervis had caused Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer to return to Washington from Georgia to make an investigation of the occurrence.

$180,000 - $120,000 = $60,000. These are the figures that speak plainly for themselves and for the Knickerbocker Ice Co.

The $180,000 represents how much more it will cost to deliver Knickerbocker Ice to homes this year than last. The $120,000 represents the amount the 10 cent raise on the hundred pounds of ice to family trade amounts to. The $60,000 means just what the subtraction sign says—the amount the company is minus on home deliveries.

The above figures were arrived at by actual comparison of payrolls of last year and this year. Figure out for yourself what the Knickerbocker Ice Company is doing to keep down the cost of your pure ice and your living expenses.

FERRYBOATS ABLE TO HANDLE TRAFFIC

Railroads Operate 27 Across Hudson—Care for Crowds Diverted from Tubes.

FEWER COMMUTERS CARRIED

Wagons and Trucks with Perishable Goods Transported—Autos and Buses Aid Travelers.

The railroads employing ferryboats between Manhattan and New Jersey won a decided victory over the outlaw strikers yesterday when they demonstrated that, with the combined use of twenty-seven vessels, they were able to transport hundreds of thousands of persons to and from New York across the Hudson River, many of whom had been diverted from the Hudson tubes when that system was put out of commission by the strikers. It was known that the strikers had counted largely on a demoralization of the cross-Hudson traffic.

But all those who took passage on the ferries, either way, reached their destinations without much trouble or delay. Of course, there were hundreds on the New Jersey side who gave up all hope of getting to business in Manhattan when they learned that the local service of the Lackawanna Railroad had been completely suspended and that the Jersey Central and Erie local schedules had been greatly curtailed. With the exception of the owners of automobiles, these made no attempt to journey to New York City. Others who feared long delay on the railroad ferries made the roundabout trip to Edgewater, where they crossed on the Fort Lee Ferry to West 129th Street and thence downtown on the subway.

A survey yesterday by the marine divisions of the railroads showed that the following ferryboats and tugs were in service throughout the day: Pennsylvania, 6 ferryboats and 9 tugs; Long Island, 3 ferryboats and 2 tugs; Erie, 3 ferryboats and 3 tugs; Lehigh Valley, 4 tugs; West Shore, 2 ferryboats; Lackawanna, 9 ferryboats and 11 tugs; Jersey Central, 4 ferryboats and 5 tugs; New York Central, 7 tugs; New Haven, 2 tugs.

Many Relied on Autos.

With the local schedules of the Lackawanna Railroad suspended, the commuters of that road were among those confronted with the greatest difficulties in reaching their offices in Manhatan. Most of these commuters relied on motor cars to get them to business.

A half-dozen streets in Hoboken adjacent to the railroad terminal were jammed from early in the morning until evening with dust-covered automobiles. At least 400 were parked there. The trolley cars running to Hoboken and Jersey City were filled to their capacity, as were the buses operated between Hoboken, Newark and the Oranges. The jitney bus owners of the Jersey towns practically abandoned their old routes to reap the harvest of interurban traffic.

Private automobiles, buses and trolley cars, however, were not equal to the task of carrying the number of passengers delivered daily by the Lackawanna Railroad at the Hoboken ferries, and this was taken to mean that thousands of persons had decided to stay at home until the transportation situation was cleared.

When the rush started in the morning, the ferries gave preference to passenger service, and vehicles were kept off the boats until the business crowds had been carried across the river and conditions became more normal. From 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon vehicles were admitted to the boats as usual, and there was little evidence of overcrowding.

Six ferryboats were put in service by the Pennsylvania Railroad, which employed three extra boats. Of these four plied between Cortlandt Street and Jersey City, and the other two between Desbrosses Street and the Jersey shore.

Inspector John Codney, in charge of the police, estimated that 200,000 persons had used the Pennsylvania ferries. The most congested conditions were on the Pennsylvania ferries, where lines extended for long distances from the ticket windows during the early part of the rush. While a notice had been posted that no vehicles would be permitted on the ferries between 6 A. M. and 9 P. M., it was soon seen that this restriction was unnecessary, and trucks and wagons were admitted.

Late last night the Pennsylvania officials announced that the ferryboats in operation by that line had carried the greatest number of passengers across the river ever handled by that line.

Erie Boats Not Overcrowded.

The three boats operated by the Erie Railroad were run to Chambers Street, but at no time were they overcrowded, because only a few through trains of the Erie arrived on the Jersey side and the commutation service was entirely suspended. Neither was there any undue congestion on the ferries of the Central Railroad of New Jersey for similar reasons. The number of commuters who went to Jersey City in automobiles was not as large as at Hoboken. Taxicabs reported a flourishing business, and it was said some of the drivers had charged as high as $15 for fares from points as distant as Paterson.

The two ferryboats between Weehawken and West Forty-second Street were crowded with passengers and vehicles particularly during the early morning and late afternoon. Only one of these boats had been running since the harbor strike, but the company put on an additional boat yesterday and the two were operated on a fifteen-minute schedule. On the Manhattan side were long lines of trucks waiting for passage, and preference was given to those with perishable loads. Because of the closing down of the West Shore ferries from Cortlandt Street, the milk deliveries for Manhattan, handled by the Sheffield Farms Company, were detoured across the Lackawanna ferries, and this added to the early morning congestion on this line.

The Fort Lee Ferry was run throughout the day on an almost normal schedule. Only at times were the boats subject to a slight delay.

Ferry Schedules.

To handle the crowds diverted from the tubes, most of the ferry lines cut down their headway. The night service on the Pennsylvania ferries was operated in a thirty-minute headway, but at 4 o'clock in the morning this was reduced to a fifteen-minute schedule. This was still further reduced to a ten-minute headway at 5:30 o'clock.

The fleet of the Lackawanna Railroad was operated on a twenty-minute schedule during the night, and at 6 A. M. the headway was reduced to fifteen minutes and finally to seven and a half minutes at 7 o'clock. The Erie ferries ran on a thirty-minute schedule throughout the day, as did the boats of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The Christopher Street ferry was operated on a fifteen-minute headway. Many trucks loaded with produce crossed the river by this route.

One of the interesting features of the strike in the tubes is the Hudson Terminal Building itself. This gigantic structure stands as a silent witness to the strike's paralyzing effect upon business. The ground floors of the twin buildings in normal times present the aspect of a bazaar where throngs make their purchases quickly at the scores of business establishments and hurry along to catch their trains for home. As a result of the strike, stopping the flow of the immense crowds through this building, these shops are empty and the shopkeepers idle and disconsolate.

STRIKE AFFECTING CITY'S COAL SUPPLY

Tidewater coal was coming into New York City through only one of the terminals yesterday, the Tidewater Coal Exchange reported, and it was predicted that another week of the strike would see the city at the end of its reserve and the big public utilities companies clamoring for fuel. The coal port of the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Port Liberty, Pier 18, Jersey City, and the terminal at Elizabethport shut down on Friday and Saturday, and the coal ports of the Baltimore & Ohio at Arlington and the Philadelphia & Reading at Port Reading stopped operation yesterday. The Pennsylvania terminal at South Amboy was said to be the only one through which coal was passing yesterday.

About 4,100 cars of bituminous coal are at the coal ports waiting transfer to the city. In addition to this, there are about 4,200 cars of bituminous on the tracks between the mines and tidewater. Until the strike forced the practical closing of the terminals this coal was being dumped on an average of 650 cars a day. The anthracite situation is practically the same.

ALL THE COMMUTERS GOT THERE SOMEWAY

Despite the Chaos, Railroads Cared for Most of the Suburban Passengers.

OTHERS DID THEIR BEST

Timetables Thrown Away—Roundabout Trips and Autos Helped —Crush at Grand Central.

Commuters got in and out of New York yesterday in spite of the demoralization of local service on many of the railroads. There were long delays on all lines, except the New York Central, but railroad officials said last night that nearly all the suburban passengers were carried.

The annulment of many trains on the New York, New Haven & Hartford, the abandonment of all effort to run local trains on schedule by the Pennsylvania, which sent out trains when it could, the almost complete tieup of the Erie, the suspension of Lackawanna suburban service, a temporary tieup yesterday of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, delays on all the other roads, as well as the continued crippling of ferry and tube service, all contributed to the chaotic conditions. Commuters had to throw away their timetables and get into the city the best way they could. In many cases this necessitated automobile trips to nearby towns, where some service, at least, was being maintained. Many roundabout journeys to and from the city were made by persons living in the sections where the service was most seriously disrupted.

The New York Central aided in relieving the situation by carrying from 15,000 to 25,000 commuters who ordinarily used other lines. The Central and West Shore trains were practically on time.

The annulment of several commuters' trains on the New York, New Haven & Hartford yesterday disrupted the service between the Connecticut suburban district and this city. All passenger service on the Harlem River branch to New Rochelle was withdrawn and several commuters' trains on other branches were also taken off. The 7,000 commuters affected by the suspension of service on the Harlem River branch found other means of reaching the city and many other New Haven commuters used New York Central trains, which, it was said, carried about 15,000 commuters more than usual.

The biggest rush in the Grand Central Terminal came last evening between 5 and 7 o'clock. Many New Haven trains scheduled to leave during this period had been "doubled up" and almost every train, except the Boston expresses, were making all local stops. The morning crowds had been handled without serious congestion, but, anticipating trouble last night, the railroad officials called for police reserves to keep the crowds orderly. Inspector Thomas Underhill took charge of the police arrangements and, with the aid of about 100 special police and railroad detectives, a serious jam was prevented.

Several thousand commuters on the Pennsylvania and Long Island branches were delayed in reaching and leaving the city. With service on the Pennsylvania cut down to less than 50 per cent. of normal, trains were running in complete disregard of schedules. Many of the suburban trains were doubling up and through trains were making all stops to carry commuters.

The Long Island commuters, although they were delayed both entering and leaving the city, suffered less than those on other lines, except the New York Central.

'OUTLAWS' GAINING AMONG WORKERS

Brotherhood Officials Shouted Down at Manhattan and Newark Meetings.

$400,000 FUND REPORTED

Brotherhood officials and "outlaw" leaders fough tfor control in Manhattan, at Jamaica, Jersey City, Hoboken, Elizabeth port and elsewhere in the strike area yesterday.

Hoboken, Elizabethport and elsewhere

Each side won local victories, but the "outlaw" element generally more than held its own. While there were no big breaks to the side of the strikers up to a late hour last night, except on the Central Railroad of New Jersey, thousands of men drifted away from their employment on the Pennsylvania, Long Island, New Haven, Lackawanna and other roads. The New York Central held.

Engineers, firemen and conductors attended meetings in Manhattan where objection was emphatically made to brotherhood men joining in emergency crews made up of executives, yardmen and office forces.

Local and international brotherhood officials, who were shouted down when they sought to induce strikers to return to work in Jersey City, met a similar reception at Newark, where Essex Lodge No. 72 of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen met at Musicians Hall. Before the meeting H. T. Spain, Chairman of the lodge, justified the strike and denounced its origin."

"Walk-out Caused By Unrest."

"This strike is not a strike," he said. "It is a walkout caused by unrest and started by a renegade organization. I know nothing about who started this organization or how they work. The trainmen have been waiting for almost three years for proper action on their demands and their dissatisfaction could not be restrained."

After the meeting, Chairman Spain said that the lodge had finally voted to send a committee to discuss the situation with the railroad heads.

"We want to receive justice from the public," he said. "We ask a fair living wage and a reduction of the price of commodities."

Hears of $400,000 Strike Fund.

J. J. Mantell, Chairman of the General Managers' Conference, said last night he had not seen or heard anything of the committee from Essex Lodge or any other group of the strikers, and that the railroad managers were sticking to their declaration not to deal with the "outlaws" or to hold any negotiations except in the manner provided for by the Transportation act.

When Mr. Mantell was asked how long the strikers would be able to maintain themselves, and whether he had any information as to whether the unauthorized strikers had access to the brotherhood funds, he replied:

"I don't know whether they have access to the brotherhood funds. Information has been given me that the strikers at Syracuse have a fund of $400,000."

J. G. Walber, Secretary of the Bureau of Information, Eastern Railroads, arrived in this city yesterday from Washington to arrange a conference with representatives of the four big brotherhoods. Mr. Walber is a labor expert for the railway systems.

The crews of fourteen trains who deserted the Long Island Railroad after bringing their trains into the Pennsylvania Terminal yesterday voted to return to work immediately and operate the trains back to the points from which they were started. It was not said whether they intend to remain at work.

At Camden seventy switchmen and yardmen joined the strike, tying up the West Jersey & Seashore Railroad. The afternoon and night shifts of 250 men were expected to join the strike. Traffic to shore points was at a standstill, and produce from South Jersey to Philadelphia was held up. Many large factories, including the Victor Talking Machine and Campbell soup factories and the New York Ship Yards, were affected. Passenger trains from New York and Philadelphia to Atlantic City were delayed for hours.

300 Dayton Switchmen to Return.

DAYTON, Ohio, April 12.—Three hundred striking Dayton switchmen voted late today to return to work Tuesday.

Coroner's Court Wants Him at Lord Mayor's Inquest—Irish Appeal to Peace Conference.

DUBLIN, April 12.—The Irish Labor Executive, in a manifesto addressed "to the workers of Ireland" calling for a general strike tomorrow in sympathy with the hunger strikers in Mountjoy Prison, say:

"You are called upon to act swiftly and suddenly to save 100 dauntless men. At this hour their lives are hanging by a thread in a bastile. These men, for the greater part our fellow workers and comrades in our trade unions, have been forcibly taken from their homes and families and imprisoned without charge, or, if charged, they are tried under exceptional laws for alleged offences of a political character, in outrageous defiance of every canon of justice.

"As trade unionists we have only one weapon left, a general strike, a weapon that may be used but seldom, and only in times of supreme crisis. Such an occasion has now arisen.

"The call is urgent. Lose no time in gathering your delegates into conference."

CORK, April 12.—An extraordinary turn was given to the inquest on the late Lord Mayor of Cork this evening. As the evidence was reaching a close Major General Strickland, commander in chief of the forces in the South of Ireland, who was being examined, stated that an order for the arrest of the Lord Mayor came from the commander in chief in Ireland. The murder took place one hour before the military went to the Lord Mayor's house. Both military and police were to have made the arrest.

The foreman of the Coroner's jury said the jury had passed a resolution requesting that Lord French and Sir John Taylor, Assistant Under-Secretary, be summoned to give evidence. The Coroner issued a summons for their attendance accordingly.

PARIS, April 12.—George Gavan Duffy, Sinn Fein Member of Parliament and "Envoy of the Irish Republic to the Peace Conference," is bringing to the official attention of that body the treatment of the political prisoners in Dublin. His step was actuated by the following telegram which he received yesterday from Dublin:

"Over 100 Republican prisoners incarcerated in Mountjoy prison in Dublin as common criminals, many being detained on suspicion without charge, have been on a hunger strike since Sunday, April 4. They demand the observance of the agreement obtained by Bishop Macrory and the Lord Mayor of Dublin whereby the English Government undertook to recognize the special status of political prisoners.

"Several men are in grave danger and crowds are reciting prayers for the dying at the gates of the jail."

The telegram was signed by Kathleen Clarke of the Board of Aldermen, and Mme. O'Rahilly for the "Republican Prisoners' Committee."

ENGLAND ACCEPTS FRENCH ASSURANCES

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 12.—I learn from an authoritative source that the British and French Governments have in principle reached an accord and that, subject to conversations at San Remo, the difference between them with regard to methods of executing the Peace Treaty is at an end.

After the receipt of the second British note Premier Millerand received the British Ambassador in Paris on Sunday, spoke cordially to him of the future co-operation of the two Governments and promised a written communication forthwith.

This was received in London at an early hour this morning, was considered by the Cabinet in Council at noon and was the basis of the subsequent brief statement of Andrew Bonar Law in the House of Commons.

The French Government has given two definite assurances: First, the repetition of the statement that French troops will be withdrawn from Frankfort and other towns lately occupied as soon as the German Government has reduced the number of its troops in the Ruhr to the 17,000 permitted by the treaty; second, a promise that the French Government will in future act in association with its allies.

LONDON, April 12—An authoritative statement issued tonight indicates that more favorable than presented by Andrew Bonar Law, the Government spokesman, in the House of Commons today. The statement intimates that a French note is expected accepting the British view and agreeing to evacuate the occupied towns rapidly on withdrawal of the German troops from the Ruhr, which has already begun.

Answering questions with regard to the Anglo-French situation, Mr. Bonar Law said in the House today:

"As the House is aware, a difference, which his Majesty's Government greatly deplores, has arisen between the British and French Governments, but the exchange of notes which has taken place between London and Paris justifies the belief that both Governments recognize more than ever the necessity of maintaining an intimate, cordial agreement in the settlement of the great questions now confronting them in Germany and elsewhere.

"The approaching conference of the heads of the allied Governments will no doubt serve to confirm and consolidate the complete understanding between the two Governments. In these circumstances I venture to suggest that it would be very undesirable to have any discussion on the subject, either in debate or by way of question and answer. It is hardly necessary to add that there is no truth whatever in the statement made in certain sections of the press that there has been a difference of opinion in the British Cabinet."

Mr. Bonar Law was bombarded with questions on various aspects of the situation and several of the queries suggested sympathy with the French point of view. The Government leader, however, refused to be drawn into a discussion. He declared that any statement made in the House by a member of the Government which would seem to justify the British attitude might have the appearance of criticising the attitude of Great Britain's allies, and, on the other hand, that any statement of the kind might have the effect of conveying to the German Government that there was not complete agreement among the Allies regarding the importance of the treaty.

Answering one question Mr. Bonar Law said he did not believe there was a shadow of foundation for the suggestion that the German Army, including the Reichswehr, militia and police, numbered 2,000,000 men.

FRANCE WILL ACT WITH ALLIES NOW

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

thinks his Government should forthwith declare the incident closed.

In French official circles a very bright view of the situation is taken. It is hoped that the British Government will at once give instructions to Lord Derby to resume his place in the Committee of Ambassadors when it meets to consider the enforcement of the treaty. He attended the meeting of Ambassadors today, but took pains to let it be known that the Ambassadors discussed matters other than the German treaty. Millerand has declared that he will not go to the San Remo conference until Lord Derby comes back into the Committee of Ambassadors.

Awaiting a reply to his latest note to London, M. Millerand did not make his statement in the Chamber today, but said this afternoon that he expected to make it tomorrow, if by that time a reply had come from London. It is reported here tonight that tomorrow the British Government will make a statement in the House of Commons. If, therefore, the incident is not closed tomorrow, it will be a distinct disappointment to the French Government.

It has been said in these dispatches, and should now be mentioned again, that after the whole situation is shorn of questions, details and diplomatic personal pride, there is but one real issue, and that is the enforcement of the treaty of Versailles. The whole policy of France is built upon the proposition that in so far as the treaty protects France it must be enforced, and will be enforced as long as France has a stronger army than Germany. She asks nothing more than that her allies act with her. On the other hand, up to the present incident, the British Government under Lloyd George's direction had been unquestionably drifting in the direction of leniency to Germany—as the French see it, at the expense of France.

That is why the French see victory in the probable outcome of the incident; for, although the settlement I have indicated constitutes a slight retrogression on the part of the French, who had declared that they would not evacuate Frankfort until all German troops were out of the neutral zone, yet they believe that a slight change in their policy would buy, at little cost, a declaration of greater firmness toward Germany on the part of the British Government.

French Semi-Official Note.

"It will be recalled that the decision taken August last by the Supreme Council, authorizing Germany to maintain provisionally several military units in the neutral zone, was only valid until the expiration of three months after the coming into force of the treaty—that is, until April 10. It will be recalled also that the German Government has asked recently for a prolongation of three months. If the Supreme Council is to settle this matter when it sits at San Remo, and if the German troops in the neutral zone are then reduced to the effectives permitted under the agreement which Germany now asks to have prolonged, it goes without saying that the French Government will not wish, in prolonging the measures of military occupation which it took last week, to give appearance of exercising any pressure on the decisions of the Supreme Council. Ascertainment if German effectives in the neutral zone have been reduced to the authorized limit is a question of fact for the interallied Com- is not to blame, it should be emphasized that the German town which were occupied by French troops las week were all occupied for the same reason, in order to make Germany respect Articles XLII. to XLIV. of the treaty, which she had violated, and that, in consequence, the French Government has always been resolved to evacuate them all the moment the Allies had forced Germany to respect the treaty."

Must Decide at San Remo.

It is, then, at San Remo that a new and firmer treaty enforcement policy may be formed among the Allies. At any rate, that is the hope of the French Government. The burning issue of German disarmament must be met, and the French view is that there is no disarmament in leaving Germany her rifles on the pledge that she will never use them again, but that the best way to disarm her is to take her rifles away.

Commenting on England's request that France give up all right of individual action in the enforcement of the treaty, "Pertinax" says in the Echo de Paris: "Such contracts are not of this base world." He explains that, much as France likes her allies, she cannot bind herself for generations never to take any move with respect to Germany without other nations consenting to it beforehand.

M. Herbette, the well-informed political editor of the Temps, says tonight:

"There are two points:

"First—Occupation of German cities. As it has been already declared, the French Government is resolved to withdraw its troops as soon as the German troops have left the neutral zone.

"Second—Franco-British relations. As has been declared, the French Government intends on interallied questions to act only in accord with its allies."

M. Herbette then explains that in the future there may arise questions between France and Germany which may be of preponderantly French interest, and thus scarcely interallied matters. He then reviews events in Germany, showing that the militarist leaders forced the German Government to act in the Ruhr. He says that on the eve of the Presidential election the militarists are becoming too powerful in Germany, and that every increase in their power over the German people adds to the eventual peril of France. He concludes:

"This is the question which must be settled at San Remo. That is why, in the interests of peace and liberty, we hope that the allied Governments will tomorrow cross the threshold of the new accord which no events of the future will be able to break."

GERMANY TO END RUHR CAMPAIGN

BERLIN, April 12 (Associated Press).—"Military action in the Ruhr Basin is about to come to an end," said Chancellor Müller in the course of a declaration before the National Assembly today.

"All troops not indispensable will be withdrawn," he continued. "Negotiations are going on with the Allies for a three months' extension of the convention of August, 1919. The occupation of the main cities will end shortly."

The Chancellor's declaration included a bitter attack on the French Premier's "militarism." It justified the German action in the Ruhr by arguments already advanced in the German notes, and maintained that a democratic Germany was possible only if the Franco-German duel ceased and economic collaboration was undertaken seriously, instead of merely announced.

The Premier spoke strongly against the action of the French in the Rhine region, saying that "Senegalese are quartered in Frankfort and are guarding Goethe's house." Then, reviewing events in the Ruhr region, he said that in the confusion following the Kapp uprising the Ruhr workers were unable to recognize whether they were faced by loyal or disloyal troops.

"This atmosphere of distrust," he added, "was exploited by Communist wire-pullers, and instead of an impressive workers' movement there gradually came into existence a 'Red' army.

"The organized workers returned to the mines and factories, but the deluded champions of Soviet dictatorships remained in arms and were joined by the rabble of the Ruhr area, whose only desire was to exploit lawlessness. This was the situation when the German Government gave permission to the troops to march into the neutral zone, where almost the entire population was crying for relief from terrorism."

The National Assembly reopened today and proceedings began with a strong protest from President Fehrenbach against the Allied Commission's action in preventing the upper Silesian Deputies from attending the Assembly. Herr Fehrenbach denounced the Entente for this "encroachment on the rights of the German people's representatives."

REMITS FRANKFORT FINE.

Gen. de Metz Thus Recognizes Citizens' Good Behavior.

By LEONARD SPRAY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

FRANKFORT, April 12.—Today Frankfort is peaceful and outwardly as resigned to her fate as, say, Cologne or any other German town which has had to submit to foreign occupation. General de Metz, commanding the French troops, in giving practical recognition of Frankfort's good behavior remarks that his action in remitting a 10,000-mark fine is "out of regard for the quiet attitude of the population." The General had imposed that fine upon the community for the failure of the local authorities to restore arms and bicycles which had been stolen from some of his soldiers during the early disorders.

General Metz's graceful gesture in canceling the fine has done a great deal to promote better relations between the Frankforters and the "invaders."

After 9 o'clock at night the city is dead. Then every one has to be indoors unless he has a pass; the streets are empty except for sparse patrols and people whose business compels them to keep later hours and who have special permission to go about their affairs quietly.

Coming here from gloomy Berlin and the "Red Ruhr," I am impressed by the amazing prosperity of Frankfort. Except for the grimy state of its buildings, the city betrays not the least evidence of war sufferings. Its streets are thronged with well-dressed and well-looking citizens, its luxury shops packed with wares of a richness that rivals Bond Street and makes Berlin's west end emporiums seem poverty-stricken by comparison.

Prices are extortionate, especially at the hotels where foreigners, in defiance of the Peace Treaty provisions against invidious treatment, are mulcted in an extra 200 per cent. But that does not appear to trouble the natives, at any rate; so that a superficial impression of Frankfort is that of a city of war profiteers.

The closing orders have produced some curious changes of habits, particularly in the amusement world. The dancing halls are in full swing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and theatrical matinée performances begin at midday. Incidentally, the play which is most popular at the moment is Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

The right to be well

The New York Post-Graduate, with all the earnestness it has, asks that you give ten minutes of your clearest, straightest thought to "the right to be well."

The New York Post-Graduate is a medical school and a hospital. There are many other medical schools and hospitals. But there is none other so vital to our "right to be well" on this continent. This is a big claim which needs facts in its support. We want you to know the facts.

The New York Post-Graduate is not an undergraduate medical school. It's a graduate medical school; it is a teacher of doctors. And the teaching of doctors is the most vital need of the cause of the right to be well.

Facts prove it. Facts prove that doctors need post graduate training.

During the war, the Medical Corps of the Army enlisted 40,000 doctors as officers. Of these 40,000, the Army found that almost 10 per cent were poorly equipped and not conversant with fundamental advance in Surgery and Medicine.

Statistics in this country show that for each 154 babies born, one of the mothers dies. This toll of death, about 15,000 mothers a year, is almost entirely preventable.

Twenty years ago, undergraduate medical schools had ill-defined standards. A young doctor, by virtue of his diploma, was expected to treat with equal skill a fracture, pneumonia, insanity, childbirth, a disease of the eye or tuberculosis. To-day this seems ridiculous, but at that time there was neither demand nor provision for advanced medical instruction.

But that day is gone, and the one splendid fact at the present time is that the doctors themselves have determined that the humblest patient shall have the best service known to medicine. They are intent at any cost to make that ideal a reality. The Post-Graduate prides itself on taking the leading part in such a program.

This awakening has already greatly changed the practice of medicine. In the last eighteen months about 300 hospitals in the United States have established laboratories in their buildings. This fact means that the patients in these hospitals receive more study and more accurate diagnosis of their illness. It means better care of patients; it means the saving of untold thousands of lives. Another practical mark of progress along this same line is that in the last eight months 1,156 doctors have come to the New York Post-Graduate in dead earnest to perfect their training.

In 1882 a group of New York physicians and surgeons saw a vision—the means of making the ideals of the medical profession come true.

And having faith in their vision, they organized the New York Post-Graduate.

They gave it their time, their money and their influence. They succeeded to an inspiring degree. They created an institution which for its far-reaching effects, for its product of happiness, merits the pride of the whole continent; and in so far as New York may be the medical center of the continent to-day, to these men is due most of the credit.

In no other hospital do so many distinguished physicians and surgeons—numbering 328 in the teaching and hospital staffs—give their services, uncompensated, for the advancement of their profession and the care of the sick. In no other institution do so many physicians and surgeons seek medical knowledge and the skill required in its application.

Probably 20,000 intelligent, high-minded physicians and surgeons scattered throughout the United States to-day are ready to drop their practice for a period of three months or six months each year, in order to perfect their training. Where will they go? Leadership in medicine, not only for this continent but for the whole world, can be swiftly crystallized in any city wherein to-day the best opportunities are offered to these men. Is New York to hold the leadership, or is it to go elsewhere? The doctors in all the South American Republics, too, want to know the answer. Berlin and Vienna are eliminated. The men want to come to the United States. "But where is the medical center of the States?" they ask.

The New York Post-Graduate asks your partnership in the right to answer these questions. The time is now. We cannot carry the load alone. It is imperative that we act or lose claim to leadership in medicine.

In common with great universities—Cornell, Columbia, Harvard, Princeton, Yale—the Post-Graduate must turn to the public for support. The appeal of the Post-Graduate, however, is more difficult to understand; that is why we ask your clearest thought.

The Post-Graduate asks now for an endowment of two million dollars:

FOR THE HOSPITAL: That it may continue to save lives and ameliorate suffering among the poor.

FOR THE MEDICAL SCHOOL: That it may multiply the value of its hospital work by teaching others more of knowledge, with a deeper charity and a greater efficiency.

FOR THE CITY OF NEW YORK: That it may remain without question the medical center of the continent and become the medical center of the world, not only in medical knowledge, but in that inspiration through which the science of medicine benefits human life.

Checks may be made payable to William Fahnestock, Treasurer, 2 Wall Street. Pledges may be made payable in installments during 1920 and 1921.

STRIKERS FOR WHAT?

Grave inconveniences and losses have been inflicted by the railway strike and greater may be to come; but the public suffering must be temporary only, whereas the great railroad Brotherhoods are fighting for their lives against this illegal and mysterious strike. If they cannot command the obedience of their members, if they cannot keep their agreement with the railroads, if their responsible and experienced leaders who have won so many successes for them are to be powerless and unfollowed, they must fall. Already a union, "one big union," of all the railway workers is in process of formation.

The leaders of the Brotherhoods are showing an excellent spirit and determination. Their cause is not only their own but that of all honest capital and honest labor, of all the sincere friends of good relations and permanent justice between them. Annoying, and even sinister, as some of the peculiarities of this strike are, it contains implications and consequences that may be of permanent national value. The chiefs of the great Brotherhoods and the public are substantially united in feeling and in interest. This is much, and it is to be supposed that common sense, respect for law, respect for agreements will win; that the unions will emerge from this rebellion against their authority stronger than before, because they have shown their determination and their power to enforce their rules on their members, to teach the rebellious "younger element" that duties are the concomitants of rights.

By interfering with United States mails the strikers seem to have made necessary and certain the interference of the Federal Government. If the strike be, as is suspected, of I. W. W. origin and prompting, it is meant to be a failure. A series of unsuccessful strikes, each producing new dissatisfactions, with the overthrow of the industrial system and even of the Government itself as the real purpose, is the I. W. W. and extreme Socialist program. The failure of this strike is certain, even if it should apparently grow worse, as yesterday it did, for a few days. Investigation will discover who are its real chiefs and promoters. When the Jersey City switchmen quit, without notice, without description of grievances, they said: "We are striking on orders." What they were striking for they didn't know. That part of the information was supplied to them later.

JOHN GRUNAU, head of the Yardmen's Association of Chicago, who technically called the strike, can hardly be anything more than the insignificant register of more important persons. It will be remembered that on April 2 GRUNAU, discharged for violation of regulations, warned the General Manager that, if he was not taken back, in two minutes the yardmen would strike, and so they did. The whole thing must have been arranged long before. A week later, GRUNAU, doubtless obeying instructions, said that "the fight has become "one of supremacy between the old "and new unions." So, doubtless, it was intended to become, as it has become. Behind the obscure figures that the public gets only a glimpse of, what energetic and thorough-going radicals are hidden?

That thousands of men should strike without knowing what they were striking for; that with apparent suddenness, but, of course, after deliberate preparations and plan, "outlaw" organizations should be established and the main body of each great railroad Brotherhood should be described as a "rump"; that so soon after these skillfully led associations had been winning series after series of wage advances this war on them is begun—these are curious things, which demand impartial, but the closest, official scrutiny. Meanwhile, the public will bear as philosophically as it can its present annoyances and give its hearty sympathy to the leaders of the Brotherhoods now fighting for their lives and fighting for the public, too.

THE POST-GRADUATE FUND.

More than New York City, and more than this generation or the next, will share in the benefits to be expected from the enlargement of the work of the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, whose campaign for an additional $2,000,000 is now under way. The first purely graduate school of medicine in the world, and today, with the decay and impoverishment of the old institutions of Berlin and Vienna, probably the greatest, its work takes effect in thousands of homes where it has never been heard of, but where the added knowledge that it has given to the practitioner who continues his studies in it means perhaps the difference between life and death. The research work that it has done in the past has already made its contribution to the practice of medicine everywhere; and this year, with an enrollment almost doubled, with students from every State in America and from twenty-seven foreign countries, its usefulness seems likely to be much more extended. New York is on the way to becoming the world's medical capital.

The Post-Graduate Hospital is used to doing things without much money. For eight years after its foundation, in 1882, it did not receive a single gift from a layman, and long after that the Faculty still carried most of the financial burden. Things are better today, but even yet the hospital, which is second largest of the non-municipal institutions in the city, has a smaller endowment than any other of its larger rivals; occasional gifts are still largely for special purposes, and an expenditure that has risen to nearly $700,000 a year has to be met with the assistance of only $20,000 from the present endowment. The fund now being raised is to make possible a great extension of teaching, with the addition of a number of new departments; the addition of 110 beds to the hospital and of ten consulting rooms to the dispensary; equipment of the hospital with much new and valuable apparatus; re-equipment of the X-ray and operative surgery department; and the erection of a new dormitory for the nurses' training school. It would be money well given were the institution only a hospital and dispensary, for the work done for the patients is a great practical contribution to the welfare of the community; but the aid given to medical practitioners who want to keep up with the times, and the facilities for research work and advanced studies, carry the benefits of the institution far wider afield. Checks may be made payable to WILLIAM FAHNESTOCK, Treasurer, 2 Wall Street.

NEW YORK'S WATER HIGHWAY.

The Merchants' Association's request that the United States should relinquish "control" over the Barge Canal and discontinue "canal operation" is supported by the New York State Canal Board. But the Director of the Division of Inland Railways of the Railroad Administration in his annual report declares that the Barge Canal was never in his possession or control. The Federal Administration operated barges through the canal on the same terms as others, and at large expense in operation, to say nothing of cost of building boats for the service. The loss fell from $500,000 in 1918 to $140,000 in 1919, and eventually there may be a profit, but at present there would be a loss of something more than money if the Federal service were to be discontinued. There are now 15,000,000 bushels of grain at Buffalo which must be carried by the railways if the Federal barges are withdrawn, for there is no other equipment, and none can be extemporized. From time to time there have been statements of the plans of private carriers on the canal, but they have not materialized thus far. In fact, there is complaint that the operation of the Federal barges is the reason why the canals in their enlarged state, and with the assistance of Federal power barges, carried less than in the time of the horse-drawn 250-ton boat era. Private carriers will not compete with the Government, it is said, and therefore the United States is asked to retire from the canal, which is free to all others.

The confusion between the Federal operation of boats on the canal and Federal operation of the canal serves to call attention to the fact that the New York canals are not operated by anybody in the sense that the railways are operated. The New York canals were simply opened to traffic, just as the roads are open to any owner of a horse and wagon. The railways in their earliest days were operated like the roads, until it was discovered that more traffic could be carried by the present method. The assumption was that there were such opportunities of profit in cutting railway rates, if the State's water highways were made free just as the roads are free to all comers, that there would be eager competition in water carriage. Disappointment has resulted, for more than boats are necessary to compete with the railways. No private canal carrier has or can supply terminal facilities, and the State is now facing the necessity of supplying twenty-five millions to build terminals. But if the money were voted and the terminals supplied, they would duplicate the railway terminals and would not be in position to exchange traffic on advantageous economic terms unless the railways were forced to make those connections. In fact, Senator SAGE has a bill pending requiring railways to operate freight service to and within canal terminals, and putting upon the railways the burden of proof that their rates for such interchange of traffic are reasonable.

No one will deny that there is need and room for canal service, but it will be greatest in co-operation with the railways rather than in competition with them. The situation regarding inland water transportation resembles that in ocean freight service. The mistake in forcing the railways to abandon water routes has been recognized. Perhaps the precedent will serve to admit the railways to send their overflow through the canals and to take what the canals can bring them in the way of other business.

THE BUILDING PROBLEM.

The success which the rent laws have thus far achieved should not blind us to the fact that they merely scratch the surface of the housing difficulty. Until we have an extensive building program, adequately guaranteed, the need of the city and of those who live in it is not met.

As yet the Mayor's plan for bringing together capital, labor and the merchants of building material has not advanced beyond the initial victory of ending the bricklayers' strike. Absolutely nothing has been done to insure the investment of the huge sums necessary in real estate mortgages—unless it be deemed progress that the proposed exemption of interest on mortgages from the income tax has been defeated. In the railway strike, labor has capped the climax of insurgency, and even without it the shortage of cars would be an obstacle to the movement of supplies. The prices of all building materials, meantime, have become higher and more uncertain than ever, and further difficulty is threatened in the fact that road contractors are luring labor away from the brickyards. Already any considerable supply of new dwellings next Autumn seems out of the question, and there is grave danger that the two years for which the emergency rent measures were passed will elapse and little or no progress have been accomplished.

There is a ray of hope in the new plan proposed by Mr. EDWARD P. DOYLE, Chairman of the Budget Committee of the Real Estate Board. It is a substitute, and a very promising substitute, for the plan of extensive building, municipally financed and controlled—which is almost certainly unconstitutional. What Mr. DOYLE proposes is a building loan operation based, not upon the city's credit, but upon certain lands, now idle which have reverted to the city or could be speedily acquired by it as a result of tax lien foreclosures. What is now waste property—on Staten Island, Long Island and even in Manhattan—would yield the city at least 4 per cent., and broad regions which are given over to neglect and squalor would be covered with apartment houses of the most advanced model. The initial expense would be $5,000,000—prepaid stock, subscribed for on the basis of philanthropy and 6 per cent. Both the capital and interest of building loan associations are tax exempt. The remainder of the necessary $30,000,000 would be installment stock paid for on easy terms by the tenant-owners. The cost of single units would run as low as $2,500, and these would become the property of the tenant after a payment of dues (in addition to current rent) amounting to only $1,800 and distributed over twelve years. In all, there would be 35,000 new dwellings.

As Mr. DOYLE is Vice President of a prominent realty corporation it may be assumed that the margin between hope and realization is reduced to a minimum. Yet even though the question of capital were thus solved, the problems of labor and building material would remain. With the best of leadership, only strenuous and united effort can save the community from hardships both severe and long continued.

DISOWNING THE CALIPH.

There is to meet this week in Angora what is described as an all-Moslem congress, but which seems to be assembled and directed by those active Turkish Nationalists who have formed a stubborn centre of resistance in Anatolia. Afghans and Azerbaijans are mentioned among the delegates; and the British, who counted on Georgia and Azerbaijan as loyal buffer States between the Bolsheviki and new British territories, are already manifesting some disquiet at the prospect of co-operation between these two States and the Bolsheviki with the object of the extinction of the little Armenian republic which the Allies have left to shift for itself. A good many people thought from the first that Georgia and Azerbaijan were broken reeds, and even the independent republic of Kurdistan may not be very effective in keeping Bolsheviki and Turanians in their place.

Whatever menace there may be in the co-operation between Pan-Turanianism and Bolshevism—that the racial element is not controlling at present is apparent from the co-operation of the Georgians—the intentions of this congress must bring sad disillusionment to those who accepted the arguments for the allied Turkish policy. British and French statesmen who decided, from complex motives, to keep the Sultan in Constantinople salved their consciences by protesting that that was the way to make the Turks behave; that with the Sultan in easy reach of punitive expeditions no Turk would dare lay his hands on his Christian neighbors hereafter. Already it has been found that Nationalist leaders refused to take orders from the Sultan; a British officer who traveled to Erzerum to effect a reconciliation was told by a Nationalist Pasha that the Allies would have to evacuate Smyrna and Constantinople before the Turks would listen to argument.

The new congress, according to delegates who give advance notice of its intentions, is going to repudiate the Sultan altogether. None of his orders will be obeyed on the ground that he is acting under duress of the British and French Governments. Moreover, doctors of canon law, who in Islam as in Christendom can often give excellent theological authority for something politically useful, will be put forward to argue that the whole theory of the Caliphate disqualifies one who is under foreign influence from exercising the authority of the successor of MOHAMMED. The Sultan, being under foreign influence, is to be disregarded; and there is even talk of establishing a new Caliphate. If MUSTAPHA KEMAL Pasha has really appointed his own Sheikh-ul-Islam, as reported, his own assumption of the titles of Sultan and Caliph may be near.

All this may be commended to those who accepted Mr. MONTAGU's interpretation of Indian Moslem opinion and the argument that nobody but the Sultan of Turkey had any right to the title of Caliph. The Turks seem to think that the Caliph needs something more than a shadow of power. So the Allies must choose between leaving the Sultan undisturbed on the Strait, with fleets, armies and fortresses, or risking the wrath of the Indian Moslems. The same old wrong horse appears to have inspired confidence once again, and with the usual result.

SONORA AND SINALOA.

As General ALVARO OBREGON, the most popular of the military candidates for President in Mexico, is of heroic proportions to the people of Sonora and Sinaloa, the news that the "Republic of Sonora" has been proclaimed and that Sinaloa stands with her neighbor State in the resolution to oppose invasion by Carranza troops means nothing less than that the supporters of the soldier candidate in the northwest are in open revolt against the President. The details of the movement in favor of General OBREGON, which originated at Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, seem to leave no room for doubt on that point. Governor HUERTA has been designated as the "supreme power of the Republic of Sonora." General CALLES, a disaffected soldier with more than a local reputation, has been made Commander in Chief of the State troops. Sinaloa has seceded. Custom houses and other Federal buildings are being seized. Every step in this political revolt against the Federal Government is said to have the approval of the State Legislatures.

President CARRANZA's influence has been steadily on the wane in the northwest for some time. General HILL first fell into disfavor, and he, like OBREGON, was popular locally. It was to Hermosillo that VENUSTIANO CARRANZA retired after his defeat at Anhelo in 1913 and reorganized his Government. At Hermosillo a new campaign against President HUERTA was planned with the aid of General ANGELES, who was executed recently at Chihuahua for rebellion against the Carranza administration. To the little capital came General J. B. TREVINO, the Chief of Staff of the insurgent army. Orders were issued from the modest headquarters to OBREGON, VILLA and GONZALEZ in the field. It was not until the tide of war had been turned against HUERTA by the brilliant strategy of VILLA that CARRANZA emerged from his retreat at Hermosillo and rode 400 miles across the desert to Chihuahua and Juarez. Now the Congress, or Legislature, of Sonora, refusing to admit the constitutional right of the Federal administration to send troops into the State for political reasons during the Presidential campaign, calls out the militia to resist invasion.

General OBREGON's name was not mentioned in the dispatch from Nogales telling the story of the secession of Sonora and Sinaloa. Mexican precedents of candidates for the Presidency taking the field when they were dissatisfied with the attitude of the Federal administration toward their ambitions are numerous enough, but General OBREGON has not hitherto been under the suspicion of militarism. Yet it is difficult to believe that he can be averse to the movement in his favor in the northwest. He is not the choice of CARRANZA for President. In fact, the General's friends in some cases have been arrested and thrown into prison. Orders to the army in restraint of OBREGON's candidacy have been issued, and it may be supposed that if Federal troops have been dispatched to Sonora the object was to avert just what has happened. It does not follow that there will be civil war in Mexico, but a critical situation will be created if an attempt is made to enter the States which have virtually declared themselves in favor of General OBREGON. President CARRANZA is at the fork of the roads. Apparently he can restore the status quo only by disclaiming any intention of interfering in the political affairs of Sonora and Sinaloa. The alternative is to assert the authority of the Federal administration by occupying their territory.

INSTRUCTED AND UNINSTRUCTED

It may be true that this or that candidate has the greater number of instructed delegates, but this is a matter that should not concern or deeply interest the public. It is the uninstructed delegates on whom the public attention should centre. They are not the opinionless herd that the word "uninstructed" might seem to convey. They are chosen with definite intentions, all the stronger for their being "uninstructed," and, as they are the great majority, they will determine the vote of the conventions.

There is, in fact, no practical use in having Presidential preference primaries. The preference—or the instruction, if given at a State convention—does not bind any delegate beyond a time which is usually determined by a caucus, and may come directly after the first ballot. In the Republican Convention certainly, and in the Democratic Convention probably, there will be no decision on either the first or the second ballot. Therefore these expressions of preference in one State or another mean little.

On the other hand, the attitude of the uninstructed delegates is a matter of the most serious importance. They will cast the deciding vote, and not only that, but they will be the only consequential delegates in the convention. If anybody knew how they would vote, he could predict the outcome at once. They are not likely to be bartered by managers and bosses, and in the Republican Convention and a large part of the Democratic there will be no unit rule. Some of the delegates may go to the conventions open to argument and some with their minds irrevocably made up. The chances are that the majority of them will belong to the latter category.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Its Condition Never as Bad Before.

Early Spring, of course, is not the best time for judging a park, or the care that is taken of it. Then "nature" has done its least in the way of beautification with growing things, and man has an excuse for not having done much toward the repairing of Winter ravages. With all seasonal allowances made, however, Central Park is not only a sorry sight just now, but its condition in some respects is worse, in the opinion of those who have known it long, than it has ever been before and worse than is explicable except by neglect.

Certainly there is only one other reason to account for the fact that never before has the Park been so thickly strewn with litter of all offensive sorts as it is at present. That other one reason is that great numbers of its frequenters are destitute of the civic sense of propriety—of civic morality, to be exact—for otherwise they would not scatter broadcast over the Park's lawns, walks and roadways the remnants and containers of their luncheons or the débris that marks the following of petty trades when uncontrolled by the heavy hand of authority.

That sort of barbarism, indeed, characterizes a part of the public everywhere and always, but under this administration there is either a greater indifference to the looks of our pleasure grounds or else a greater fear of doing anything to excite the demagogic cry that "the people" are not allowed to do what they want with their own, even when what they want is to destroy what is no more their own than it is the own of people fortunately much unlike themselves.

For the innumerable breaks in the pavement of the Park's roadways and sidewalks there need not be too severe criticism, after a Winter of exceptional severity, particularly as something in the way of repairing is already in progress, but for the uncleanliness that abounds even the plea of economy does not avail. The labor force may not be large enough to pick up promptly litter that is scattered over many acres, but properly instructed and disciplined park policemen could soon put a stop to the original scattering.

They Forgot to Say "Thank You."

When one of the infrequent trains on the Jersey Central arrived at Communipaw yesterday it had been brought there by a crew of men who thus served the public at measurable risk to themselves. Some, and not a little, of the risk was physical, for they were not only the objects of openly expressed hostility from crowds of "outlaw" strikers, but there was also incurred an antagonism that will outlast the termination of the strike and will be felt by their families as well as by themselves.

That being the case, it is to be regretted that most of the commuters who crowded that train, though all of them owed a debt of gratitude to the men who brought it in, went hurriedly to the ferryboat with no sign of recognition or thanks. A few, wiser as well as more considerate, did stop for a moment to express appreciation of what had been done for them.

The example thus set is well worth following—the example of the few, that is, not of the majority—for nothing is more likely to hasten the end of this most deplorable strike than clear manifestations of public sentiment concerning both those who are deranging the business of the country and those who help to restore normal conditions.

Their Pay Not All They Get.

There is, it seems, something more to be said about the frequent resignations from various public services that have occurred of late than that they showed how wretchedly paid are the members of these classes. Also it can be said, and has been by WILLIAM H. ALLEN, Director of the Institute for Public Service, that those who are resigning must have been getting, in addition to their meagre salaries, training of a sort that enabled them to command much higher remuneration from other employers. The intimation is, therefore, that at least some of the complaints about underpayment are not well based.

It is true that we hear of the very great betterment in their financial condition which public servitors are able to get from private corporations in need of expert workers, and those thus favored can hardly be called victims of an evil policy. Still, there remains the fact that it is not obviously desirable that the several public services should be turned into training schools for the benefit of later employers.

The public, too, needs expert service—perhaps it cannot trust safely to that of a long succession of tyros. Yet that is precisely what Mr. ALLEN says is a state of affairs to be viewed with composure. Officials who find it difficult or are unable to get the appropriations they would like for their departments may be inclined to agree with him, or at least to hope that he is right.

Landing Seaplanes on a Deck.

One of THE TIMES correspondents recalls the fact that some years ago an American aviator out on the Pacific Coast landed his plane from the air on the deck of an American warship, and that therefore the British cannot claim to be the first to accomplish that remarkable feat. That must be admitted, but seemingly the device by which the American achieved his highly desirable end, though it worked, was not considered practicable except in highly favorable conditions, for it has not continued in use.

It appears from a fuller account now at hand of what the British aviator did, that he alighted on a vessel with an upper deck especially built and clear from end to end of all obstructions, including even funnels. The smoke from the engines of the Argus, the ship devoted to this service, is carried back to the stern and there discharged.

The Argus has a speed of twenty knots and carries twenty seaplanes. Their landing on her flying deck is said now to be a matter of daily occurrence.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

If you are a fireman, third class, in the navy, the other gobs, especially these soft-handed yeomen, will say to you, "The right man in the right place." They mean that old saying in the navy, "All a third-class fireman needs is a strong back and a weak mind."

Well, now, let's see. I waived four exemptions—married, employed in essential industry, over age and under weight—and enlisted in the war as a fireman, third class. Well, my back has stood up pretty good, but when I read the papers I think the old mind has tottered and shoved off for good. Or somebody opened the sea cocks on her.

It looks like five million others turned out to be third class firemen, though rated admirals, generals, sergeants, C. P. O., corporals, boatswain's mates, and so on. I went in, and I believe others, too, because we were told it was to beat the baby-killing, church-robbing Germans.

Now every time you pick up a paper somebody right here in America is giving the French a rope end for trying to make the Germans keep their promise—some job at that, seeing they don't know honesty from poison gas. Well, I guess we five million third class firemen got on the wrong side and fought our true friends, the Kaiser's boys. That's what a weak mind will do for a fellow. A strong back won't save him.

Today the paper said the United States will view the conduct of the French "as leniently as possible." Well, should they be "lenient" on the French that stood off the baby-killers three years without us?

FIREMAN, THIRD CLASS.

Progressive Life and the Library.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have been interested in reading what John Franklin Crowell has to say in his letter on the deficiencies of our text books in American history. Doubtless he is correct in the opinion that more attention might well be given to our maritime achievements. To one statement he makes, however, I desire to enter objection. The ordinary text book in American history, he says, is written "too much from the viewpoint of the library and not enough from that of the progressive national life." May I ask Mr. Crowell his reason for setting up a contrast between the point of view of the libraries and a progressive national life?

The writer on history, as on any other subject, will find in the library only what he seeks. If he is interested in maritime history, he will find abundant material at hand; if he is interested in "a progressive national life," he will find the library equipped to aid in promoting his investigations; if, on the other hand, he insists on being unprogressive and taking partial and one-sided views, it is surely no fault of the library.

My point is, briefly, that Mr. Crowell is not justified in his apparent assumption that a library is the antithesis of progress.

AMERICANIZED.

Space and time and the great sea lie between,
With deep abysses of forgetfulness.
The wilderness has cleansed us of the kings
And lords, and fame of them has gone, as fall
From sight the shotted corpses in the waves.
Each babe of ours is dipped in Lethe's flood,
And starts afresh to climb the manhood-heights,
Lured on by the wide future, not the past.
Ancestral memories are dimmed, extinct—
The generations born upon this soil
Have later pictures painted on the brain.
The Mississippi, Susquehanna—these—
These—live for us, not Mersey or the Thames.
The goldenrod, not heather, shamrock, gorse,
Is our familiar, quickening heart and eyes.

Great-grandsires told their children Old-World tales
Of youth, adventures, customs, sufferings,
In Scotia, England, Erin bold, and they,
In turn, these told their children, while they looked
With open eyes on apple-bloom and maize—
With ecstasy the perfumes of their fields.
At length, when fathers told us what these said
'Twas but the echo of faint echoes—lost.
And now the vision and the voice are gone,
Except as Clio keeps them on her scrolls,
Shelved with the tales of Asian homes forgot
By Europe. Thus oblivion's exorcisms wise
Would give new men, new States, the future whole.

CALVIN DILL WILSON.

WANTS PEACE AMENDMENT.

Knox to Renew Effort for Warning in Behalf of European Concord.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Senator Lodge today called a meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for tomorrow to consider the peace resolution adopted by the House. No action on the resolution by the committee during the present week is likely, committee members said, because several members are absent from Washington and probably will be detained for some time by the railroad tieup.

When the resolution came from the House it was referred to the committee without discussion. When the committee takes it up Senator Knox, it is understood, intends to offer as an amendment a declaration of policy that the United States would view with grave concern any assault on the peace of Europe, and would take whatever action it deemed necessary in the circumstances.

Senator Knox included this provision in a resolution which he introduced some months ago, but it was eliminated by the Foreign Relations Committee because of strong objections. At that time the point was raised that one Congress should not attempt to bind ensuing Congresses upon the question of foreign policy involved. Another objection was that the statement of future policy did not properly belong in a resolution declaring peace.

Mr. Knox has told his friends that he felt that such a statement would be reassuring to the nations with which the United States was lately associated in the war, and would be a guarantee to them that, although the United States did not see fit to adopt the plan of the League of Nations, it did not intend to shirk its responsibilities in helping to guard world peace against unlawful aggression.

CREEL DEMANDS INQUIRY.

Charges Malice by Smoot in Accusations Against Him.

George Creel, who during the war headed the Committee on Public Information, made public last night a letter which he has sent to Attorney General Palmer, insisting that Mr. Palmer begin an immediate investigation of the charge by the Joint Congressional Committee on Printing that the Creel Committee wrongfully transferred The Official Bulletin to Roger W. Babson of Wellesley, Mass.

At the same time, Mr. Creel made public a letter to Senator Reed Smoot, Chairman of the Joint Committee, declaring that the Senator knew there was no transfer of The Official Bulletin to Babson, but that the Joint Committee "sneakingly worked in secret to frame the indictment that my testimony would have made absurd." He added that the Senator, "as much as any one else," was responsible for wiping out the Creel Committee on June 30, 1919, "right in the middle of its orderly liquidation."

The Joint Committee charged that the transfer had been made without cost to Babson and suggested the institution of legal proceedings against Creel, Babson, C. T. Clayton and Edward S. Rochester to see if the Government could not recover money from them.

In his letter to Mr. Palmer, Mr. Creel said:

"Senator Smoot has filled the press with the statement that the Government should take action against me for my proceedings in connection with The Official Bulletin. I insist that your office commence an instant investigation, and put myself and every record at your disposal.

"I want to know from you also what protection, if any, a citizen has against the deliberate slanders of a member of Congress. Not only are Senator Smoot's charges false in every particular, but he knew them to be lies when he uttered them.

"The Official Bulletin was not transferred to Roger Babson or to any one else. It was discontinued by the explicit order of the Attorney General, on the ground that I had no right to sell the property at public auction. The one asset was a mailing list, and this was publicly placed at the disposal of any citizen caring to copy it, an action also taken under orders of the Attorney General.

"Any private citizen was at liberty to start a publication of similar character, and this is what Mr. Babson did. He received nothing whatsoever from the Government except the right to copy the mailing list at his own expense."

To Senator Smoot, Mr. Creel wrote:

"The war is over and I am no longer compelled to sit silent under your malice. Better than any one else you know the utter falsity of your charges of irregularity in connection with The Official Bulletin. You did not have the decency or the courage to call me before your committee, but sneakingly worked in secret to frame the indictment that my testimony would have made absurd.

"Your recommendation to the Attorney General to bring action against me is buncombe, and you know it. A better and quicker way is to have me appear before your committee, or any other Senate committee, and make full answer in open session to this Official Bulletin charge.

"Ever since the armistice it has been your steadfast attempt to shame the American war record and to besmirch every man connected with that record. To date, these Congressional investigations have cost the taxpayers $2,000,000, but failure to develop a single instance of graft still forces your group to rely upon the activities of individual liars."

FIUME SITUATION CRITICAL.

D'Annunzio Sends Envoys to Rome to Seek Relaxation of Blockade.

TRIESTE, April 11.—Conditions in Fiume are becoming more critical daily owing to factional quarrels among the d'Annunzian troops, labor unrest and the lack of food and work.

Captain d'Annunzio has sent to Rome a committee headed by Signor di Ambris, Chief Secretary to Mayor Gigante, to discuss with Premier Nitti plans for a relaxation of the blockade of the city.

PARIS, April 12.—It is not expected that the Fiume question will be taken up at the San Remo conference, according to the report in Italian peace delegation circles today. Foreign Minister Scialoia, however, will probably confer on the subject with the heads of the Jugoslav delegation in Paris on his way from London to Italy.

The Italian representatives express the conviction that the matter will finally be adjusted by direct negotiations after the disappearance of the obstacle created by D'Annunzio's occupation of Fiume. The D'Annunzio movement, it is added, is considered now in a state of dissolution.

SULTAN WARNS REBELS.

Tells Them Anatolia May Be Occupied by the Entente Powers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 11 (Associated Press).—Turkish Nationalists are blamed for the critical situation in a manifesto issued today by the Sultan's Government.

It is declared that if they continue their operations Anatolia may be occupied by the Entente. Punishment for all organizers and instigators of rebellion is ordered by the manifesto, which offers immunity to all Nationalist adherents "who repent and give evidence of loyalty to the Sultan" within a week.

HOUSE IN CONFLICT OVER ARMY CAMPS

GREAT LOSS IS CHARGED

Majority Hits Army Chiefs and Starrett—Minority Defends Their Course.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (Associated Press)—Two opposing reports on the long Congressional investigation of the construction of thirty-two army camps and cantonments were submitted to the House today by a War Expenditures Committee and debated for several hours. The majority report, presented by Republican Committeemen, criticised Government agencies and officials in charge of the war building program, while the minority report of the Democrats defended the Administration.

The Government lost $78,531,521 on the sixteen National Army cantonments, it was estimated by the majority report, which asserted this was due to "waste, inefficiency and graft" resulting from cost plus contracts which were said to be "wide open." No estimate of loss on the National Guard camps was made by the majority.

Dissenting from the majority findings, the minority declared that the construction work was equivalent to building thirty-two cities, each with 37,000 to 46,000 population, and added: "This tremendous task was practically completed in three months and stands out as one of the great achievements of the war."

Would Make Profiteering Treason.

Representatives McKenzie of Illinois and McCullough of Ohio, Republicans, and Doremus of Michigan, Democrat, conducted the investigation and their divergent reports were accepted, respectively by the ten Republican and five Democrats composing the full Committee on War Expenditures.

The majority submitted six recommendations for legislation by Congress, including the submission to the States of a constitutional amendment making "profiteering in wartime treason." It also urged that the Department of Justice be asked to investigate work at every camp, "to the end of bringing to book those responsible for losses to the Government and frauds through which they occurred, both by recoveries and merited penalties."

No recommendations were made in the minority report, which listed two conclusions, one condemning the majority report and the other defending Secretary Baker.

Holds Baker Responsible.

The majority declared Secretary Baker should not have permitted a departure from the old method of competitive bids, asserting that with him "must rest the final responsibility for the entire situation, including violations of law, defrauding, waste, losses and delay."

The minority said the Secretary "was amply justified in abandoning the usual peacetime method of awarding contracts upon competitive bidding and in substituting for it the so-called cost plus system."

Besides the Secretary, the majority report held Colonel W. A. Starrett, an architect, of New York, "primarily" responsible for adoption of the cost plus contract, and it was intimated that he used his position on the Emergency Construction Committee to obtain contracts for the George A. Fuller Company, of which his brother was President.

The minority said this "charge" of use of position to get contracts for the Fuller Company "rests wholly upon inferences."

On the other hand, the majority asserted that favored contractors and architects generally had a hand in framing the cost plus contract.

Two Resolutions Offered.

Along with the investigating committee's report the Republican majority presented a resolution directing that evidence obtained during the nine months' investigation be turned over to the Attorney General, with the request that he institute criminal and civil proceedings. The Democrats countered with a substitute resolution proposing to instruct the committee to name persons, firms and corporations "which should be investigated by the Attorney General," before directing that official to proceed.

McCullough said it was not within the province nor the duty of the committee to prosecute crime or indict criminals.

"The report of the majority contains facts and evidence," he declared, "and the record of the testimony taken in connection with the construction of Camp Sherman at Chillicothe, Ohio, and Camp Grant at Rockford, Ill., contains evidence on which the Department of Justice should immediately predicate Grand Jury investigations."

JAM IN OCEAN TRAFFIC.

Hundreds Unable to Get Cabins—Waiting Lists on All Lines.

The shortage of passenger tonnage and the heavy travel to Europe has created a situation unprecedented in the memory of steamship agents here. Offices are crowded all day with people willing to pay any price for cabin accommodation to Europe. The waiting lists contain more than 500 names. Seven people from Cleveland, who have had their passports viséd, will go to the Cunard pier, foot of West Fourteenth Street, this afternoon, in the hope that some of the passengers booked to leave on the Carmania for Liverpool will not show up at the last moment.

The White Star liner Olympic, which is to sail July 8 for Cherbourg and Southampton on her first eastward trip as an oil burner, has a full list, with a large number waiting. Most of those eager to go to Europe are business men and women or persons going to see relatives. With two big German fleets and the Austro-American Line out of business, the Holland-America fleet tied up in Rotterdam by a strike, a delay in the sailing of the Imperator, and with the Olympic, Aquitania and Celtic in drydock on the other side, the burden of traffic has been shifted to a few vessels. Cabin rates have been raised 20 per cent. since April 1, but the demand for the passenger accommodation has not decreased.

ASKS NEW SCHOOL BOARD.

Board of Promotions Recommended to Conduct Examinations.

Associate Superintendent John L. Tildsley, Vice Chairman of the committee appointed to consider the system of examinations and official records and ratings, reported yesterday to the Board of Education that the Board of Examiners had too much to do.

He recommended that a Board of Promotion be appointed to hold examinations. It should consist, he said, of five members, one from the Board of Superintendents, one from the Board of Examiners, a District Superintendent, a high school principal and an elementary school principal. The terms should be for one, two, three, four and five years, respectively, and members at the close of one term should be restored to their previous positions. An extra $500 a year for their expenses, &c., was recommended.

The State Commissioner of Education has sustained the appeal of Mabel M. White from the determination of the Board of Examiners upon her claim to be a teacher of superior merit, and ordered that the declaration of superior merit, granted June 27, 1918, be awarded as of Sept. 11, 1917.

SOCIETY WOMEN IN A FASHION REVIEW

SPORTS SUITS AND DOGS

Society maids and matrons appeared last night as mannequins at the Fête de la Mode d'Ete, held at the Hotel Commodore for the benefit of the American Committee for Devastated France. The affair proved to be one of the most novel of the post-Lenten season, and the advance styles for the coming season at the Summer resorts, as displayed by the graceful "models," were smart and stunning.

The mannequins made their entrance at the east end of the ballroom and walked the entire length of it on a runway in a flood of spotlights. Some in sport costumes led dogs. One model carried a poodle, while another had a green parrot perched on her shoulder.

Each gown and its wearer was greeted with applause. All of the matrons and young women appearing are noted for their beauty and poise. Some of the dinner and evening gowns were worn with a dazzling display of jewels. Incidentally there were special dances by Alexis Kosloff's classical dancers.

Mrs. Malcolm Hayward opened the fashion review in a sports suits, after which came Miss Anna R. Alexandre in a dress of nations, which included the colors of the Allies and the coat of arms of one of the new powers worked into the design.

Then came the long array of beach, tennis, riding, afternoon, evening and dinner costumes. Those who appeared included Mrs. Rudolph H. Kissel, Jr., Mrs. Robert David Farquhar, Mrs. Alfred Smiles, Mrs. Sidney Hall, Mrs. Clarence Wyckoff, Mrs. Claude C. Pinney, Mrs. Franklin J. Mallory, Mrs. Dave H. Coddington, Mrs. Cornelius H. Tangeman, Mrs. Samuel F. Streit, Mrs. William Rand, Jr., Mrs. Harold Irving Pratt, Mrs. Richard S. Emmett, Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris, Mrs. J. Philip Benkard, Mrs. J. Gibson Maupin, Mrs. B. Frank Mebane, Mrs. John Wolfe, Mrs. Walter Kremer, Mrs. Martin Foss, Mrs. Robert M. Gamble, Mrs. Marporie M. Close, Mrs. Frederick Lewisohn, Mrs. Philip Kip Rhinelander, Mrs. Herbert Shipman, Mrs. J. Theus Munds, Mrs. S. Stanwood Menken and Mrs. Reginald T. Townsend.

Also the Misses Katherine Knapp, Florence Clendenin, Elsie Parsons, Ruth Richards, Aileen Flannery, Janet Brower, Noel Chatillon, Marion Carey Dinsmore, Elsie Hughes, Frances Riker, Grace P. Hendrick, Anne Holden, Agnes de Selding, Genevieve Clendenin, Leila Burden, Rita Boker, Catherine Okie, Marion Tiffany, Dorothy P. Clapp, Helen Taft Trenholm, Elise Everett, Marie R. LaMarche, Grace Bristed, M. Symphorosa Bristed, Katherine Van Ingen, Marie J. Leary and Priscilla Kennaday.

The Executive Committee was made up of Mrs. Gilbert H. Montague, Mrs. Elihu Chauncey, Mrs. George A. Legg, Mrs. Benjamin T. Tilton, and Miss Anne Morgan. Mrs. L. Gouverneur Morris, Mrs. Oren Root and Mrs. Neilson Vanderbilt composed the Patronesses Committee, and the Misses Grace Bristed, Mary Taylor Moulton and Agnes Graham Troup the Participants Committee.

The fashion fête was followed by dancing.

Greenwich House, one of the large settlements, gave a ball last evening at the Waldorf-Astoria, which was largely attended. There was a vaudeville entertainment before the dancing, and the patronesses included a number of prominent society women.

The proceeds are to be used to maintain the settlement's three Summer home camps—one for mothers and babies at Morristown, N. J.; the second for girls at the country place of Mrs. Herbert Parsons, "Lounsberry," and that for boys on Lake Stahae, in the Palisades Interstate Park. More than 2,700 from the poorer districts about Washington Square were sent to these camps last year for two weeks.

THEIR WEDDINGS DAY APART

Misses Whitney and Murray and Their Fiances Get Licenses.

Miss Flora Payne Whitney and Roderick Tower, who are to be married on April 19, in St. Bartholomew's Church, and Miss Leslie Murray and Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, who are to wed on Saturday, in the Church of the Transfiguration, paid a visit to the Municipal Building yesterday where they obtained their marriage licenses.

They Come, They Come.

By MRS. JIMMIE THOMPSON—GREELEY 579.

When you sit at home by your cozy fireside, with all your Loved Ones near you, have you a thought in your mind for those who do not know this great contentment?

Does your heart ache for misguided bachelors who scoff at that tender passion which is the essence of all beauty, happiness and progress? Do you remember that there are lonely maids who dream, unknown and unknowing, of the joy that should some day be theirs?

And I said to Joseph Klaw, my voice quivering with the greatness of our mission, "Is it not a pity that the whole world does not come to our Temple of Laughter and Love at 104 West 39th Street—the Princess Theatre? There are some who know not that for the slight trouble of calling Greeley 579, and paying our moderate box office fee, plus the war tax, they can learn in this Great Temple of ours, at this hilarious comedy, the Joy of Life and the Secret of Love?"

But Joseph Klaw's face glowed with the good he was doing in providing the people of this city with mirth and happiness, and he said, "They come, dear lady, they come in ever increasing numbers." ©1920

P.P.C. Printing Facts

The most practical form of pamphlet binding is saddle wire. Unless the book is very thick, this will hold like grim death. When too thick for saddle wire, side-wire through the cover is often used. This has the advantage of strength, but is more or less unsightly and has the additional objection that the book so bound will not open flat. The best and most expensive form of binding is sewing and gathering. But in this case the cover must be glued on, and a glued cover is pretty sure to come off if the book receives much handling. Therefore, when the book is sewed, it is generally advisable to reinforce the binding with muslin strips, or, better still, to put on a cloth back.

Look At The Suit Before You Look At The Price!

THE thing to concern you most this Spring should not be the High Cost of Clothes, but the Low Cost of Clothes. If the price goes too low, then the quality goes out, of course.

We forget the Price to get the Quality, and then put a commercially fair price upon a traditionally fine product—Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes.

ROBINS TROUNCE YANKEES ONCE MORE IN FAREWELL CLASH OF SPRING SERIES

YANKEES END SERIES BY LOSING ANOTHER

Dodgers Take a Parting Slap, 7 to 2, for Total of Ten Victories in Sixteen Games.

ROOKIES FIND GOING ROUGH

Rip Collins, the Texas Cowboy, Gets Plenty of Action in Four Innings and Smallwood Succeeds Him.

The Robins relieved the monotony of a Monday afternoon in Brooklyn by jumping into the Yankees with both feet in yesterday afternoon's pastime at Ebbets Field and handing the American Leaguers an inglorious 7-to-2 drubbing. A sparse crowd left home and fireside to witness the hostilities, which marked the end of the sixteen-game series between the two aggregations. The Robins' triumph yesterday was their tenth. The Yankees have been able to capture only six of the dual clashes.

Rip Collins, from down Texas way, made his début in the big city, and, despite the handicap of being without his sombrero, managed to hold out for four innings before the Dodgers got too frisky for him. During this time Brooklyn gathered five of its run. Both teams were oozing with rookies before the fray came to an end. Miller Huggins let Fred Hoffman emerge from obscurity and handle the offerings of Collins. The Yankee pilot also yanked Vick in favor of Frank Gleich, who cavorted around the right garden with effective results, these including one hit and one of the Yanks' two tallies.

Robin Rookies Out in Force.

Wilbert Robinson went Huggins one better by introducing no less than four recruits, in addition to several more or less experienced reserve men. Hood, a rookie, relieved Zack Wheat when the veteran wearied of the pastime in the eighth inning. Beyers made his début behind the bat, and John Miljus took his turn on the mound in the fifth, after the Dodgers had accumulated a safe lead for Grimes, who started the game. All told and accounted for, the home team had fourteen players on the field at one time or another, and Robinson had a fruitful opportunity to observe the possibilities of some of his hopefuls.

The Brooklyn team jumped into an early lead by bunching two hits in the opening frame. After Olson had expired on a grounder to Collins, Bernie Neis lashed a single to right, and ultimately tallied when Wheat doubled to the same garden.

Collins, after this threatened disaster in the opening frame, breezed along without injury for two more innings. In the fourth, however, the Robins unleashed a wicked attack that sent the Texan to the showers. Jimmy Johnston greeted the recruit with a blazing triple to centre. Wheat ambled on four wide ones, and Myers brought Johnston home with a sharp single to left. Konetchy fanned, Ward jammed a bingle into right field, scoring Wheat, and Myers crossed the plate while Peck was heaving Miller out at first. Krueger batted for Grimes, and dropped a Texas Leaguer over Pipp's head, Ward racing home from second on the play. Olson sauntered, but Neis ended the agony by flying out to Meusel.

Wheat's double, a single by Myers and Konetchy's two-base slam down the third-base line added another counter to the Dodgers' total in the fifth inning. This cluster of bingles was gleaned from the offerings of Smallwood, who took Collins's place when the Texan was banished at the end of the fourth frame.

Yanks Score in Sixth.

The Yankees ambled along good-naturedly for five innings before they became menacing to Grimes, only sixteen hitters facing the Brooklyn boxman in that space of time. With two gone in the sixth, Peck hit to left field, and kept on running home when Pipp maced a long-flung triple to the scoreboard in left. Babe Ruth received an intentional walk, but Duffy Lewis grounded to Johnston and died at first.

The second tally for Huggins's men was more or less of a gift from Miljus in the eighth. Gleich gained first base by virtue of a single, went to the keystone sack on Peck's second hit, raced to third while Pipp was forcing Peck at second, and completed the circuit when Miljus made what Hank O'Day called a palpable balk. Thereafter the Yanks expired without fuss.

In the same inning the Robins finished their scoring for the afternoon by a bit of jumbled-up ball playing. Koney and Beyers singled, the former tallying on a wicked drive to left by Miljus. Kilduff grounded out, and when Beyers tried to score he was doubled up, Pipp to Hoffman to Meusel to Pratt to Hoffman.

Miljus twirled for Brooklyn during the last five frames, and yielded only four bingles, two in the sixth and another pair in the eighth. Smallwood finished the session for the American Leaguers, and, although he was found for six hits, the recruit managed to limit the Robins' scoring to two runs.

Robinson's team will play an exhibition game this afternoon at Ebbets Field with the New York Aggies. It will be the last tryout for the Dodgers before the league opening tomorrow.

HEYDLER MEETS UMPIRES.

National League President Gives Final Instructions on Rules.

President Heydler of the National League held a reception for his umpires at headquarters yesterday and wished them all a happy season. With all the new rules there are to enforce, some of the officials believe that parts of the coming season may not be so happy. Mr. Heydler gave his final instructions on the new rules and answered about a thousand questions which the umpires asked him. Mr. Heydler was not asked as many questions as usual because Umpires Bill Klem and Ernie Quigley couldn't get here on account of the railroad tieup.

President Heydler assigned the umpires for duty on the opening day tomorrow in the following cities: At New York—O'Day and Harrison; at Brooklyn—McCormick and Hart; at Cincinnati—Moran and Rigler; at St. Louis—Klem and Emslie.

Vassar A. A. Is Expected to Make Baseball a Major Sport

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 12.—So great is the interest in baseball at Vassar College this Spring that it it likely that the Athletic Association will make the game a major sport to rank with hockey and basket ball. Practice is already under way for the student-faculty game which has become an annual Spring athletic feature at the college.

NATIONAL LEAGUERS WIN SPRING HONORS

Score 42 Victories Against 40 by American, with Three Tied—Giants Excel.

National League clubs carried off the honors this Spring in the interleague games against clubs in the Ban Johnson organization, but the margin was slight. Yesterday's game at Ebbets Field between the Robins and the Yankees brought the interleague competition to a close, and if the Yankees had won the two leagues would have finished up on even terms, as the National enjoyed only a one-game margin when the final contest was started. The victory of the Robins put the Heydler circuit in front, the figures being forty-two victories for the National League and forty for the American, with three games tied.

The closeness of the figures at the finish is something of a surprise to baseball fans in this section who had not been following the games closely. In view of the fact that the Giants held a decided edge over the Boston Red Sox and the Robins had led the Yankees by a good margin, it was thought that the National League clubs would finish far ahead of their rivals in the interleague games. The failure of the Cincinnati Reds, who made the poorest showing of any team engaging in a large number of these games, coupled with the setback of the St. Louis Cardinals last week in the city series with the Browns, made up to a great extent the margin which had been gained by the Giants and the Robins.

Several startling surprises developed in this Spring competition, which was the most extensive ever attempted by clubs from the rival leagues. A total of 106 games comprised the original schedule and only twenty-one were called off because of bad weather conditions. The Yankees had the unusual distinction of going through a twenty-game schedule against National League clubs without a postponement, and as a result the training trip was the most successful financially a Yankee club has yet enjoyed.

The big surprise was the sorry showing of the world's champions, who won but six of the seventeen games played against American League teams. Clark Griffith's Senators took eight of the thirteen games with the Reds and the Yankees won three of their four against the champions. The success of the Brooklyn club, which won ten of sixteen games with the Yankees, was another surprise, as the Yanks took ten of thirteen against Brooklyn a year ago. The Boston Braves furnished an upset in taking the series with the Detroit Tigers. The results of the Giants-Red Sox, Cardinals-Mackmen and Browns-Cardinals series hardly can be considered surprises, as the winning club in each instance had been picked to finish on top.

Following is a table showing the result of the various series played by teams of the two major leagues:

NAT'L LEAGUE.		AM. LEAGUE.
New York	10	Boston	5
Brooklyn	10	New York	6
St. Louis	8	Philadelphia	7
Boston	6	Detroit	5
Cincinnati	5	Washington	8
St. Louis	2	St. Louis	4
Cincinnati	1	New York	3
Pittsburgh	0	Boston	2
*Brooklyn	0	*Washington	0
Total	42	Total	40

*Only game played ended in a tie.

The Giants were the most successful of all the major league clubs engaging in these interleague battles. McGraw's men won two-thirds of their fifteen games, all played with the Boston Red Sox. The St. Louis Browns tied the McGrawmen in percentage of victories but took part in only six games, these comprising the city series with the Cardinals. Brooklyn was close behind the leaders, with ten victories and one tie in seventeen games played. The Senators and Braves were the only other clubs to win more than half of their games. The Cardinals, Mackmen, Tigers and Yankees followed in the order named, all finishing just below the .500 mark. The Yankees partly atoned for their defeat in the Brooklyn series by taking three of four games with the Cincinnati Reds. Huggins's men won nine games and lost eleven.

Two clubs in each league—the Chicago and Philadelphia Nationals, and the Chicago and Cleveland Americans—did not take part in any interleague games this Spring. Following is a record by teams:

YANKS WILL REST TODAY.

Five Players to Draw Releases—Fewster Rapidly Recovering.

There is no baseball on the Yankees' program today. Satisfied that his players are as fit as they should be for the opening of the season, Manager Miller Huggins has given up the idea of a morning workout and has arranged to take the ball tossers to Philadelphia on an afternoon train. In the event of the railroad strike interfering with this plan the Yankees will be prepared to make the trip by automobile. They will open the season with the Mackmen at Shibe Park tomorrow afternoon.

Huggins will turn five players back to the minor leagues today, thereby reducing the squad to twenty-three players. Nothing has been heard from Ping Bodie since the team returned to New York and the disposition of the veteran outfielder remains in doubt. Aaron Ward, who had been picked to start the season at second base, was in uniform at Ebbets Field yesterday but did no strenuous work. He is recovering from the injury sustained last week at Chester, S. C., and will accompany the team to Philadelphia. He is not likely to get into the line-up for ten days at least.

Word received from Baltimore indicates that Wilson Fewster has recovered his powers of speech and is rapidly recovering from the effects of being hit on the head by a pitched ball at Jacksonville. It is not known, however, when he will be able to rejoin the team. All the Yankee players are in good trim except Lefty Thormahlen, who has been troubled with a sore arm since early in the training campaign. Bob Shawkey probably will draw the honor of pitching the opening game for the Yankees.

The Giants have their final dress rehearsal before the season's opening when they play their annual game with the Yale 'Varsity team at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. Tomorrow afternoon the McGrawmen start the season here, with the Boston Braves furnishing the opposition. Barnes or Nehf will do the pitching for the opener.

FORDHAM BLANKED BY GIANTS, 11 TO 0

Frisch Celebrates His Big Day by Helping to Defeat His Former College Mates.

Low visibility, storm-threatening clouds and chill winds, which made the atmosphere more suited to football than baseball, did not deter the Giants from annexing another pre-season victory at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The victims were the Fordham University team, which journeyed to the meadow in the shadow of Coogan's Bluff for the purpose of observing Frank Frisch Day. The festivities were arranged in honor of the Giants' agile third baseman, who, previous to his major league career, was one of Fordham's crack all-around athletes. As a token of esteem for their former college mate, the Maroon students presented Frisch with a three-stone diamond ring just before the start of the game. Then the Giants, including Frisch, proceeded to bury the collegians under an 11-to-0 whitewashing. A crowd of about 700 chilled fans, the majority of them Fordham students and graduates, witnessed the presentation and subsequent Maroon mauling.

Frisch didn't play the leading rôle in the downfall of his former cronies, but he made his presence felt, nevertheless. On the field the former Maroon wearer accepted four chances without a tremor, knocking down a sizzling grounder off the bat of Buckley for a put-out in the second, and in the eighth running over almost to the boxes back of third for a high twisting foul fly sent up by Couseneau. With his stick Frisch collected but one hit, but this rap proved of vital significance, inasmuch as it started the Giants off on their scoring way in the second frame. Frisch himself crossed the rubber with the initial Giant run. Thereafter tallies followed each other in monotonous sequence.

The Giants started their regular line-up against the Bronx collegians, but after four innings it became apparent that there was no pressing necessity for the presence of the men who will help McGraw pry off the major league lid tomorrow. Accordingly, Burns, Young and Fletcher were relieved of duty in the fifth, being replaced, respectively, by Statz, King and Sicking. In the eighth Kauff, Gonzales and Nehf were withdrawn and replaced by Bull, Smith and Hubbell. The transformation didn't affect the Giant scoring in the least, for the Fordham lads, unaccustomed as they were to major league opposition, had little chance.

Nehf Keeps Lid On.

Nehf twirled airtight ball for the seven innings he was on the hill. In that space he fanned nine collegians and allowed but two hits. Couseneau crashed out a full-fledged single to right in the third with one down, but remained there when the Giant southpaw fanned McNamara and McLoughlin. In the sixth Halloran beat out a scratch hit along the third base line, after McLoughlin had been retired, but he, too, stopped at the initial corner. In the eighth Hubbell replaced Nehf and was nicked for a double by Halloran and a single by Buckley in the ninth, but a snappy double play squashed the threatened Maroon uprising.

Timmy McNamara, a right-hander, started for the Bronx collegians, but experienced rough sailing in the second and third innings. He retired under a shower of seven Giant hits and three runs, to be replaced by Waters in the fourth. The latter lasted three innings, or long enough for the Giants to collect five more runs. Colloton took the mound in the seventh and finished the game without interrupting the Giants' scoring. Colloton was nicked for six hits in his two frames and three runs.

Fred Kelly, the Giants' long first baseman, had the most successful batting day. Fred collected three hits and raced over the rubber with a brace of runs. One of Kelly's slams was a home run to the fence in left centre. The tall infielder accomplished this feat at the expense of young Waters in the fifth round. Fred started this inning, so his blow was not as productive as it might have been. Arthur Fletcher had a perfect day at bat, collecting three hits in as many trips to the plate during the four innings he guarded the short field. Sicking, who played Fletcher's position from the fifth, continued where the Giant Captain left off, getting a brace of hits in two journeys to the plate.

A Busy Athlete.

The second inning was a significant one for Frisch. He got his first chance to assist in squelching his erstwhile teammates, and also had an opportunity to accomplish something for the Giant cause. Buckley started Fordham's half of this frame and rapped a wicked grounder at Frisch. The young Giant third baseman gobbled up the ball and retired Buckley at first while the Fordham visitors, forgetting partisanship, yelled approvingly. In the Giants' half Frisch walked to the plate to start his team's attack and the Fordham fans broke forth in their college yell. Frisch promptly cracked a single past Finn to centre, and the Giant bombardment was on. Subsequent hits by Kelly and Nehf chased Frisch home with the opening Giant run, and then it became a question of just when the scoring would cease. Three cracking singles, a high throw by Start and a wild pitch by McNamara resulted in two additional runs in the third. In the fourth Waters faced the Giants, but a pass, a single, successful use of the hit-and-run play and an error by Lefevre produced another counter.

Fred Kelly's circuit clout starting the fifth played havoc with the collegians, for it was followed by a pass, errors by Finn and Buckley, a double steal and a single by Fletcher, all combining in the manufacture of three runs. In the sixth Kauff got a pass, stole second, took third when Frisch skied out to Buckley and scored on Kelly's sacrifice fly to Halloran. A triple by Statz, a double by Sicking and Doyle's single resulted in another brace of runs in the seventh, and in the eighth Kelly's single, a rap by Hubbell and the double steal gave the Giants their last tally.

FOURTH STRAIGHT RACE FOR ETTAHE

BOWIE, Md., April 12.—J. Kennedy's Ettahe, which appears to be at the top of his form just now, today earned the right to be called the most sensational performer so far produced at the Bowie meeting. Though a horse of only moderate ability, he has stood out here among others of his class, and this afternoon he scored his fourth straight victory for the meeting by capturing the Annapolis Purse, a race at one mile. Like most of his other victories, this one was scored after Ettahe had been in front all the way. He defeated Tantalus by a length, while the latter just gained the place from Star Realm by a head.

The Annapolis attracted eight starters. Among them were several which had been recent winners. The fact that Ettahe had won three straight prevented many from supporting him, as it was thought he had reached the end of his streak of success. He was, therefore, as good as 4 to 1 in the mutuels, while Tantalus was made the favorite by the large Monday crowd.

Once the barrier went up there was not much question as to the eventual winner for Ettahe had all the speed. Breaking from a position close to the rail, he was out in front by the time he reached the first turn, and, hugging the rail closely, he set a fast pace and showed his heels to the others all the way to the end. Romeo and American Boy attempted to race with him for the first half mile but after going that distance, were absolutely through and could no longer follow the swift leader. Both dropped out of the contest.

As the horses reached the head of the stretch Tantalus began to move up after getting away to a slow start, and was forced to go to the outside all the way. He made a determined challenge in the stretch and seemed to be gaining on Ettahe a furlong away from home, but when it came to the final test he weakened. However, Jockey Burke, on the winner, took no chances. When he saw Tantalus moving up he applied the lash to his mount and then rode Ettahe out to the very end. Star Realm had moved up with a rush, as had My Dear, and this trio fought it out for second and third moneys in a close finish. They were separated by only inches at the end.

Of next importance on the card was the Mount Royal Purse, a seven furlong dash, which brought out some good sprinters. This went to J. R. Skinker's Midnight Sun by the narrow margin of a nose, and came near being turned into a defeat by the overconfidence of Jockey Sneidman. Clean Gone was second and Tippo Sahib third.

Midnight Sun forced the pace all the way, but in the stretch Clean Gone, the odds-on favorite, which was recently nosed out by Ormonda, made a rush and came up to within a few feet of the leader. Though Clean Gone was gaining with every stride Sneidman would not draw his whip, and contented himself with a hand ride to the finish. If the horses had had twenty feet more to go Clean Gone would have been the winner.

Passage of Boxing Bill Urged by War Veterans

The United American War Veterans have sent the following communication to the State Senators and Assemblymen at Albany:

"By unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees of the United American War Veterans it was resolved that we call upon each member of the State Legislature to support the Gillette Boxing bill in the interest of true sportsmanship, and to give the people of New York State the privileges allowed in other States, which is now denied to them.

"You are aware that boxing, as conducted by the army and navy, keyed our men to the minute; that thousands of weaklings in mind, spirit and body were, through the manly art, developed into fighting machines that smashed the Huns. Boxing is an American institution; let us bring it back, also let us fight to keep it clean."

HAGEN'S PASSAGE IS BOOKED FOR MAY 15

Will Have Month's Practice on Other Side Before Seeking British Golf Title.

Walter Hagen has a little more than a month left for practice before going abroad to compete in the British open golf championship. He will sail May 15 on the Cunard-Anchor liner Carmania for Liverpool, passage having been arranged yesterday. Accompanying the national champion will be Al F. Wallace and H. B. Martin, and, it is understood, Gil Nicholls also plans to make the trip. Jim Barnes, who is also going across, has left New York for St. Louis, where his home club, Sunset Hills, is located. Before going West Barnes said he intended sailing about the middle of May, but his passage has not yet been engaged.

Once in England, Hagen will have nearly another month before he has to face the British contestants in the qualifying round. This test will be played June 21 and 22, at St. George's Hill, in Weybridge, in the County of Surrey, about nineteen miles from London, on the London & South Western Railroad. Here, on one of the admittedly hardest golf courses in all England, seventy-two professional golfers will qualify on two days of play. The eight amateurs entitled to play in the open championship will be qualified elsewhere under somewhat different conditions.

The tournament proper will be held at Deal, over the Royal Cinque Ports links, and will begin a week later, on June 28. Harry Vardon, the hold-over champion, who won the last British open in 1914, before the war stopped British championship golf, will there defend his crown against the younger Abe Mitchell, who in the last three years has come to the very fore in England, especially since last Fall, by reason of his victory in the News of the World event, and against other Britishers and the American invaders.

Hagen will not devote his time and attention to any one metropolitan course for practice, but will get a variety of work at several links. He plans to spend several days at Southampton, Long Island, over the national links, where he will get something approximating the seaside conditions of Deal, and also will visit Jersey and Westchester courses.

BOSTON FENCERS WIN.

Capture First Honors Among Five Teams in Epée Tournament.

Foilsmen from the Boston Fencers' Association won the epee competition for the Saltus Cup last night at the Fencers' Club, defeating the New York A. C. by a score of 5 to 4 and the Fencers' Club by 5 to 2. This was in the final round. In the preliminary round, in which Boston drew a bye, the New York A. C. defeated the New York Turn Verein, 5 matches to 1, while the Fencers' Club beat the Army Fencers' Club of Washington, D. C., by 5 to 4.

The makeup of the several teams was as follows:

YALE TAKES UP SHOOTING.

'Varsity and Freshman Teams Arrange to Hold Matches.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 12—Rifle shooting has been recognized by the Yale Athletic Association as a minor sport, and organization of terms on that basis has been sanctioned. H. S. Thorne '20 of Bridgeport, Conn., will captain the Varsity team, and Chauncey P. Williams of Albany, N. Y., the freshman team. A rifle club will be formed and from it, by means of tryouts, squads of fifteen chosen, from which the teams will be made up. Telegraphic matches will be shot with Harvard April 14, Dartmouth April 30 and Massachusetts Institute of Technology May 10. An intercollegiate schedule is sought. The freshmen will shoot Albany Academy April 13 and Harvard freshmen April 16.

STEINBUGLER GAINS IN CARROM TOURNEY

STANDING IN POGGENBERG CUP TOURNEY.

Player.	W.	L.	H.R.	P.C.
G. Spear	4	1	32	.800
F. W. Boyd	4	1	24	.800
R. Steinbugler	4	1	27	.800
F. S. Appleby	3	2	47	.600
C. E. White	1	4	26	.200
J. M. Shea	1	4	16	.200
J. Low	0	4	19	.000

Robert Steinbugler plied his cue to such good purpose at the Rational Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night that he advanced to a tie with George Spear and Frank W. Boyd for first place in the annual 18.2 balkline billiard handicap tournament for the J. F. Poggenburg Memorial Cup. Playing against Charley White, who won the tourney last year, Steinbugler managed to win by a score of 115 to 166. Being a Class C player, Steinbugler was playing for 115 points, while White, a Class A player, was striving for 250 points.

The tie for first place is bound to be broken tonight when Steinbugler will meet Francis Appleby. If Steinbugler leads he will rest alone in front. If he is beaten he will be eliminated from the hunt for the trophy. Again, if Steinbugler wins it will be impossible to avoid a tie for first place when the regular schedule of games has been completed, for the winner of the final match on Wednesday night between Boyd and Spear will have to meet Steinbugler in a play-off for the cup. If Steinbugler is beaten by Appleby, then the winner of the Boyd-Spear match will be the cup holder for another year.

Although Steinbugler made an average of 4 7-27, which is fair enough for a Class C player, it was not so much his ability to make shots that carried him to victory as it was White's failure to live up to his best form. The fact of the matter is that White really has been in his best stroke in only one of the five games he has played in the tournament. The severe illness which prevented his playing much billiards prior to the beginning of the current cup hunt has been apparent in his playing. He has been woefully out of stroke in most of his starts, and last night this was particularly true of his draw shots, usually the forte of a good balk-line player. Had he been able to draw the ball with accuracy there is little doubt that he would have a much better average than 6 10-26, but, as it was, this inability seriously handicapped him and kept him from making many position shots which otherwise would have been easy prey for his ordinarily expert cue.

For the first fifteen innings White did well enough and accumulated a commanding lead. He was then in front by a score of 130 to 59 and appeared a sure winner. Up to that time Steinbugler had been able to accomplish but little with the ivories. He had little or no control over the balls and his work at the table was decidedly erratic. But after the fifteenth inning White began to skid, and before he had finished his backsliding his game went all to pieces and he performed little better than the veriest novice.

There was nothing impressive about Steinbugler's playing. He made some good runs—nothing sensational, but fairly healthy—but in between these his playing was nothing to brag about. He seemed utterly unable to hold the balls together once he had gathered them, with the result that most of his counting was done by open table work.

The score by innings:

R. Steinbugler (115)—0 4 2 12 8 7 3 0 0 0 4 3 0 16 0 18 1 17 1 8 2 1 5 0 4 0 4. Total—115. Average, 4 7-27. High run, 17.

C. E. White (250)—2 11 21 1 7 8 15 1 1 0 15 1 23 13 11 1 3 4 2 0 0 10 0 1 10 5. Total—166. Average, 6 10-26. High run, 23.

GOLF MATCH IS POSTPONED.

Contest Between Harvard and Princeton to Occur on May 17.

The Princeton University golf team, which has for its Captain J. Simpson Dean, one of the low-handicapped men in the metropolitan district, has been obliged to change the date of its scheduled meeting with the Harvard linksmen to May 17. Originally, an optimistic management booked this match at Englewood for Thursday of this week, but it has been found impossible to play so early over the Jersey course. Cyril Walker, the pro at Englewood, is hard at work with a gang of greenskeepers and caretakers, and promises a tiptop links by another month.

Indian Harbor Y. C. Officers.

Commodore Douglas Grahame Smyth of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club has announced the appointment of Frank Bowne Jones as fleet captain for the current year, with Dr. Albert F. Hanlon as fleet surgeon, and the Rev. Dr. Oliver Huckel as fleet chaplain.

VETERAN OARSMEN WILL BOOM ROWING

Members of Former Crews at Columbia to Show Their Interest in the Sport.

With the announcement that the Columbia crew is going into quarters this morning comes also a statement of a plan of co-operation between the undergraduates and the Alumni of Columbia to make "more fun, less drudgery in rowing, better facilities, a larger squad and a schedule second to none." If plans set on foot at the crew section of the 'Varsity "C" Club dinner at the University Club are carried through Columbia will see a rowing future commensurate with the traditions begun on Forty-ninth Street and strengthened on Morningside Heights.

Two projects specifically were set on foot at the meeting. The first will include the immediate renovating of the veteran launch 1900 for the use of the alumni and the squad, and the other will include, in the more distant future, the construction of a clubhouse with playgrounds in the shadow of the Palisades, where Columbia squads will undergo their preliminary training for the Poughkeepsie regetta.

This scheme, conceived before the war and at that time near consummation from the financial standpoint, will be revived and its fulfillment consigned to a committee of seven which will work in co-operation with, and subordinate to, the athletic authorities at Columbia. The personnel of the committee will be announced later by Billy Meikleham, who presided at the crew section dinner.

Chairman Meiklehem said that the examination of the records showed 255 crew men in Columbia history. Of this number, entitled to the 'Varsity "C," only thirty-seven have died, a significant commentary on the charges of the bad effects of rowing on the health.

T. Ludlow Chrystie, President of the Crew Club, said that the principal object of the club, which is composed of all members of Columbia crews from the beginning of the sport until now, was to show the undergraduates that the older men were behind them, and he asked the crew squad to reciprocate by inviting the grads to come and watch them row.

"What is needed," he said, "is a concentration of strength of the alumni and undergraduate bodies, which is bound to be effective because Columbia spirit in the essence is surpassed by none. All that is needed is that means be found for its expression."

Coach Jim Rice of Columbia has heartily indorsed the purposes of the club. He appealed to the older men to get out to the races. The coach spoke optimistically of the outlook for the current season and said he would welcome graduates at practice.

One of the first steps for more pep back of the crew has been announced for the Yale-Columbia race on the Housatonic, April 24. Arrangements have been started to get a Columbia cheering section together. A special train will leave the Grand Central Station at New York for Derby at 1:45 P. M. on that day.

GOULD'S AMAZING SKILL BAFFLES CUTTING IN CHALLENGE MATCH FOR COURT TENNIS TITLE

JAY GOULD RETAINS HIS AMATEUR TITLE

SCORE IS 6—3, 6—0, 6—1

Jay Gould successfully defended his title of national amateur court tennis champion yesterday at the Racquet and Tennis Club, defeating the challenger, C. Suydam Cutting, in straight sets, 6—3, 6—0, 6—1. It was in 1906 that Gould, at the age of 17, first won the amateur title here and since that time the game has produced no player who could match his skill at the "king of games and the game of Kings," as the ancient sport has been called. It is doubtful if the game has ever produced a master the equal of the American player, and both the amateurs and professionals of this country and England have bowed to his supremacy.

It was the first title match that Gould had played in three years, no tournaments having been held during the war period. While the champion is somewhat heavier, he seems to have lost little of his speed and skill. He covered court with same uncanny agility of old, his placements were deadly in their accuracy and his control was wonderful.

Cutting gave Gould a real argument in the first set and managed to take three games from the champion. After that, however, Gould's game was faster and, as he reeled off game after game, the old cunning of his stroke and his marvelous speed returned and Cutting was distanced. The loser was repeatedly applauded for his fine gets and the game, persistent battle he put up against great odds. Gould won the match in just forty-five minutes of play.

Every available bit of space about the court was crowded with clubmen and among the spectators were Robert W. Goelet, Grafton H. Pyne, George B. Post, Jr., Robert L. Bacon, C. L. Appleton, William A. W. Stewart, Charles G. Meyer, Howard Page, E. Townsend Irving, Devereaux Emmett, Arthur Iselin, J. Macy Willetts, Blair Ewing, Reginald Brooks, Howard Willetts, James B. Lowell, H. Mortimer Brooks, Heywood C. Broun, James Cunningham, Payne Whitney, Robert W. Chanler, Richard H. Williams, President of the Racquet and Tennis Club, Edward Clarkson Potter, John Livingston, Devereux Millburn, Lawrence Waterbury, René La Montagne, William La Montagne, Clarence C. Pell, J. Gordon Douglas and T. Douglas Robinson.

Cutting Takes Opening Game.

The match opened with Cutting serving, and he brought forth a wave of applause when he took the first game at 4—2, scoring the game point on a smash to the dedans. Gould used his railroad service in the second game and won, 4—2. In this game he placed two shots beautifully off the tambour, the ball taking such impossible carroms that Cutting had no chance for returns.

Gould pressed on more speed in the next two games and won them, 4—1. The champion's service was working more smoothly and Cutting repeatedly hit the ball into the net. With the game count 3 to 1 against him Cutting opened the fifth game by scoring the first point, finding the dedans. He caught Gould unawares in this skirmish and found the grille and winning gallery for aces. Gould won the next two games, Cutting making only three points in the pair. Cutting rallied in the eighth and winning chases gave him the game at 4—2. Gould took the ninth and deciding game of the set at 4—1, making his final two points by deadly smashes off the tambour.

Gould went through the second set in whirlwind fashion. It was a love set and Cutting scored but 11 points during the six games. Gould's pace grew faster and his court work was marvelous. His placement caught Cutting out of position and many of his returning volleys were so swift that the fast-flying ball turned the bat in the challenger's grip when he tried to return the ball.

Attempt at Rally Fails.

Gould forced the winning openings with much success in this set and several times found the dedans with lightning shots off the side wall. After Gould had taken the first four games in prompt order Cutting made a gallant attempt to rally in the fifth, but succeeded only in sending the count to deuce. This was the only deuce game of the match. Gould took it when Cutting drove the ball out of court in trying to return one of the champion's terrific cuts over the net.

Gould was at his best in the last set and covered the court like a shadow, anticipating Cutting's returns to a nicety, while his own placements often found the challenger out of position. Beautifully executed placements and winning openings featured Gould's work in the third set and his speed was surprising.

In the first five games of the third set Cutting tallied only three times. The first and fifth were love games. With the inevitable staring him in the face and the game count 5-love against him, the challenger pluckily rallied and displayed his marksmanship at the winning openings. He twice found the dedans and won the game by a placement which caught Gould unawares and brought forth much applause for the challenger.

Cutting was finished after that game and the champion took the deciding one of the match, 4—1, on two points scored by placements and two tantalizing cuts which Cutting tried to return but twisted into the net.

The point score follows:

FIRST SET.

										Pts.	G.
Gould	2	4	4	4	2	4	4	2	4	30	6
Cutting	4	2	1	1	4	2	1	4	1	20	3

SECOND SET.

							Pts.	G.
Gould	4	4	4	4	6	4	26	6

THIRD SET.

								Pts.	G.
Gould	4	4	4	4	4	2	4	26	6

Dedans—Gould, 9; Cutting, 7.
Grille—Gould, 4; Cutting, 2.
Winning gallery—Cutting, 2.
Referee—Charles E. Sands.
Marker—Frank Blow.

After the championship match there was a four-handed game between professionals. Frank Blow and Harold Moore played on one side of the net and Ray Johnson and Walter Kinsella, the squash champion, on the other. Harry Harris was to have played with Johnson, but was held up by the railroad strike and didn't reach the club on time. Kinsella and Johnson gave their opponents odds of half 15 and Blow and Moore were the winners, 8—3, 1—8, 8—4.

Crescent A. C. Squash Tourney.

Harold Rowe eliminated Norman F. Torrance, defending title holder, in the first round of the Crescent A. C.'s annual squash championship tournament which started yesterday in the New Moon gymnasium, in Brooklyn. The veteran champion, after fighting hard for every point, was forced to succumb after three stiff games. The scores were 6—15, 15—7, 17—15.

In another match C. W. Dingee defeated H. W. Praiss after a stiff engagement by scores of 18—15, 15—8.

700 Candidates for Track Establish Cornell Record

ITHACA, N. Y., April 10.—Approximately 700 Cornell students have so far passed through the hands of Coach Jack Moakley of the Cornell track team since college opened last Fall, a record for student participation in sport at Ithaca and considered by athletic authorities as establishing a new mark in Eastern universities. Figures given out by Moakley today show that 687 students have registered for the track since college opened last Fall, 250 of this number being freshmen. Moakley has handled the entire squad without assistance. He has personally interviewed each man, decided as to the particular form of track athletics for which he was best suited, and then started him off on his program of training.

TENNIS FAVORITES WIN AT PINEHURST

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12.—William T. Tilden, 2d, Harold Throckmorton, Samuel Hardy and S. Howard Voshell became the semi-finalists in the united North and South tennis tournament here today, with Miss Marion Zinderstein, Miss Edith Sigourney, Miss Florence Ballin and Mrs. B. F. Briggs occupying the corresponding brackets in the women's singles. The men's doubles also reached the semi-finals, the survivors including Tilden and Shafer, Voshell and Hardy and Bidwell and Throckmorton. Good progress was made in the women's doubles and the mixed event.

There were no upsets in the men's singles, although Tilden's victory over Ralph Baggs was unexpectedly easy, while G. Carlton Shafer gave the veteran Hardy a somewhat closer argument than had been generally looked for. The Philadelphian had a lead of 4—0 in the opening set of this match, and was more than once within a point of winning the first set, but could not quite keep up the pace in the pinches, and eventually lots the crucial session at 9—7. The second set went to Hardy somewhat more easily at 6—3.

Tilden was at the top of his game this morning, while a high wind affected the playing of Baggs to such an extent that he could offer almost no resistance to the champion's driving and smashing attack. The match went quickly in straight love sets. Raymond Bidwell gave Voshell a good fight for one set, which was largely a volleying contest, but succumbed eventually to the southpaw's puzzling service and reliable overhead play. The steady chopping of Fred Baggs also kept Throckmorton working hard through both sets of their match, but the New Jersey titleholder kept sufficient control of his dazzling shots to pull out of each session with the loss of only three games.

The surprise of the day came in the women's singles when Miss Edith Sigourney of Boston defeated Miss Helen Gilleaudeau, the New York State champion, in straight sets, 9—7, 6—3. Both girls played with splendid steadiness, but the wind made it impossible to secure the accuracy of placement necessary for scoring the points decisively. Miss Sigourney had slightly more variety in her play and also succeeded in outguessing her opponent in the crucial rallies.

Miss Leslie Bancroft was also affected by weather handicaps and never quite did herself justice against the holder of the Women's Challenge Cup. Miss Zinderstein, on the other hand, worked her entire assortment of strokes with surprising confidence and had all the better of the court tactics. Miss Bancroft began well and sent over a beautiful shot occasionally through the match, but could never get her game going consistently enough to force the champion to her limit.

Voshell and Hardy put up an impressive exhibition of doubles play in their elimination of the Baggs brothers, while Tilden and Shafer and Bidwell and Throckmorton reached their semi-final brackets without difficulty, both pairs winning in straight sets. The closest match of the men's team event resulted in a three-set victory for Kenneth Simmons, the former Yale star, and H. C. Wick, Jr., over Sigmund Spaeth and N. R. Sinclair, scored 5—7, 6—1, 8—6.

The summaries:

Men's Singles—Third Round—William T. Tilden, 2d, defeated Ralph L. Baggs, 6—0, 6—0; Harold Throckmorton defeated Fred C. Baggs, 6—3, 6—3; Samuel Hardy defeated G. Carlton Shafer, 9—7, 6—3; S. Howard Voshell defeated Raymond Bidwell, 6—4, 6—2.

Doubles—Second Round—Bidwell and Throckmorton defeated Bryan and Seabury, 6—4, 6—3; Tilden and Shafer defeated Rose and Prencil, 6—0, 6—2; Kenneth Simmons and H. C. Wick, Jr., defeated Sigmund Spaeth and N. R. Sinclair, 5—7, 6—1, 8—6; S. H. Voshell and Samuel Hardy defeated R. L. Baggs and F. C. Baggs, 6—1, 6—2.

Women's Singles—Second Round—Miss Leslie Bancroft defeated Mrs. M. D. Straffin, 6—1, 6—2.

Third Round—Mrs. B. F. Briggs defeated Mrs. S. Sohst, 6—3, 6—3; Miss Edith Sigourney defeated Miss Helen Gilleaudeau, 9—7, 6—3; Miss Marion Zinderstein defeated Miss Leslie Bancroft, 6—2, 6—1; Miss Florence Ballin defeated Miss Phyllis Walsh, 6—4, 6—3.

Doubles—First Round—Mrs. Briggs and Miss Gertrude Della Torre defeated Miss Esther Tufts and Miss Judith Jenks, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Zinderstein and Miss Gilleaudeau defeated Miss Walsh and Miss Katherine Force, 6—3, 6—0; Miss Sigourney and Miss Bancroft defeated Mrs. Sohst and Miss Bertha Sexton, 6—1, 6—2.

Mixed Doubles—First Round—Mrs. Sohst and Norman Johnson defeated Mrs. Straffin and Gregory Bryan, 6—3, 6—4; Miss Zinderstein and W. T. Tilden, 2d, defeated Miss Della Torre and Kenneth Simmons, 6—3, 6—1; Miss Walsh and Samuel Hardy defeated Mrs. Briggs and Arthur Sweetser, 6—1, 6—2; Mrs. Candee and F. C. Baggs won from Miss Jenks and A. H. Chapin, Jr., by default; Miss Sigourney and Raymond Bidwell defeated Miss Bancroft and R. B. Weeden, 10—8, 6—4; Miss Tufts and S. H. Voshell defeated Miss Sexton and Richard Rowse, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Gilleaudeau and B. F. Briggs defeated Miss Force and R. L. Baggs, 6—0, 6—2; Miss Florence Ballin and H. A. Throckmorton defeated Miss May Ballin and H. C. Wick, Jr., 6—3, 6—3.

HORDE OF CYCLISTS IN OLYMPIC TRIALS

Many an amateur bicycle rider, with his heart set upon making a place on the American Olympic bicycle team, will be given the once-over during preliminary tryouts in all parts of the country the first week in May. Methods of qualifying for the Olympic team have been mapped out by the cycling branch of the American Olympic Executive Committee, and the program of preliminaries and elimination runs indicates that only the best riders will go to Antwerp the last of July.

Richard F. Kelsey, member of the Olympic Cycling Committee and Chairman of the Board of Control, National Cycling Association, states that only men of unusual stamina will be able to meet the stiff demands of the Olympic events. These include four fast track races and one long road run. Determined to send an American contingent that will be qualified in every way to meet the world's best cyclists, the committee will take care to sift out the best riders in the elimination trials. Exceptional exactions will mark the final selections early in July.

An army of riders will start the ball rolling the first week in May, Bicycle Week, when preliminary tryouts at ten miles are to be run with a view to qualifying riders for the first elimination trials at twenty-five miles on Memorial Day, May 31. A tentative list of cities in which the elimination trials will be centred Memorial Day includes New York, Providence, Baltimore, Buffalo, Toledo, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Birmingham, Ala.; Omaha, Neb.; Salt Lake City and San Francisco.

The final elimination will be run in some Eastern city, nearest the point of sailing, not later than July 1. Then will come the task of choosing the team. Entries will close July 8 and the team must leave for Belgium not later than July 24. The distance of the final race will depend upon local conditions, as it must be run on the public highways, except the finish, which may be run on a track.

Mr. Kelsey says the Antwerp track is noted for its excellent surface and speed qualities. The entire course of the Olympic road race, it is announced, will be treated especially with a coat of cinders three feet in width.

The first application for an elimination trial has been made by the Century Road Club Association of this city. The application named June 20 as the date desired and the distance designated is 108.74 miles. The territory embraced in this tryout will be within the metropolitan district. The club will conduct this trial in place of its annual Spring century run.

It is announced that the 1920 world's bicycle championship races will be held at the Garden City track, Antwerp, Belgium, Aug. 5, 7 and 8. The bicycle events of the Olympic games will be held on the same track beginning Aug. 9.

HIGH COST HITS STUDENTS.

Columbia Undergraduates to Vote on Increased Activities Fee.

The high cost of living for the Columbia undergraduate is likely to be boosted still higher, if recommendations made to the Board of Trustees by the athletic authorities are finally carried through. An increase in the Students' Activities Fee from the present figure of $10 to $20 is proposed, and the question will be voted on by the students within the next two weeks.

Correspondence between Charles H. Mapes, Chairman of the University Committee on Athletics, and President Nicholas Murray Butler was made public yesterday by L. C. Danielson, graduate manager of athletics, and it revealed that the athletic committee is heartily in favor of increasing the fee. Mr. Mapes informed President Butler that the undergraduate now gets $41.75 worth of athletics for his $10, and declared that "tremendously increased operating costs" and the high price of athletic equipment make an increase imperative.

The present fee of $10 a year is required of every student in Columbia College and is divided equally between the athletic association and Kings Crown, the non-athletic organization. For that sum the undergraduate receives admission to every game, a subscription to every student publication, and other privileges.

CREW IN NEW QUARTERS.

Twenty Columbia Oarsmen Move Into Gould Boathouse.

Twenty Columbia oarsmen, comprising the first two crews and four substitutes, transferred their belongings to the Gould boathouse yesterday afternoon and took up new quarters there. At the same time the Spring training table for Coach Rice's men was started in the Commons, the university dining room, where the same score of candidates assembled for the noon meal. A special table was reserved for the oarsmen in one corner of the hall.

The crews that were transferred to the boathouse were as follows: 'Varsity—Bow, Saacke; No. 2, Curry; No. 3, Swinburne; No. 4, Gallico; No. 5, Herman; No. 6, Scovil; No. 7, Van Houten; stroke, Captain Leys. Junior 'Varsity—Bow, Frost; No. 2, Thompson; No. 3, Helwig; No. 4, Bradshaw; No. 5, Buffalo; No. 6, Park; No. 7, Enslow; stroke, Waldecker. The substitutes were Knodel, Wright, Mulligan and Dreesbach.

A. A. U. PICKS DATES FOR OUTDOOR MEETS

Senior Metropolitan Title Games Will Be Held June 19 at Pershing Field.

The Metropolitan A. A. U. senior outdoor track and field championships will be held at Pershing Field, Jersey City, June 19, and the junior track and field title tests will be held June 12. These dates and the location for the senior games were adopted last night at a meeting of the two committees in charge of both fixtures. Gerald F. Norman of the Alpha P. C. C. is Chairman of the junior committee and George P. Matthews of the Morningside A. C. is head of the senior body. The meeting was held at the Metropolitan A. A. U. headquarters.

The senior championships will be conducted under the auspices of the Department of Parks and Public Property of Jersey City, under whose auspices the fixture was held last year on the occasion of the official opening of Pershing Field. Commissioner A. Harry Moore, an ardent supporter of athletics in the Commonwealth across the Hudson, submitted the application for the title meet. A place for the junior championships will be decided at another meeting of the Junior Championship Committee on April 26. By that time it is expected arrangements will have been completed for awarding the fixture. At present the committee officials have under consideration City College stadium, Macomb's Dam Park, Castle Point Field, Hoboken, N. J., and several other propositions.

The forthcoming Olympic Games competition, combined with the extensive plan of preparation for the international classic by the American Olympic Committee, guided the local A. A. U. committee members in their selection of the dates for the two important outdoor meets. These district championships take on greater significance this year than ever before. Successful competitors will get an opportunity to compete in the Eastern track and field tryouts at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, June 26, while the victors in the latter meet will be eligible for competition in the national championships, the final Olympic Games trials, at Cambridge, Mass., July 17.

In assigning their dates accordingly the two local committees have advanced their fixtures. The junior meet in the past has usually been held late in June or early in July, while the senior competitions have been conducted late in August or early in September.

The programs followed in the past have been retained for the coming meets. These include twenty events on the senior track and field schedule and sixteen for the juniors. On the latter program the events excluded are the 440-yard hurdle race, five-mile run, 16-pound hammer throw and 56-pound weight throw.

The senior program follows:

100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, one mile run, three-mile run, five-mile run, three-mile walk, 120-yard high hurdle race, 220-yard low hurdle race, 440-yard low hurdle race, running high jump, running broad jump, running hop, step and jump, pole vault, putting 16-pound shot, throwing 16-pound hammer, throwing the discus, throwing the javelin, throwing the 56-pound weight.

NAVY FOOTBALL STARTS.

Forty Candidates Report to Coach Folwell for Workout.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 12.—Bob Folwell, who recently shifted the scene of his activities as head football coach from the University of Pennsylvania to the Naval Academy, started his Spring work with the midshipmen this afternoon and will keep it up for four afternoons a week until the end of May.

All of the regulars are engaged in some other form of athletics at this time, but about forty, equally divided between men on the squad last year and new candidates, reported. They were given some kicking and other essentials. Assisting Folwell were Lieut. Commander C. Q. Wright, football representative of the Navy Athletic Association, and Eddie Ewen, captain of the eleven, who was excused from la crosse practice for the afternoon.

THREE WITH MARKS OF 9 4-5 SEC. ENTER

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—The report from the Pacific Coast of the great work of Paddock of the University of Southern California, who won the 100-yard race in a dual meet in 9 4-5 seconds, makes him, in the view of many, a heavy favorite for the sprint at the coming Pennsylvania Relay Carnival on April 30 and May 1. Some experts, however, prefer the chances of Scholz of Missouri, who has also done 9 4-5 seconds. Two years ago, here, Scholz was an easy winner in the sprint and he is said to be going better than ever.

Minnesota also has in Byron Johnson, their Captain, another great sprinter, who has done 9 4-5 seconds. He is said to be in fine shape and his mates think that he will beat both Paddock and Scholz. Several other very fast men will be in this event, notably Cleesworth of Yankton College, South Dakota; Massengale of Missouri, Lever of Pennsylvania and Johnson, Loesch or Cook of Michigan.

If Johnson decides to go into the sprint rather than the high hurdles, he will be a worthy opponent for the three speed merchants mentioned above, as he equaled the 70-yard record this Winter in one of the Michigan dual meets. In any case, the race will be pretty near decisive as to the real American college champion, for all the fastest men of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific are expected to start.

In practically all the special contests really remarkable entries are being received, but they are secondary to the interest in the big international two-mile relay championship in which Oxford and Cambridge will oppose the fastest American college teams.

The drawing for position at the pole in the relay races will take place today at the University Club at 2 P. M. The British Consul will be asked to be present to draw for the Oxford-Cambridge team in their event. Edwin A. Abbott, the Clerk of the Course for the Relay Carnival, will be in charge of the drawing, with Guy Gundaker, as usual, officiating as official observer. After the drawing a skeleton program of the meet is printed and sent to all the managers of teams in the races so that they will know just when their event is scheduled and what position from the pole their team has.

STAR ATHLETES QUIT CLUB.

Rumors of dissension in the athletic ranks of the Knights of St. Antony were substantiated in a measure yesterday when a quartet of the Brooklyn organization's crack athletes filed registration transfers with the Metropolitan A. A. U. The resignations, following closely upon the withdrawal from the club of Coach Billy Keating and J. J. McAuley, were regarded as significant in view of reports of internal strife which have been circulated recently in local athletic circles.

The athletes filing the latest applications for registration transfers include Eliot Balestier, Jr.; J. M. Hutchinson and J. H. McLaughlin, middle-distance runners, and Matt Lynch, distance runner. It is understood several of the athletes plan to affiliate with the Lexington Council, Knights of Columbus. Under the rules of the A. A. U., however, they must compete without club affiliations for the period of one year.

HARVEY TO REPRESENT U. S.

Will Act for A. A. U. at Today's London Conference on Boxing Rules.

The Amateur Athletic Union will be represented at the International Boxing Union Congress in London today by Charles J. Harvey, who is acting as special representative of the American Olympic Committee in Europe. Frederick W. Rubien, Secretary Treasurer of the A. A. U., yesterday cabled Harvey's appointment for the purpose of having America represented in the drafting of rules and regulations which will govern the boxing competition at the Olympic Games in Antwerp, Belgium, in August.

At this meeting rules drafted for amateur and professional boxing at a meeting of the International Boxing Union in Paris recently will come up for ratification.

Knowing vs. Guessing At Costs

WHERE is the motor truck owner who would say his trucks operate more economically in December than in August? Yet here is evidence from the American Express Company to show that it is possible.

In December one of their fleet of Packard Trucks recorded 1689.7 ton miles at a saving of $71.31 over the same ton mileage in August. From August to December it increased oil efficiency 32%. From February to December it improved gasoline economy 119%.

The American Express Company operates a fleet of 317 Packard Trucks. What is it worth to them to know that all of their Packards are improving in service? What sort of reports will insure this information?

The American Express Company keeps authoritative records by the National Standard Truck Cost System. Simple. Inexpensive to run—accurate enough to get a banker's O. K. Three minutes a day in book-keeping makes possible savings of hundreds of dollars a year. Nationally known concerns everywhere have taken up the System.

"The Bonehead" is the characteristic title of a rather heavy-handed satirical farce which was presented last evening as the Fulton Theatre. It is supposed to poke a deal of pointed and telling fun at Greenwich Village and all the odd little isms suspected of being prevalent in the studios and hall bedrooms of that well-advertised neighborhood. It was written as though for a large public, with the evident intention to let none of its thrusts and quips pass over the heads of even the more slow-witted playgoers, and there is also discernible the author's theory that anticipation is one of the theatre's chief delights, so clearly can most of the twists and turns of "The Bonehead" be seen approaching.

This play is the work of Frederick Arnold Kummer, who is no newcomer as a writer for the stage, although it is quite possible that this new piece at the Fulton was his first work of the sort. Maybe it was tossed off this past Winter, but it conveys the distinct impression of having been written and rewritten a good many years ago. After seeing it, you would swear that in his earlier days Mr. Kummer was minded to write a farce deriding some of the aesthetic postures which, as none knew better than the author of "Patience," are always good game in a theatre alleged to be supported by fatigued commercial gentlemen.

You can easily imagine his having put it together in the days when the turkey trot was quite shocking, the Liberal Club dances new and the portrait of "A Nude Descending a Staircase" the chief topic of conversation in our town. Then you can see him taking the darned thing out of his desk each year and hopefully freshening it with some fad of more recent date. Thus new thought, Buddha, vegetarianism, the simple life, free verse, free love, Ellen Key, birth control, symphonic color, Bolshevism, the Ouija board and prohibition—oh, yes, and that dear old joke about departed spirits again—all these had somehow managed to get into "The Bonehead" before it found a producer.

Speaking of the producer—as the advance notices have done almost exclusively to the overshadowing of the author and Edwin Nicander, the leading actor—he is Claude Beerbohm, who also appears in a secondary role in the company. As these notices have rather stressed the fact that Mr. Beerbohm is a son of the late Sir Herbert Tree, it is permissible to recall the fact here and to note the resemblance between the two in the matter of stature, gesture, fuzzy voice and lisp. Mr. Nicander, an uncommonly good actor when under the right direction and when stimulated by fine material, plays rather listlessly through "The Bonehead" as though he did not regard it as the greatest drama ever staked.

"Alice in Wonderland."

The year has seen so little theatrical entertainment at all suitable for an audience of children that there is probably grounds for rejoicing in the version of "Alice in Wonderland," which was somewhat casually pitched onto the stage of the Little Theatre yesterday afternoon for the first of four matinées. The Caterpillar hurled his insults from the mushroom, the Dormouse droned over the story of the treacle well, the White Rabbit bounded hither and yon, the Duchess's indignant (and very modern) cook hurled pepper and plates in all directions, the Frog Footman went the limit in abstracted hauteur, the Cheshire Cat came and went, and the performance by the Queen of Hearts was a fine bit of execution. Between the acts Mabel Taliaferro as Alice invited all those present to a Mad Tea Party in the once hushed and sanctified tearoom below stairs. Of course, throughout the proceedings, the more interesting and rather the louder performance was given by the rapturous audience.

This stage arrangement of "Alice" was prepared by Rachel Barton Butler, author of "Mama's Affair," and the proceeds are pledged to the New York Kindergarten Association.

Schumann Club Sings Folk Songs.

The Schumann Club, a women's chorus of seventy members, concluded its seventh season last night at Aeolian Hall with a concert of folksongs chosen by Percy R. Stephens, who conducted, and harmonized for high voices by Deems Taylor. Loraine Wyman, soprano, was heard by request in airs from the Kentucky mountains and from French Canada. The chorus sang in French two groups of Belgium and Breton peasant pieces and in English, both traditional carols of the mother country, and interesting bridal songs from Armenia.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Owen Davis's comedy, "A Week-End Marriage," recently presented out of town, is to be immediately reproduced by the Shuberts as a musical comedy. Ernest Truex will play the leading rôle.

Yesterday marked the fifteenth anniversary of the opening of the Hippodrome. "Happy Days" will reach its four hundredth performance on Thursday night of this week.

"Orchids" will be the title of Channing Pollock's new play to be produced by A. H. Woods early in the Autumn.

Emma Trentini is making her vaudeville debut this week at the head of the Palace program. Jane and Katherine Lee and Tom Lewis are others on the bill.

Beginning next Sunday, Keith vaudeville programs will be given at the New Amsterdam Theatre on Sunday nights.

SIX OPERAS ON GALA DAY.

Six operas, complete or in part, were heard by some 8,000 persons at the Metropolitan yesterday, a quadruple and a double bill thus giving one-sixth of the entire season's repertory in bird's-eye view. The gala day for bargain hunters began with Mr. Gatti-Casazza's second "emergency fund" matinée of the year by a galaxy of songbirds.

Ponselle and Martino, the latter in place of Mardones, sang in Act 2 of "Forza del Destino," Orville Harrold delighted the house with the Duke's air in Act 3 of "Rigoletto," introducing also Barrientos and de Luca in a famous duet. Farrar, Martinelli and Scotti, in Act 2 of "Tosca," had the place of honor next, and the bill closed with a chorus and ballet from the final scene of "Samson et Dalila."

Signor Caruso took his leave of the Monday subscribers, reinforced by a host of standees, at the evening performance, which ushered in the regular opera season's final fortnight. The tenor sang to great applause in his favorite rôle in "Pagliacci," with Muzio and Amato, preceded by "L'Oracolo," with Sundelius and Arden, Althouse, Scotti and Didur.

Elsa Alves Hunter, Soprano, Sings.

Elsa Alves Hunter, daughter of Mrs. Carl Alves, the oratorio contralto of other days, who was one of her audience, sang a first public recital yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall, assisted at the piano by C. V. Bos. The young soprano gave proof of her musical inheritance, singing with much animation and appreciation of style, if not great vocal volume or agility, some quaint airs of Purcell, Arne, Bach and Handl. Intelligent also was her treatment of English versions of Brahms and Wolf. She was most successful in modern lyrics, both a French group by Debussy and Fourdrain, and another of local flavor, including Ganz's "A Memory," Hageman's "May Night" and "A Maid Sings Light" by MacDowell.

MUSIC NOTES.

Weber's operetta "Abu Hassan" will be heard at two invitation performances on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon at the Institute of Musical Art.

Fritz Kreisler plays here for the last times this season with Bodanzky and the New Symphony men on Wednesday night and Friday afternoon at Carnegie Hall.

Irene Williams and Caroline Andrews, Cesar Neri and William Robyn head alternate casts in Puccini's "Le Villi" this week at the Capitol Theatre.

The Metropolitan will give its second "extra" performance in five days on Friday afternoon, when "The Blue Bird" will be sung for the last time.

KEMAL DESIGNATES A SHIEK UL ISLAM

Nationalists May Form Separate State with Caliph and Sultan of Their Own.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 11 (Associated Press.)—Mustapha Kemal, Pasha the Turkish Nationalist leader, has designated the Chief of the Dervishes in Anatolia as his Sheik Ul Islam, Representative of the Church in the Nationalist Cabinet. This action is taken here as an indication that the Nationalists contemplate the creation of an entirely separate government, with a Caliph and possibly a Sultan of their own.

There is much speculation as to whether Mustapha will create a monarchy or a republic, and as to when he will designate the new government.

It is doubtful whether the Turkish Crown Prince, who is in Constantinople, will be permitted to leave, as it has been rumored that he would accept a designation as Sultan from the Nationalists.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 12 (Associated Press).—Fighting between Azerbaijans and Armenians is continuing in the Karabagh region, and interallied observers report that 25,000 Armenians in Baku are in imminent danger of being massacred.

portion of the Denikin fleet in the Caspian Sea has turned Bolshevist, moving northward to join the Red fleet which is expected at the mouth of the Volga when the ice clears. The remainder of the Denikin vessels steamed southward from Petrovsk and are reported proceeding to Persian ports.

DONALD OLYPHANT MARRIED IN PARIS

Announcement is made today of the marriage on March 30 in Paris, France, of Donald Olyphant, a son of Robert Olyphant by his first marriage, to Miss Anne Marie de Courjamont, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huet de Courjamont. The announcement will come as a surprise to many friends here of Mr. Olyphant, as the engagement had not been announced.

He went over with the A. E. F., and was a Lieutenant in the photographic section of the aviation service. He there met Miss de Courjamont, who was engaged in Red Cross work. He returned here and remained several months, but returned to France, intending to take a business position, but will bring his bride, and live in this city.

CROKER, SR., TELLS OF WIRETAPPERS

A DETECTIVE IS QUOTED

Affidavits Say He Told of Observing Mr. Croker's Actions on Board Ship.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 12.—The filing of two affidavits telling of conversations with W. F. McCahill, of Hackensack, in which he is alleged to have stated he was employed by Richard Croker, Jr., to come to Palm Beach and get something on his stepmother, together with a statement by Richard Croker, Sr., that he now has full evidence in hand concerning wiretappers sent from New York to intercept messages addressed to him, were today's principal developments in the Croker case. The wiretappers are said to have taken off telegrams that passed by 'phone over a private line to the Wigwam, the Croker estate, during the visit there of Harold Nathan, of the Crokers' New York counsel, who was here for several days.

Mr. Croker said tonight that the wire tapping had ceased. He said one of the men engaged was an expert lineman who came from New York and that on one occasion he was hidden in a palm tree in the jungle for six hours taking off telegrams and conversations connected with the suit.

From the evidence concerning the private detective, it was said that he apparently shadowed Mr. and Mrs. Croker on their trip to rieland which began June 4 last, a few hours after papers had been served on Mr. Croker in a suit in New York instigated by his children. The affidavits are made by F. M. Delavan and Mrs. F. M. Delavan, Jr., of this place, whom the detective is said to have approached in an endeavor to obtain assistance in getting evidence. They quote McCahill as saying he was employed by Richard Croker, Jr. Continuing, the affidavits quote the detective as saying:

"I have reason to know that Mr. Croker is feeble-minded. I noticed on the ship when buying anything he would drop his change and Mrs. Croker would pick it up for him. She sends large sums of money to her father and mother and other relatives in Oklahoma, but we not want to dig up anything in her past. They had another detective here from the Burns Agency. He didn't get much, so they sent me down."

An editorial on the Croker suit, in which the old Tammany Chief was quoted as having said on the witness stand during a Tammany Hall investigation while he was in power that he was out for his pocketbook every time, was shown by Mr. Croker today.

"I never said that," he replied. "Papers all over the country said I said it, but I didn't. I said, in answer to a question, that I was out for my pocket, the same as every man. They are all trying to take away property from each other, some honestly, some dishonestly. The public never knew what that investigation was about. Platt wanted us to plant a Judge, and we wouldn't do it. He planned the investigation as a revenge. They couldn't show anything wrong, and on top of it we went out and won the election with a big lead."

LOCKWOOD ATTACKS HYLAN.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 12.—The New York city administration was taken to task tonight by Senator Charles C. Lockwood, Chairman of the Special Legislative Committee investigating teachers' salary increases in a letter to Mayor Hylan Hylan whom he charges with failure to exercise his powers to aid the school teachers.

"You became Mayor on Jan. 1, 1918," wrote Senator Lockwood, "two years and four months ago. In that time the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has had full power under the law to increase salaries of these teachers, whom you claim are underpaid. You have done absolutely nothing but give some of them a $100 war bonus. You have advocated investigations, and the Board of Education appointed by you has been continually investigating and urging the Legislature to wait. At last, a day or two ago, they made a report favoring increases in salaries.

"The people of the State are determined to save the schools. The city administration and the Board of Education have not met the situation, and it is up to the Legislature to do so. If it fails you will be one of the first to place the blame on the Legislature instead of placing it where it really belongs—on the Board of Education and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment."

Senator Lockwood's letter was in reply to one sent him by Mayor Hylan, in which the Mayor criticised adversely the Lockwood-Donohue bill, which would give the teachers an increase on a percentage basis of 40, 30 and 20 per cent.

It is believed that the teachers' salary question will be solved by the Legislature before the expiration of the present week by a report to the Legislature of the Special Investigating Committee, and the drafting of a bill to make the increases permanent and on the percentage basis established by the Lockwood-Donohue bill.

WANT TRUSTEES OUSTED.

First Church of Christ in Boston Sues Publishing Society Heads.

BOSTON, April 12.—A bill in equity asking that the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society be removed and new trustees appointed by the State Supreme Court was filed in that court late today by counsel for the directors and the treasurer of the first Church of Christ, Scientist.

The bill also asks that the trustees be ordered to make an accounting of money received by them and to pay over whatever amount is found due to the treasurer of the church, that they be enjoined from adopting any designation under which to carry on the business of their trust other than "the Christian Science Publishing Society," and from taking steps in any country to obtain the exclusive right to use any designation implying that they are sole publishers of all authorized Christian science literature.

The bill charges the trustees with mismanagement of the society, with having employed the trust funds to a large extent for the purchase of stocks of material for use in an enterprise forming no part of the business contemplated by the trust deed executed by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the church, and with having charged to expense for depreciation, expenditures for addition to plant and furniture accounts. A hearing was ordered for May 3.

PAPERMAKERS MEET HERE.

Manufacturers' and Distributers' Associations Open Conventions.

The forty-third annual convention of the American Paper and Pulp Association, composed of manufacturers, opened yesterday for a four-day session at the Waldorf-Astoria, simultaneously with the annual convention of the National Paper Trade Association, composed of paper distributers. The first day was devoted to meetings of subsidiary associations, including the Book Paper Manufacturers' Association, the Vegetable Parchment Manufacturers' Association, the Cost Association, the Toilet Paper Converters' Association and the Income Tax Committee.

W. R. Brunner was re-elected President of the Vegetable Parchment Manufacturers' Association and O. B. Towne Secretary and Treasurer. John M. Ross was re-elected President of the Toilet Paper Converters' Association, P. S. Wagner Vice President and E. H. Naylor Secretary and Treasurer. The Technical Association will hold a dinner at the Hotel Astor tonight. The National Paper Trade Association will have a dinner tomorrow night and the American Paper and Pulp Association will have a dinner Thursday night, both at the Waldorf-Astoria.

It Caused Some Surprise.

The announcement, in an advertisement in Sunday's TIMES, of the McCallum Hosiery Company that all of its lines for Fall, excepting one, would be priced at the same levels as those asked for Spring goods, caused considerable surprise in the trade yesterday. The one McCallum number that was advanced went up 7 per cent., but an executive of the company said yesterday that a general advance of at least 20 per cent. would have had to be made but for one thing. This is the system of industrial democracy recently installed in the company's plants, which will not only make for a lower production cost through increased efficiency and a consequently larger output, but which, in a certain sense, takes the public into partnership. More specifically, the decision to not advance prices was due to a willingness to let this increased output, and the larger volume of business it will permit, offset the smaller percentage of net profit which the company had to accept in keeping prices at their present level in the face of higher material and labor costs.

The Effect Is Widespread.

Quite a few innocent bystanders are being hit by the present housing shortage and the consequent willingness of tenants to accept new living quarters, or to keep their present ones, on practically any terms. Among these bystanders are the wallpaper and other decorative industries. While the effect of the lack of decorating in and near the metropolitan district is not so marked on this business now as it promises to be this Fall, due to the fact that most people in this part of the country move about Oct. 1, dealers in wall papers, paints and kindred supplies seem none too optimistic regarding the outlook. Offsetting the present decline in city decorating to a large extent is the usual Spring refurbishing of country homes and Summer cottages, as well as the redecorating of newly purchased homes by former apartment dwellers. What, if anything, will take the place of this in the Fall, however, is problematical.

Big Four Road 50 Per Cent. Normal.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 12.—Striking railroad yardmen continued to remain away from their positions in Indianapolis today, but at least one carrier—the Big Four—reported working conditions within 50 per cent. of normal.

The quotations are for six months' paper.

Gray Goods Sales Small.

The railroad strike has practically brought trading in the local gray goods market to a standstill. About all of any consequence that happened here yesterday in the printcloth end were April sales of 38½-inch 64-60s at 26 cents and May sales of 39-inch 72-76s at 30 cents. Buyers also paid 43 cents for some May lots of 39-inch 64-104, 4.20-yard sateens.

Anticipating Labor Advances.

In the opinion of a clothing representative the local manufacturers should take a leaf from the lesson learned by the Chicago market and not mark their Fall prices so as to take care of a future wage advance. He pointed out that when the wage disputes of Chicago manufacutrers were arbitrated decisions favorable to the workers were granted where it was found that the price of clothing had been marked up to anticipate the advances. He counseled the marking of Fall prices on the basis of present labor costs so that there might be no excuse for the employes in the local trade to ask increases on the ground that such increases were already taken care of in the new prices.

Will Make Own Hosiery.

The representative of one of the largest department store organizations stated yesterday that his house, in common with several other large stores, is negotiating now to control the manufacturing of its own hosiery. This control, he said, will take either the form of actual manufacturing or the purchase of the entire output of a manufacturer. In connection with this step he thought it significant that many of the large stores are showing an increased disposition since the war to enter the manufacturing field. Conditions as well as prices, he said, have largely forced such action.

Patent Bureau Planned.

The response to the suggestion of Irving Crane, Secretary of the National Association of Clothiers, that existing patents affecting the manufacture of clothing be investigated, has been so good that a Patent Bureau is planned. William Grossman is Chairman of the committee in charge of this work and Mr. Crane Secretary. It will be the purpose of this bureau to keep posted on all patents relating to clothing and at the same time devise ways and means of designing better clothing structures. Along with this work the suggestion has also been entertained that information relating to the most up-to-date labor and time-saving machinery be kept.

Advancing the Seasons.

The way has been opened for a conference between the manufacturing clothiers and the woolen mills on the matter of advancing the selling seasons. In the market yesterday it was said that the present plans for effecting this change call for starting the seasons two weeks earlier at every opening. This means that in four years time, without disrupting the industries to any harmful extent, the seasons will become two months longer and enable the manufacturers to have more time for both accepting orders and producing merchandise. As the leading men in the clothing trade believe that year-round production is the answer to many of their problems, the step in this direction made by advancing the seasons has their hearty indorsement.

Marquisette for Dress Hats.

Satin-striped marquisettes, in the softest pastel shades, are now being made up in the local millinery circles into attractive hats for dress wear. They are developed on large frames with the material drooping in a little curtain over the brim edge to give an extra touch of softness. In one hat of this kind white satin stripes on a blue background are very effective in a mushroom shape with wide sides. Around the crown a band of blue satin ribbon in a matching shade is run, finished at the back with a soft tied bow and long streamers. For "knockabout" wear a number of soft crush models have been developed here of late in shredded yedda straw. This gives an attractive fuzzy all over effect that is particularly natty when seen in sports models.

Regarding German Dyes.

In announcing the receipt of information that the Rotterdam dock strike has about run its course, the Textile Alliance, Inc., states that 548 packages of dyes at that port ought soon to be shipped. In addition to this supply, almost a similar amount is ready for shipment from German factories. Information has been received from the factories abroad by the representatives of the Alliance in Paris that all orders for dyes to be supplied from "Reparation" sources have practically been completed for some time, being detained only by lack of transportation facilities. As far as the Alliance is informed there have been no German dyes imported since the last shipment amounting to 41 casks, which were received here in February.

The Fat Man's Chance Has Come.

The Middle West, which is more or less noted for its kind treatment of every one, has taken pity on the fat man and is going to help him out of one of his worst difficulties. That is, one of the stores in that part of the country is, and the chances are that the idea, once proved successful, will spread. Briefly, the store in question is contemplating the establishment of a department for fat men that will come as close as possible to the stylish stout department that many of the stores and shops have put in for the sake of their women customers. While, from all accounts, the new department will not attempt primarily to slenderize the man of generous proportions it will at least give him an opportunity of buying his new duds far from the madding throng.

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

THE NORTH END GAS AND ELECTRIC FIXTURE CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed here against Jeremiah Valenti and Michael Jonick, individually and as co-partners trading as the North End Gas and Electric Fixture Company, at No. 121 Main St., White Plains, N. WILSON AIDS ANIMALS.

Reviews a Washington Parade Intended to Foster Kindness.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Wilson, from the east portico of the White House, today reviewed a long parade of work horses and domestic animals, which was part of the demonstrations of "Be Kind to Animals Week" being observed throughout the country under the auspices of humane societies.

Thousands of persons lined Pennsylvania Avenue and for an hour the district between the Capitol and the White House took on the aspects of an inaugu-

House of Joseph's Window Display Wins Arthur Williams Medal.

The Arthur Williams Medal for the most artistic evening window display during Fifth Avenue Week has been awarded to the House of Joseph, at 632 Fifth Avenue. B. Altman & Co., William Baumgarten & Co. and Dobbs & Co. received special mention in the order named.

The jury appointed by the Fifth Avenue Association consisted of J. Monroe Hewlett, Robert Grier Cooke, Franklin P. Duryea, Bassett Jones and Frederick N. Sard. In their report the members said that the winners of the contest had displayed an exquisite sense of fitness, a nicety of discrimination as to what was and was not appropriate, and an appeal to the imagination of the public based essentially upon the intrinsic character of the goods.

Five firms received honorable mention, and thirty-two were commended on the fitness of their window displays.

LANDLORDS DAZED BY COURT DEFEATS

BASED SUITS ON OLD LAWS

MEETING OF LOFT TENANTS

Industry Raises $15,000 Fund to Extend New Laws to Include Business Buildings.

The Municipal Courts were kept busy yesterday throwing out thousands of cases brought by landlords against tenants. Landlords, with apparent disregard for changed conditions brought about by the new rent laws, presented papers in actions drawn up against their tenants under the old laws. As the papers were defective, the Justices had no alternative but to dismiss the cases.

Disappointed by the setback, many landlords compromised the litigation with their tenants by accepting moderate increases in rent, while in other cases settlements were made on the basis of the old rent.

In the Second District Court, presided over by Justice Benjamin Hoffman, the landlords lost every case where an increased rent was demanded. Almost every one of the 350 cases presented to Justice Hoffman was thrown out, on the recommendation of Assistant Corporation Counsel James D. Sullivan, representing the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering. In the first hour 200 cases were dismissed. The landlords appeared dazed, and could not understand the new laws.

In five cases before Justice Hoffman, where the landlords attempted to comply with the new laws, the court permitted the tenants to institute counterclaims against the landlords, alleging the exaction of unreasonable rents. The cases were adjourned in order to give the tenants time to prepare for trial.

"The landlords still have a notion that the laws are unconstitutional and will not stand," said Mr. Sullivan. "They say that in a short time they expect to have them declared unconstitutional and then that the same old game of gouging will go merrily on."

A fashionably-gowned landlady, wearing expensive jewelry, was incensed with Mr. Sullivan because he would not consent to permit her to raise her rents more than 25 per cent., an increase which was about what her tenants had already received. She told Mr. Sullivan her plan for gaining possession of the four tenement apartments in question.

"I'll tell the Judge that I want one apartment for myself," she said, "one for my son, a third for my daughter and the fourth for my son-in-law."

"Do you and your family intend to move into these tenement apartments?" asked the lawyer.

"I've got to give the Judge some excuse," the woman replied.

Turning to Justice Hoffman Mr. Sullivan moved that the cases be dismissed on the ground of defects in the notices. The motion was granted. It was estimated that at least $1,000 was paid to landlords by tenants in Justice Hoffman's court yesterday because of the large number of cases settled on the basis of the old rent.

Magistrate Harris in the Municipal Term Court yesterday denied a motion to dismiss the complaint against Mark W. Brenen, owner of apartment houses at 52-56 Manhattan Avenue, who is charged by Health Commissioner R. S. Copeland with coercing his tenants. Tenants testified yesterday that Brenen promised not to make them move if they signed papers saying they would make no further complaints to the Health Department or to the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering.

Loft tenants in the textile trades held a mass meeting last night in the Hotel McAlpin under the auspices of the Merchants' Rent Committee, and plans were made to extend the newly enacted rent legislation to loft tenants and storekeepers. In a short time $15,000 was raised by voluntary subscription to defray the expenses of a large delegation which will go to Albany to push the legislation. The meeting was attended by 400 loft tenants in the textile trades, and it is planned to hold similar meetings for each of the other trades.

CURRENCY QUESTIONNAIRE.

Republicans Seek Information for Plank on Banking.

The banking and currency situation in the United States and the policies the nation should adopt to solve the new problems that have arisen during the past six years will form one of the most important planks in the platform of the Republican National Convention, it was announced yesterday by the Advisory Committee on Policies and Platform of the Republican National Committee. The subject forms part of the questionnaire sent by the committee to prominent Republicans for expressions of opinion.

After explaining the work of the Federal Reserve banking system and referring to vast expansion of currency and credit, a statement accompanying the questionnaire says:

"The Federal Reserve Board had the power to control expansion by advancing the Federal Reserve discount rate. Treasury influence in the board was opposed to that course and to the economic and banking judgment in the board. It resisted the advance and controlled the board's action."

Among the questions asked are the following:

"Could the war have been financed and could our after-war requirements have been met without any, or with very much less, credit inflation and currency expansion?

"Did the action of the Federal Reserve Board in holding down the rate of discount stimulate to an excessive and harmful extent the provision of credits and financial facilities for the promotion and flotation of corporate issues?

"Ought the Federal Reserve act to be modified so as to minimize the political influence in the management of the banks?

"Ought further inflation of currency and bank credits to cease?

"Ought there to be deflation by reducing the amount of currency and bank credits?

"Has the sudden advance in the Federal Reserve rate of discount resulted in loss to investors, who, in good faith, purchased securities during the period when such promotions and flotations were made easy by the prevailing low rate of rediscount?

"Ought Congress to revise the Federal Reserve act in the light of five years' experience in operating the system?

"What, in your opinion, is the explanation of the phenomenon that while the outstanding volume of currency and credit has been vastly increased, yet money is scarce, the prevailing rate of interest (which, of course, enters into the cost of all products) has been largely increased and the supply of funds available for business and investment has largely decreased?"

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in New York City for week ending Saturday, April 10, 1920, on shipments sold out ranged from 14 cents to 22 cents per pound and averaged 18.64 cents per pound.—Advt.

Refuses Appeal to Suppress News of Overall Movement

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12.—Birmingham newspaper publishers have flatly denied the request of a committee of retail clothiers that news of the "overall movement" throughout the South be suppressed on the ground that it was damaging the retail clothing business.

The publishers informed the clothiers' committee that their papers would continue to report the overall movement, which they considered legitimate news.

"The "Tampa idea" of wearing overalls as a means of fighting the high cost of clothing, which originated in Tampa, has spread to many cities in the South, where business and professional men as well as other workers are going about in blue denim. It was reported today that there were 4,000 members of the Overall Club in Birmingham alone.

BODY OF LECTURER GIVEN TO SCIENCE

Dr. Spitzka Removes Brain of Dr. Simms, Seventy Years a Student of Physiognomy.

WIDOW CARRIES OUT WISH

Dr. Joseph Simms, who had studied physiognomy and allied subjects for more than seventy years, and who had lectured throughout the world since 1854, died on Sunday morning at the Hotel Empire of apoplexy at the age of 87. Pursuant to his wish expressed to his wife, Mrs. Jemima Sinclair Simms, who survived him, and also stated in his will, no funeral services will be held for the reason that his body was delivered yesterday to Dr. Edward Anthony Spitzka of 63 East Ninety-first Street, lately Professor of Anatomy at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, for the benefit of anatomical research.

Dr. Spitzka, who as prosector of the American Anthropometric Society, formed to study the measurements of the human body, has studied the brains of many well-known men, was a demonstrator at the College of Physicians and Surgeons sixteen years ago, and at that time received the promise from Dr. Simms that upon his death his body would be left to Dr. Spitzka for study, particularly of the brain. Dr. Simms thereupon arranged that upon indication of his approaching death Dr. Spitzka was to be notified at once in order that he might take possession of the body without delay.

Mrs. Simms sent word to Dr. Spitzka on Sunday immediately after her husband's death, and in her apartments at the Hotel Empire she signed an agreement consenting to such use of her husband's body for science as Dr. Spitzka should make of it. Through the courtesy of Dr. George Sumner Huntington of Columbia University, professor of anatomy at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Dr. Spitzka was invited to send the body of Dr. Simms to Dr. Huntington's laboratory yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Spitzka at once removed the brain in order to preserve it, and weighed it. He stated last night that the weight was 1,520 grams, or 53.58 ounces. He said that, considering the fact that Dr. Simms was nearly 87 years old, the weight was above normal. Dr. Spitzka made no further study of the brain or any other part of Dr. Simms's body during the day.

Dr. Simms was born in Otsego County, New York, in 1833. He was a public school teacher from 1850 to 1854, and from 1866 to 1871 he studied at the medical department of New York University, the College of Physicians, and the Eclectic Medical College. He began lecturing on physiognomy and other subjects in 1854. He served in the Union Army under Grant and Sherman. In later years he lectured in all the principal cities of the United States, Great Britain and Australia. He spent three years in the islands of the Pacific, and traveled through America from Alaska to Patagonia, studying birds, fishes, animals and races of men. He retired from the lecture platform in 1884, after he had acquired a fortune. He was elected a member of the Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland in 1875. He was a thirty-second degree Mason.

Dr. Simms wrote "Physiognomical and Physiological Chart," 1867; "Nature's Revelations of Character," 1874; "Lectures on Education," 1875; "Health and Character," 1879; "Practical and Scientific Physiognomy," 1884, and "Past, Present and Future of Woman," 1889.

The nature of Dr. Simms's life work came before the public here in 1912, when he was arrested for carrying a revolver without a permit after he had pointed the weapon at a five-year-old boy in Central Park because the boy picked up rice which he and his wife had thrown to the squirrels, being accustomed to feeding them frequently. Investigation showed that Dr. Simms had carried the pistol for forty years, as a relic of the Mexican war, and that he had never loaded or discharged the weapon. In General Sessions sentence was suspended.

4 TAKEN IN SILK THEFT.

Prisoners Detained When $15,000 in Goods Are Found.

Four men were arrested last night in connection with the finding in the home of one of the prisoners $15,000 worth of silk linings, which the police said had been stolen on Saturday night from the loft of the Majestic Leather Goods Company at 37 West Nineteenth Street. No charge was made against any of the men, but each was booked as "detained prisoner pending further investigation of the robbery." Joseph Calagna, a dress goods manufacturer in the same building where the robbery occurred, who lives at 212 East Twenty-seventh Street, eld Detectives Morarity, Layden and Schauss to the place where the goods were found.

The detectives said they found the silk linings in the rooms of Frank Russo, a contractor, at 327 East Twenty-eighth Street. He denied any knowledge of the linings and said he did not know who had placed them in his home. All of the prisoners were arrested in Russo's rooms. The others arrested were John Lapizcolo, a tailor, 231 East Twenty-ninth Street; Frederick Liccicki, a laborer, 327 East Twenty-eighth Street, and Salvatore Dedalanonti, a contractor, 231 East Twenty-ninth Street.

CALLS BAY STATE GUARD.

Summons for Unknown Reason Reaches Regiments.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 12.—Orders were received by Colonel W. S. Warriner, commanding the 20th Regiment of the State Guard from Adjt. Gen. Jesse F. Stevens, at Boston tonight, calling for a mobilization of all units tomorrow night in the State Armory here.

No reason was given.

WOOD MAY END TOUR BECAUSE OF STRIKES

Will Resume His Military Duties if the Government Intervenes and Needs Him, He Says.

DENOUNCES LAWLESS REDS

Speaking in Bay State Towns, He Criticises Politicians Who Appeal to Radical Voters and Aliens.

Special to The New York Times.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 12.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood, who began his campaign today for Massachusetts Republicans' indorsement of his candidacy for the Presidential nomination, and who on Thursday is scheduled to begin a similar campaign in New Jersey, is considering tonight the cancelation of all his speaking dates in this and other States in order to return to Chicago to resume active command of the Central Department of the army during the emergency incident to the railroad strikes.

General Wood is now in communication with the Central Department headquarters in Chicago, and, should the situation demand it, he probably will start West within twenty-four hours.

"As matters now stand," said General Wood in conversation tonight with THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, "I am on a sixty days' leave of absence and could not be held personally responsible for the maintenance of law and order which involves the protection of the lives and property of the people of the great Central West in the event the Federal Government is called upon to intervene in the present strike situation. I would greatly regret to have to cancel my speaking dates for the next few weeks, as they are the most important on my schedule. However, I will not permit this fact to interfere and if I am needed, as it now seems probable, I shall cancel my leave and immediately return to my desk in the Department Headquarters in Chicago.

"Any possible effect that this may have on my future cannot be taken into consideration should the strike situation become such as to necessitate the intervention of the Government."

Says Radicalism Must Go.

General Wood received warm welcomes from the moment he landed at Pittsfield this morning up to and including his arrival at Worcester this afternoon. His speech in the Worcester Casino was his fifth speech of the day, in all of which he referred to the unsettled industrial conditions in the country.

At Holyoke, where he attended a luncheon at the Hotel Nonotuck, he said the situation in America is becoming one where the people must decide between law and order under the Constitution and extreme radicalism, adding:

"You see the movement in our large cities; you see the movement of the extreme radicals against the well-organized, stable, labor unions, which may now be described as conservative forces, and you find the element of radicalism projecting itself into our activities in all directions.

"As to the alien Red, he is becoming a menace in some of our cities. In the large cities especially he is well organized and efficient. He reminds me a great deal of the rats that spread the bubonic plague. We do not see much of them, but they are always busy. There is no room in America for them. We want to deport any one who is found unfit to be a citizen, but we want to do it under due process of law."

John J. Cronin, the only union labor leader ever elected Mayor of Holyoke, presided at the Nonotuck luncheon, and he was one of the first to shake General Wood's hand when he concluded his speech. To a friend the Mayor remarked that he could agree with every word that General Wood had uttered.

Here in Worcester tonight, at a dinner attended by more than 1,000 citizens, preceding the mass meeting in the Casino, General Wood said:

"There is a very general and a very ugly element growing up in this country, and the sane elements of the people, together with the sane men who direct labor, have a very common interest in meeting it.

"We do not want Bolshevist ideas in this country. We want to be against all that sort of thing. We want courts to smash everthing that looks like radicalism of the red flag type.

"The people are sound as a nut, taken as a whole, but there is this uneasy feeling prevalent. There has been a complete breakdown of government in certain directions, and the time has come for us to get together.

Raps Appeals for Aliens' Votes.

"There is no man in public life today who is more to be despised than the man who knows better, but who is playing upon racial or religious prejudices to gain votes, and unhappily we have a number of them pretty well up in political life.

"The man who is trying to line up the radical elements in this country to vote for him, who is trying under the name of progress and liberalism to preach something which really amounts to anarchy—any man who seeks to use our racial groups for political purposes, is not only a scoundrel but a dangerous man, a man unfit to hold any political office.

"My reference is to all these fakirs, no matter what party they happen to be affiliated with. They are the people who, among other things, are striving to drive a wedge between us here in America and the Allies, and so destroy that fine feeling of comradeship which existed between us and those gallant Allies, by appealing to the prejudices of this or that racial group in our population.

"The war has made us all Americans, and we want to drop all talk of hyphenated Americans and studiously avoid any reference to German-Americans, Irish-Americans or any other hyphenate.

"World leadership lies before us. We cannot escape it if we would, so we do not want a hysterical government. We must stop trying to evangelize the world. We must stop spanking this and that country, over which we have no control, recommending the taking or keeping of lands in which we have no concern.

"Personally I think we had better begin evangelizing a little closer at home, rather than trying to evangelize the world."

Thinks We Need League of Nations.

At the Casino, where he was welcomed by a large audience, General Wood, among other things, said:

"On the League of Nations, I think we want to dispose of it as quickly as we can. I do not believe it should go before the people at an election because that would not amount to anything one way or the other. There is not one man in 10,000 in this country who has read it or understands it.

"I think it should be handled by the President and the Senate, and every effort should be made to bring them together.

"Personally I think we should accept the League with reservations which completely Americanize it. That is the essential thing. But whether we are able to keep the League under those conditions or no, there is one thing we ought to fight for and hold on to. That is the machinery of the League which provides for the assembling of representatives of the different nations to talk things over before resorting to force. That we must stand for."

Speaking of labor troubles he said:

"We must have an institution such as Canada has, composed of members of both sides to the controversy as well as representatives of the public, which promptly investigates the issues involved. It does not interfere with a strike, but publishes a statement of facts concerning the issues, and in that way builds up a strong and well informed public opinion; and public opinion and public sentiment are the only things that rule."

Among those who met General Wood when he arrived in Pittsfield this morning were former Senator Murray Crane, former Lieutenant Governor J. W. Frothingham and Congressman Lufkin. The last named is Chairman of the Massachusetts Wood Committee.

Wild Scene on Berlin Boerse Follow Order To Give Up Securities for War Indemnity

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 12.—Thirty members of the Stock Exchange in Berlin, after stormy scenes, during which some Directors were badly handled, went on strike today, compelling the Board of Directors to close up.

The trouble was caused by the Government's announcement in the morning papers that all foreign securities in German possession must be given up for delivery to the Entente powers in compliance with Article 298 of the Peace Treaty, and that the German owners would be compensated at the rate prevailing Jan. 10 last, when the treaty was ratified. As these rates in most cases were lower than today's value the members of the Exchange worked themselves into a frenzy because the Government had not made its intention known previously, and Cabinet Members as well as the Stock Exchange Directors were accused of having profited by selling stock at much higher rates.

When it became known that the bourses of Frankfort and Hamburg had closed for the same reasons a panic such as had never been known before developed, and though business was not officially opened immense blocks of stocks were offered for sale, among them many securities that were not affected by Article 298. It was then that the Directors, trying to allay the storm, were so badly handled that some had to be taken to the nearest first aid station. Those who had not lost their heads completely finally succeeded in assembling a majority of the brokers and Directors, and it was decided not to note transactions at all and close the Exchange temporarily.

But Wood's Friends Expect He Will Make an Excellent Showing.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 12.—The voters of Illinois are to decide tomorrow whether Governor Lowden shall remain a factor in the Presidential race or, to all intents and purposes, be eliminated as a prominent figure in the canvass.

Chicago, controlled by Mayor Thompson's political machine, may decide the issue, as it is predicted that 300,000 voters may turn out here.

The Lowden forces were elated tonight by a short statement made by Mayor Thompson which they accepted as putting the machine on record against Wood.

"We are for the man," said Mayor Thompson, "who stands for the principles of George Washington—get out of Europe and stay out. We are for the man who is against compulsory military training. Pick that condidate out and you have our man."

While this statement by the Mayor is not an open indorsement of Lowden, it was accepted as openly opposed to Wood's candidacy, and the Lowden followers took much comfort in it.

That the Thompson followers, who have no love for Lowden, will accept this word from the Mayor to unite on Johnson or some other who fits the description—perhaps Mayor Thompson himself—is one belief expressed.

Rumors of Secret Orders.

There are reports that secret orders have gone out in some districts where Thompson controls to unite on Johnson. This is said to be the work of Thompson's lieutenants rather than of the Mayor himself, who is reported to have given his lieutenants that leeway in the event that the general scope of his orders were carried out. Such a situation would make it unnecessary for the bitter enemies of Lowden to cast ballots for him.

The Chicago vote is almost certain to be heavy because of the local organization fight. With Thompson battling for control, his machine will get out the voters.

The prospect for a heavy vote in the country districts is not so good. The weather has grown cold, and the voters have not the impetus of a bitter organization fight to spur them on. Whatever the forces of the Mayor may do in Chicago, therefore, should prove of double importance. Under ordinary conditions the State outside of Chicago casts about one-third of the total vote.

Effect on Wood Campaign.

The result, whatever it may be, will not be of such great import to the cause of Wood as to that of Lowden, although a victory over Lowden throughout the State would give Wood great prestige in the fights in Ohio, Indiana and others to come. On the other hand, Wood will be in a position to claim a "satisfactory result" if he makes a reasonable showing, although the majority of the vote goes to Lowden as the State's "favorite son."

Both sides are claiming victory tonight. Wood's campaign managers have issued a denial of the statement published here that Wood "conceded" the State to Lowden. The Wood backers count heavily on carrying the city of Chicago, where they say Lowden has thousands of bitter enemies among the Thompson forces.

Reports from down the State, where Wood campaigned last week, have been encouraging. There are indications that the down-State vote may be light, and this, many observers believe, would favor the Wood candidacy.

Senator Johnson's workers assert that he will receive 25,000 to 30,000 votes as a minimum. This is possible, although as the Senator made no campaign here it has been generally estimated that his vote will not run above 15,000.

Fifty delegates will be passed upon at the primaries tomorrow and eight delegates at large are to be selected at the State Convention on May 10—a convention which Mayor Thompson may dominate if he wins his organization fight tomorrow. Tomorrow's vote is advisory only, and none of the delegates is bound by it under the law.

One fear expressed by some of Lowden's backers tonight was that voters who probably would favor the Governor had not been impressed with the importance of the campaign, as had voters who might feel more kindly to Wood. Lowden stressed this point in a speech today.

The row over charges made by the manager of the Wood forces in Illinois that the religious issue had been dragged into the campaign became so bitter tonight that the Governor issued a statement today declaring "neither myself, nor any one representing me, has done any such thing."

N. W. MacChesney, Chairman of the Leonard Wood Illinois Campaign Committee, made a statement tonight asserting that telegrams pouring in from all parts of the State prove that the real underlying sentiment of Illinois is in favor of Wood.

A political observer who is accredited with broad knowledge of State politics made a prediction tonight that Lowden would get 60 per cent. of the total vote, Wood 30 per cent., and all others, including Johnson, about 10 per cent.

The Chicago Tribune tomorrow will print the following editorial comment on the situation:

"Lowden probably will carry the State without much difficulty, and we think he should. If the Republican Convention is to be a deliberative body it ought to have a list of candidates, and if Governor Lowden lost his own State he would be virtually eliminated from the field. And if a man cannot have the support of his own community he hardly can ask for the support of others.

"Governor Lowden is too good a candidate to be eliminated, even by so good a candidate as General Wood. If he were an undesirable this would not hold good. If the Illinois elections were deciding the nomination the voters of the State would not be justified in ignoring national considerations, but the Illinois vote cannot eliminate Wood, and it might eliminate Lowden, which would be bad for the general political problem.

"General Wood's purpose in his Illinois campaign was more to create a favorable impression and to be in line later for the Illinois vote in the convention. If Lowden carries Illinois it is not a Wood failure which essentially weakens the Wood campaign.

REPORT 13 STATES SECEDE IN MEXICO

Names Are Not Available, but "Republic of Sonora" General Believes Report Is True.

CALLES ACTS AS GOVERNOR

Huerta Is Ill in Hospital—Lower California Remains Loyal to Carranza Government.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mexico, April 12.—General J. M. Pina, commanding the 1st Division of the Army of the "Republic of Sonora," with headquarters in this city, stated today that he had received semi-official advices from Hermosillo, the State capital, to the effect that thirteen States of the Mexican Union had followed the State of Sonora in severing relations with the Carranza Government. While the report is lacking in detail as to the names of the seceding States, General Pina declared that he vouched for its authority.

The message came in the form of a telegram and is signed by a member of General Calles's staff and dated at general military headquarters, Pina said.

A proclamation has made its appearance on the streets here calling the citizens to arms against the Carranza Government. The proclamation is signed by the President of the municipality and "issued by order of General P. Elias Calles, Commander in Chief of all forces of the 'Republic of Sonora.'"

TUCSON, Ariz., April 12.—General P. Elias Calles has taken complete command of the Government of Sonora, in place of Governor Adolfo de la Huerta, who has gone to the hospital for an operation for appendicitis.

MEXICALI, Lower California, Mexico, April 12.—Governor Esteban Cantu of the northern district of the Mexican State of Lower (Baja) California in a statement today to The Associated Press said the secession movement in Sonora is entirely local and that the government of the northern district of Lower California "shall continue to be in full accord with and maintain allegiance to the President of Mexico."

Governor Cantu's signed statement was supplemented verbally by a member of his official family, who said:

"The secession of Sonora would have no effect in any way upon the policy of the northern district of Lower California and especially in any political sense.

"Nothing will be done that will change in any way the friendly and business relations of this State with the people of the United States.

"In the event Sonora shall remain for a longer period in a state of secession, it is possible that trade business relations between Sonora and the border States of the United States, Arizona in particular, must be affected to a certain extent, but Lower California, by reason of its isolated position, will not realize, nor will the Americans interested in this section feel any change whatever."

Officials of the Lower California Government expressed the belief that the Mexican Federal Government would promptly check the secession movement in Sonora and elsewhere.

SEEK MAN TO WIELD GAVEL AT CHICAGO

Republican Leaders Begin to Show Concern Over Temporary Chairmanship.

The selection of a temporary Chairman to preside at the Republican National Convention when it meets in Chicago on June 8 is beginning to give concern to the Republican leaders. The various factions of the party are manoeuvring to have a Chairman selected who will be most favorable to their side. There are so many Presidential candidates in the field, all of whom have their particular choice for the Chairmanship, that Will R. Hays, Chairman of the National Committee, is loth to offend any one faction by having a man selected who is not acceptable to all.

With the hope of being able to pick such a candidate, Chairman Hays and half a dozen others met yesterday at the headquarters of the National Committee. Besides the National Chairman, the committeemen present were T. Coleman du Pont of Delaware, Herbert Parsons of New York, A. T. Hert of Kentucky, Edward F. Colladay of the District of Columbia, and William Boyce Thompson, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the national organization. Unable to reach any conclusion, it was decided to take up the matter again and try to settle it at a meeting of the National Committee in Chicago on May 10.

Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania would be acceptable to the supporters of Major General Leonard Wood, but the followers of Senator Hiram W. Johnson are against him, and he is not acceptable to other elements. Recently the discussion has turned upon Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts and Governor Morrow of Kentucky. Governor Morrow, it is understood, will have the support of National Committeeman Hert of that State.

Taft Wants to Withdraw in Oregon.

SALEM, Ore., April 12—William Howard Taft, in a telegram received today by the Secretary of State of Oregon, requested that his name be not allowed to go on the Republican primary ballot in Oregon as a candidate for President. It was said at the State House that if petitions are filed for Mr. Taft, they cannot be withdrawn under a Supreme Court ruling.

Hoover Leads in Radcliffe Vote.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 12.—Straw Presidential ballots cast by Radcliffe students today showed the following results: Hoover, 190; Wood, 37; Johnson, 15; Debs, 10; Lowden, 3; Palmer, 1. Eighty-nine Republicans voted for Hoover, 83 independents and 18 Democrats.

GERMAN SOLDIERS MALTREAT A BRITON

PROMPT INDEMNITY DEMAND

F. A. Voight, Taken for a Spy, Was Buffeted and Cursed by a Reichswehr Lieutenant.

BERLIN, April 11.—Demands for an apology and indemnity from the German Government for the arrest and maltreatment of a correspondent of The Manchester Guardian by Lieutenant Leisenmeyer at Essen were presented at the Foreign Office today by Lord Kilmarnock, Chargé d'Affaires at the British Embassy.

By WALTER DURANTY.

DUISBURG, April 10.—Just how the Reichswehr is behaving in the Ruhr territory is illustrated by the story of F. A. Voight, attached to the Berlin office of The Manchester Guardian, who was brutally assaulted at Essen three days ago. Mr. Voight related his experience to me here today.

He entered the Ruhr Basin from the southeastern side about ten days ago, having previously been covering the revolutionary movement in Saxony. He carried regular permits from the Whites and a special pass from the Berlin Foreig Office, requesting that he receive every assistance and courtesy in the execution of his work. He also obtained passes from local rebel leaders wherever it was necessary. The day after the Reichswehr occupied Essen Mr. Voight went to the Rathaus to ask permission to telephone to the Berlin office of his paper. He had hardly set foot inside the building when a Reichswehr Second Lieutenant asked him roughly: "Is your name Voight?" Rather surprised by the officer's brusque manner—for on the whole the Reichswehr treat British and Americans well enough, as they think they are likely to support them somewhat against France—Mr. Voight replied, "Yes."

"Go in there," said the Lieutenant in the same tone, pointing to an adjacent door, "and wait till you're called for."

As the Englishman entered the room a German workman plunged into it from the door of an inner room, propelled by a terrific kick. As he staggered blubbering across the floor two soldiers cuffed and pummeled him from both sides, and the kicker—a Reichswehr officer standing in the doorway of the inner room, bellowed: "That'll teach you to lie to me! That's only a foretaste of what you'll get if you don't confess you were with the Communists!"

Greeted as "English Swinehound."

Then, turning to Mr. Voight, he said: "Come here!" and re-entered his room and sat down at his desk.

As the Englishman came forward he held his hat in his left hand, and put the other in his trousers pocket to take out the wallet containing his passes. The face of the German, Lieutenant Leisenmeyer, became convulsed with passion. His swarthy hair and mustache bristled with fury, and his short, thickset body swelled like an angry turkeycock's.

"English swinehound!" he screamed, "is that how you approach a Prussian officer?" and poured forth a flood of the foulest abuse. He was so enraged that his black-rimmed monocle jumped from his eye and bobbed up and down comically at each hysterical gesture.

Despite his indignation and astonishment, Mr. Voight could hardly refrain from smiling. This put Leisenmeyer's fury utterly beyond bounds. He shrieked an order, and two soldiers rushed in from the outer room and threw themselves upon Mr. Voight, while at the same time Leisenmeyer leaned forward across the table and hit him with all his might across the face with his open hand. Luckily for him, Mr. Voight was shoved into a corner by his assailants, and there he wrestled with one soldier, where the other could hardly get at him. Nevertheless he was severely mauled.

When the bruising process had been accomplished to the Lieutenant's satisfaction he signed the soldiers to cease. They held Mr. Voight securely before him while he continued to scream insults like a hysterical virago, ending with the order: "Take him away!"

Half-dazed, the Englishman was thrust into a small, square room, where a number of workmen prisoners were collected under guard of two sentries with fixed bayonets. When he had somewhat recovered, Mr. Voight tried to protest, but the sentries threatened to bayonet him unless he remained silent.

Half propped against the wall lay a workman with ashen face, seriously hurt. One of his comrades explained that he was not wounded, but had been shocked by the explosion of a minenwerfer bomb as he was standing unarmed at the door of his cottage during the fighting in Altressen.

Worker Dragged to Execution.

Another small man crouching in a corner kept muttering, "I'm innocent! I'm innocent! They weren't charged!" Mr. Voight learned that two small hand grenades had been found in his pockets.

After about half an hour a burly Sergeant entered the room, shook the crouching figure by the shoulder and ordered the man: "Come on, now! March!" The man's face went chalk-white. He tried to stand, but his quivering knees would not support him. The Sergeant half pushed, half carried him from the room. A few minutes later there came the crackle of a volley from the courtyard, and one of the sentries said with brutal laughter: "He's got his, and good riddance!"

"Yes," replied the other. "It will be his turn next," and he nodded toward the half-dead wretch against the wall.

Shocking as it may seem, the Reichswehr not only do not spare the wounded, but make a point of executing them on the grounds that their wounds are proof that they have seen fighting—proof otherwise difficult to establish in the case of non-uniformed opponents who have only to throw away their red badge and rifle to appear as peaceful workers.

In Essen Mr. Voight came across one case of a man who had been shot just because he had a bullet-rip across the front of his coat. The Reichswehr had made of his hairbreadth escape from death their prisoner's death-warrant.

After another hour Mr. Voight was marched upstairs to the Burgomaster's anteroom between two soldiers with fixed bayonets. Here he was informed that he would be allowed to sit down, on the intercession of a woman colleague, Mrs. Harding of The London Daily News, who witnessed the first assault upon him and insisted on appealing to the Burgomaster.

After a further wait he was taken before another officer, a Captain, who examined his papers carefully and interrogated him. The Captain then telephoned to the officer commanding the occupation forces—they were the Baltic Iron Division of famous memory, who doubtless owed a grudge to the British for the big share the latter had played in their defeat before Riga last November. The Colonel's name was Bomba, and he ordered that Mr. Voight be brought before him at the Central Police Station, about a mile from the Rathaus.

The Captain bade a Sergeant take the Englishman to the Colonel's quarters. As the man picked up his carbine to obey the Captain said: "No, leave that; take your pistol instead." With his automatic in his hand the Sergeant led the Englishman downstairs and out into the darkness.

"I thought that I was done for," said Mr. Voight, "for it flashed across me that they intended to murder me somewhere in the deserted street, leave my body there and pretend that I had been killed in the fighting or by the Reds. I have seen death close while fighting in Flanders, but it seemed this time that his hand had gripped my heart. I first thought of trying to run; but that would have been fatal. Finally I decided to watch the Sergeant's hand like a hawk and try to grab his pistol and make a fight for it at the first sign that he meant action. I think I'll remember that quarter-hour's walk a long time; but of course nothing actually happened."

Germans Thought Voight a Spy.

Colonel Bomba received Mr. Voight more courteously than his subordinates had done. In reply to Mr. Voight's protests he said curtly: "As an ex-soldier you should know better than to approach an officer on duty with your hand in your pocket;" but he did condescend for the first time to tell Mr. Voight why he had been arrested.

It appeared that Mr. Voight had sent a private telegram to his home office as follows:

"Am all right; have been with the Reds, who are mostly good fellows; will now visit the Reichswehr and then proceed to Elberfeld and Barmen, and probably afterward to Berlin."

The original of this message had been discovered by the Reichswehr, who misunderstood it and thought he meant that it was the Reichswehr that would proceed to Elberfeld and Barmen and afterward to Berlin. Or, in other words, that Mr. Voight was a spy conveying to England the information that the Whites intended to clean up the whole Ruhr area and then go back to Berlin to renew their efforts for a militarist coup d'état. The suggestion probably came far nearer than Mr. Voight dreamed of hitting the nail of the Reichswehr's intentions right on the head. Their program might already have been exactly that indicated had it not been for the attitude taken by the French, who, from all the evidence Mr. Ryall [also of The Manchester Guardian] and I have been able to gather, have formed a far more accurate judgment of the facts underlying the German situation than their English allies.

Colonel Bomba, after some discussion, accepted Mr. Voight's explanations, told him he was free and gave him a pass through the White lines. No apology for the outrage he had suffered was offered by Bomba or any one else.

Ten Pro-Irish Women Pickets Are Held for Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Ten pro-Irish women pickets arrested last week at the British Embassy were held for a Federal Grand Jury today by United States Commissioner Richardson on charges of violating a Federal statute making it a felony to "assault" a diplomatic representative of a foreign Government.

The women gave bond for $1,000 each. They were Misses Elaine Barrie, Kathleen O'Brien, Katherine McKeon, Mary Walsh, Mrs. Thomas Currin, and Mrs. Honor Walsh, all of Philadelphia; Miss Helen O'Brien, St. Louis; Miss Maura Quinn, Boston, and Mrs. Katherine Columbine and Mrs. James Walsh, New York.

RED LEADER FLEES SAXONY.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 12.—Hölz, the Saxon Communist Robin Hood, accompanied by some hundred "Red Guards" in automobiles, has fled from Castle Falkenstein to Klingenthal, on the Bohemian border. His friends in Chemnitz yesterday distributed handbills threatening a general strike unless the Reichswehr's advance was stopped. These handbills declared:

"Hölz has never harmed a hair of anybody's head. He wages war only with Red placards and language which, we admit, may intimidate the cowardly bourgeoisie. The Government troops will be let loose on Chemnitz workmen under the pretense of capturing Hölz."

These Bolshevist handbills entirely ignored the fact that Hölz had accumulated several million marks by blackmail, and that he burned only yesterday five fine mansions, took half a dozen hostages along and himself boasted of having ordered the murder of the half dozen richest men in Vogtland.

PLACES CALIFORNIA IN HOOVER COLUMN

Vice Chairman Arnold Dissents from Johnson Contention That Senator Will Win There.

Herbert Hoover's supporters for the Republican nomination for President dissented vigorously yesterday from the statement of Angus McSween, Eastern campaign manager for Senator Hiram W. Johnson, that the contest for deleter's favor. Ralph Arnold, Vice Chairgates in California between Mr. Hoover and Senator Johnson was all in the latman of the Hoover National Republican Club, who returned yesterday from a trip through the West, said that there was a very strong Hoover sentiment in California, and that he expected him to win.

The California contest is considered of great importance by the supporters of both Senator Johnson and Mr. Hoover, and its result is considered likely to eliminate one of the California candidates. "If Mr. Hoover wins in California his nomination will be practically assured," said Mr. Arnold, "because victory there will give him prestige among the independents, and the independents, as shown by the Michigan primaries, are going to be the dominant factor in determining the Republican nomination."

Mr. Arnold said that active campaign work for Mr. Hoover is being carried on in every county, city and town, with the idea of ultimate intensive organization in each election precinct. Money is being raised locally to pay expenses. Mr. Arnold reported that he considered Mr. Hoover's chances of winning the State excellent, and said that his support came mostly from the independent element of the Republican Party.

FIREMEN TO FIGHT BILL.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 12.—Uniformed firemen in New York City are preparing to make a fight on the bill introduced by Senator Salvatore A. Cotillo to make Peter Quigley, Chief Clerk of the New York City Fire Department, a Deputy Chief. It is reported that this measure is being pressed for the purpose of making it possible for Chief Clerk Quigley to retire on a pension next year, although during his nineteen years of service with the department he has never worn a uniform or done any fire-fighting.

There has been so much opposition from members of the uniformed force in the Police Department against the bill introduced by Senator Charles C. Lockwood of Kings, which provides for the creation of the Division of Detectives, that Senator Lockwood, as a condition for continuing as its sponsor, has insisted that the measure must be amended to meet the objection of the Lieutenants', Sergeants' and patrolmen's benevolent associations.

Senate Passes Soldiers' Civil Service Bill.

ALBANY, April 12.—Senator Walter's bill, designed to be of benefit to former service men, was passed by the Assembly tonight. The measure is inended to provide that absence during the world war shall be couned as part of a civil service term, entitling any officer or employe in the civil service to any pension, privilege, or immunity, provided he shall have been reinstated or appointed to such position within one year after discharge from service. The measure now goes to the Governor.

SENATE UPHOLDS CIVILIAN TRAINING

LIMITS AGES FROM 18 TO 21

LIKELY TO PASS BILL TODAY

McKellar Loses a Second Fight to Confine Vocational Work to the Regular Army.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Senate today overwhelmingly defeated the advocates of a policy of dependence upon the standing army and the National Guard when it rejected by a vote of 37 to 9 the proposal of Senator McKellar, of Tennessee to strike from the Army Reorganization bill all provisions for military tarining of civilians.

Previously the Senate had rejected another amendment by Senator McKellar to substitute for training of civilians a system of vocational education in the regular army, under which plan one-third of the enlisted personnel would graduate each year into civil life, and the army be brought up to full strength by new enlistments.

The vote on the amendment to eliminate all training features for civilians was:

FOR THE AMENDMENT—9.

Republicans—2.

Borah, Gronna.

Democrats—7.

Dial, Harrison, Kirby, McKellar, Reed, Swanson, Trammell.

AGAINST THE AMENDMENT—37.

Republicans—25.

Democrats—12.

Ashurst, Beckham, Chamberlain, Glass, Kendrick, Myers, Nugent, Pomerene, Sheppard, Smith, Ariz., Thomas, Wolcott.

When the Senate took up the Army bill Senator Lenroot, an opponent of military training, proposed an amendment to limit the number of men to be trained under the voluntary system adopted last week to 100,000 in any one year. He said that as the bill stood it imposed no obligation upon the young men trained at Government expense to serve their country in time of war unless they were drafted into the service. Because of the absence of any obligation consequent upon their acceptance of the training, Senator Lenroot said he thought a large number of men between 18 and 28 would volunteer for the four months' training course.

"I do not believe that in these times and under present conditions the Government should undertake the burden of training a large number of young men upon whom it would have no claim for service after the training period," said Senator Lenroot.

He later withdrew the amendment, however, when Senator Wadsworth, in charge of the bill, agreed to amend the training provision to limit it to young men between 18 and 21.

Senator McKellar made a strong fight for his first amendment, substituting training within the army for civilian training. It was rejected by a viva voce vote. He had withdrawn his proposal to strike out all training features, but renewed it when his first amendment was lost.

The Senate, however, stood by the voluntary system which it agreed to last Saturday after the compulsory universal training plan was shelved by its supporters in the face of certain defeat.

The Reorganization bill is expected to pass tomorrow.

WILSON ABANDONS PLAN FOR WOODS HOLE STAY

Staff Reported Lack of Accommodations and of Facilities for Guarding Him.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (Associated Press).—President Wilson will not establish the Summer White House at Woods Hole, Mass., as had been expected, but probably will select some other place where more accommodations are available for the large staff of secretaries and attachés.

It became known today that the announcement that the President had selected the estate of Charles R. Crane, Minister to China, for his Summer home was premature. The President had accepted Mr. Crane's offer of a lease of the property, but it had not been inspected by the Secret Service operatives and White House attachés, who always manage the household surroundings of the President and his family.

When the White House advance agents went over the ground, it is said they came to the conclusion that the accommodations were insufficient for the force from the executive offices which would have to be moved to Wood's Hole.

It also developed that the Crane mansion is close to a railway track, where many trains pass day and night; that there are several automatic fog signals in the waters of Long Island Sound close to the shore, and that the layout of the Crane grounds in relation to the public streets and sidewalks of Woods Hole was such that the Secret Service men advanced what they termed practical obstacles to their peculiar plans for guarding the President.

When these considerations were laid before the President, it was said today, he reluctantly abandoned his plan to go to Woods Hole. It has not been decided where he will go, but several offers are before him.

The President did not go motor driving today, but spent his time on the White House portico, on the south lawn, and in his study.

The New York Times is obliged to omit 66 columns of advertisements today. It is suggested that advertisers give option of insertion on Saturday, Sunday or Monday, on which days the advertising columns are not congested.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Bear Selling Carries Stocks Down—Ten Per Cent. Call Money an Influence.

The advance of call money to 10 per cent. yesterday afternoon acted to unsettle further dealings in the stock market, which had showed the depressing effect of the railroad strikes previously. Usually stocks are wont to pay slight attention to labor difficulties, but in the present instance the ramifications of a great transportation tieup are much wider in effect on business than the steel strike of last Summer, or the later coal strike. With one railroad centre after another passing into a state of paralysis in respect to freight movement, not only is industry handicapped but bank credit is affected. That is, embargoes on goods prevent distribution and payment for materials in which much capital is involved. The phrase "frozen capital" came much to the fore in banking discussion when longshoremen's strikes and severe weather slowed down the overseas movement of cargoes a few months ago. A similar situation is undoubtedly being shaped in the current strike, forcing a revision of expectations about low rates and adequate supplies of funds for stock market purposes. The outlook would be changed, of course, should the railroad difficulties be straightened out shortly. But the bears in stocks yesterday sought to make the most of conditions as they are. Sugar company issues were bid upward in lively fashion and pool operations helped to advance a number of specialties in the morning. At the end of the day the earlier advantage had been eliminated from most of the industrials and net declines from 2 to 5 points were rather widely distributed.

In the depression of Liberty bonds, which carried several to new low records below 88, was seen the effect of readjustments in the investment field. The sale of first-class railroad bonds and notes last week on a 7 per cent. basis denoted the drift and this influence was extended yesterday through the announcement of 5 and 5¼ per cent. rates on short-term Government paper. The Treasury was averse last month to accepting banking suggestion that six months to one year notes ought to carry more than 4¾ per cent. interest, but a fundamental law of economics finally had to be recognized. It is unfortunate that Liberty bonds, in which so many billions of the people's savings are invested, have been edged downward, but the movement must be recognized as a reflection of credit conditions and carries no suggestion adverse to the payment or refunding of the bonds at maturity. Credit is costing the Government more than a few months ago, but the principal of bond issues remains as secure as ever. A $25,000,000 issue of Southwestern Bell Telephone five-year notes to yield 7.60 per cent. commanded attention in the investment market and came as another indication of the current acquisition of new capital on a large scale by corporations.

The foreign exchanges were weak, excepting marks, which sold above 2 cents each and closed at 1.98 cents. Again Italian rates receded without support and francs also established a new low record. Their respective quotations were 26.65 and 17.12, while Belgian francs at 15.92 for checks recorded a decline of 80 centimes for the day. Sterling receded 4¾ cents to the pound, the final rate for sight drafts being 3.92⅝. There were no new developments to account for these movements, which have become familiar in case of the Continental exchanges. Further gold withdrawals for transfer to the Argentine forecast an outflow of about $10,000,000 on today's steamer.

Railroad Presidents in Session.

The regular weekly meeting of railroad Presidents, whose lines are in Eastern classification territory, was held yesterday afternoon at the office of L. F. Loree, head of the Delaware and Hudson. Fourteen railroad men attended. Mr. Loree said afterward that the strike situation had not been discussed. Matters under consideration, it was learned, dealt with operating and financial plans which have arisen since the railroads returned to their old management.

CHECK COLLECTION SYSTEM CHANGED

Revised Schedule to be Governed by Time When Proceeds Are Available.

PREMIUM ON ALL-PAR STATES

All but Eleven Now on the List—Charge Equivalent to 4½ Per Cent. a Year.

The Clearing House Committee of the New York Clearing House Association has adopted a regulation regarding the collection of checks outside of the city which virtually puts a premium upon inclusion in the so-called list of "all-par States." The new regulations, formulated by the Clearing House Committee, of which James A. Stillman is Chairman, on April 6, become effective May 1.

Under the revised schedule of charges, the cost of collection on checks and drafts drawn on banks, bankers and trust companies located in Federal Reserve cities, or those where Reserve Bank branches are located, or may be located in the future, will be governed by the schedule showing when the proceeds of items will become available. Where, in such cases, immediate credit is given, the charge will be discretionary—usually interpreted to mean no charge whatever. Availability after two days will be charged at the rate of 1-40 of 1 per cent., availability four days after receipt at the rate of 1-20 of 1 per cent., and availability eight days after receipt at the rate of 1-10 of 1 per cent. These schedules are practically unchanged from those obtaining heretofore.

Banks located in cities not served by Reserve Banks or Reserve Bank branches, and in States not on the par list, pay for collections at the rate of 1-10 of 1 per cent., as against the preferential rate of 1-40 of 1 per cent., or the so-called "discretionary" rate. But in the new regulations it is provided that whenever the Federal Reserve Bank of New York shall add to its all-par list any State not now so listed, the charges for checks or drafts drawn against banks, bankers or trust companies in such States shall automatically receive the preference rate.

The cost of collections on all-par States, it was explained yesterday, is not really an exchange charge at all, but merely represents the interest on the money while it is not available. In other words, a check deposited for collection and drawn on, say, an "eight-day" point, is charged for at the rate of 1-10 of 1 per cent., whereas if the check is against a "two-day" point, the collection cost is only 1-40 of 1 per cent. These rates have been adjusted so that the collection charge represents about 4½ per cent. per annum on the amount involved. If this amount becomes available to the collecting institution in two days, the charge is less than if it become available in eight days.

There are eleven States now not included in the all-par list. They are Alabama, Arizona, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oregon, Tennessee and Washington. Some of these States have Reserve Banks or branches of Reserve Banks, so they are not entirely removed from the par list.

NEW STOCK EXCHANGE RULE

Ex-Dividend Period Shortened to Protect Margins.

The New York Stock Exchange has changed its method of deducting certain stock dividends of large amount from the prices of the stocks affected. Notice came into the hands of Exchange members yesterday that the 50 per cent. stock dividend of the Crucible Steel Company and the 33 1-3 per cent. disbursement in stock of the Studebaker Corporation, manufacturer of automobiles, would be subtracted from the quotations of listed Crucible and Studebaker shares on the day the new stock is delivered. The practice in the past has been to have a stock sell "ex" a stock dividend several days before the new stock certificates were distributed. The avowed purpose of the program is to avoid a drastic marking down of a stock on the "ex dividend" date, which acts to impair the amount of margin which speculative owners of the shares have on deposit with their brokers, while the stockholders are not in position to get the new shares.

Under the plan Crucible new shares will be delivered on April 30, and that day the stock will be ex dividend. The original announcement of the dividend provided that the company's books would close April 15, which normally would be "ex dividend" day. Now, when the market price of the stockholder's original shares is cut down as the natural result of an increase of the number of shares, he will have the new stock in hand. Studebaker shares will not be ex dividend until May 5, although the books close April 19. Sellers of the stocks named between the day the books close and the due date are to deliver a due bill for the dividend along with their stock certificates.

The Exchange's decision was surprising to many brokers, who recalled larger stock dividends in the past than the ones in question without any measures to protect the funds of speculators.

OFFER $25,000,000 TELEPHONE NOTES

WILL YIELD 7.60 PER CENT.

Proceeds Are to be Used for Construction and Reduction of Floating Debt.

The Guaranty Trust Company and Morton and Company, Inc., have headed a syndicate to offer $25,000,000 five-year 7 per cent. convertible notes of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., of Missouri. The notes are being offered at 97½ and accrued interest, a price which will yield the investor slightly more than 7.60 per cent. This is the first big piece of financing to be offered this week.

The notes are dated April 1, 1920, and mature April 1, 1925. They are redeemable at the option of the company on any interest date on or before April 1, 1922, at 103 and interest; after that date and on or before April 1, 1924, at 102, and thereafter at 101 and interest. The holders, on the other hand, will have the right to convert the notes at any time into the 7 per cent. preferred stock of the company, par for par, with adjustment of accrued interest and dividends.

A merger of telephone companies, now in process of completion, will give the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, of Missouri, control of all Bell Telephone system properties throughout Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. It already owns the entire capital stock of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, of Illinois, and more than 90 per cent. of the capital stock of the Dallas Telephone Company. In turn, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company owns all of the capital stock, amounting to $60,000,000, of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, of Missouri.

The notes will be the direct obligation of the issuing company, which has only $1,251,500 outstanding underlying bonds. The notes are to be issued under a trust indenture providing that none of the company's present property shall be mortgaged or pledged; that the existing liens shall not be increased and that its maximum indebtedness shall at no time exceed $50,000,000, except that additional borrowings may be made if specifically subordinated to the notes. The proceeds of the issue will be used for new construction and for the reduction of the company's floating debt.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Fearing Frozen Credit.

While the railroad strike thus far has made little impression on general credits, the fear that it will do so was uppermost in most banking minds yesterday, and it is quite possible that this fear of a return of the "frozen credit" situation had more than a little to do with the advance in call money rates yesterday from 6 per cent. to 10 per cent. Preparation for today's Government withdrawals, which will amount to approximately $25,000,000, undoubtedly played its part in the advance, but the magnitude of the Government's operations these days is not sufficiently great seriously to upset the market, and the part must have been a minor one, at most.

Treasury Certificates.

The new offering of Treasury certificates—three-months bills at 5 per cent. and six-months bills at 5¼ per cent.—caught the financial community unawares. It had been expected confidently that 5 per cent. would be paid by the Treasury, but the 5¼ per cent. rate was quite unexpected, and, odd as it may seem after all the howling that was done over the low previous rate, it did not meet with the unanimous approbation of the banking fraternity. There were those, somewhat more numerous than one might have expected, who contended that the advance was too sharp; that the Treasury could have "got away" with a flat 5 per cent. rate. However, most bankers, including most of those who are primarily distributors of securities, were pleased by the latest action of the department and predictions were made freely that it would prove a success.

Liberty Bonds.

In one respect the advance in the rate for Treasury certificates had a bad back kick. Liberty bonds were depressed very abruptly, the Second 4s and the Second, Third and Fourth 4¼s all went to new low records, some of them getting down close to a 5½ per cent. yield basis. In most places this latest break in war bonds was attributed to the Treasury certificate announcement, but that seems rather a thin argument, considering that the Liberty issues have been pronouncedly weak of late, presumably undergoing a natural readjustment to the mounting interest rates noted throughout the investment market.

Unsuccessful Experiment.

The experiment of many of the bill brokers in marking down their selling rate on bankers' acceptances to 5⅝ per cent. seems to have been somewhat unsuccessful, to date at least. There is a psychology to 6 per cent. which gets the out-of-town banker and the private and corporate investor, and while the difference between 5⅝ per cent. and 6 per cent., figured on a per annum basis and then applied to a ninety-day bill, is not great in dollars and cents, it constitutes a big "talking difference." Some of the larger dealers said yesterday they had orders for a good many bills at 6 per cent., but that they were unable to place more than a very few at the new figure. However, heroic efforts may be expected to hold rates where they now are, if for no other reason than that the dealers have bought bills recently at 6 per cent. and are averse to selling out without at least getting the "overhead."

Latin Exchanges.

The continued break in French and Italian exchanges—both went to new low records yesterday—is, in the opinion of a leading banker who recently returned from the other side, merely a reflection of commercial condition and has nothing whatever to do with the political situation. The same, he said, might be given as the explanation for the softness of Belgian rates, and for the ease in some of the European neutral exchanges. And, incidentally, the strength of German marks may also be explained on this ground, for the Germans, he explained, are "coming back" with much greater speed than many in this country appreciate.

The Strike and the Market.

There was some indication yesterday that timid holders of some of the railroad shares sold their holdings as the tieup appeared to be getting worse. In conservative quarters, however, there was reiteration of the statement made on Saturday that the strike would not continue, as it does not have the sanction of the railroad brotherhoods, which, instead of assuming a passive attitude, are actively fighting against it. Local railroad managers said the four big brotherhoods had made good progress in checking the trouble in the West and would meet with the same success when they really began their campaign to break up the strike in and about New York. In the market prices softened appreciably but there were no extraordinary sharp breaks. It appeared as the day wore on that the professionals had seized upon the strike as an opportunity to sell some of the rails. That this professional activity was cautious was indicated by the fact that net losses for the day were seldom more than 1 point.

The Permanent Labor Board.

In local railroad quarters a great deal of importance was attached to dispatches received from Washington indicating that President Wilson had chosen the members of the Permanent Railway Labor Board who will represent the public on that tribunal. How soon the appointments will be announced was not definitely stated, but the expectation was that they would be made known soon. As many view the situation in Wall Street, the sooner the board is named and begins to function the better.

Erie a Surprise.

The Erie Railroad has been about as hard hit in the strike as any of the carriers with terminals in Jersey City or Hoboken, and as a commentary upon how seriously the situation is being taken by the stock market the action of Erie shares offered an example. Both the common and the first preferred were not particularly active, but there was a fractional net gain at the close. The second preferred was not traded in.

Average Price Declines.

The average price for forty representative bonds traded in on the New York Stock Exchange declined to 69.10 yesterday, a new low for the year and the lowest since THE TIMES average table has been compiled. The last previous low record was made on Feb. 13, when the average price was 69.20. The selling was not confined to any particular issue, but was fairly well distributed among the railroads, the public utilities and the industrials. The United States Steel 5s, which have been under pressure from time to time, closed for the day with a net loss of seven-eighths of a point. These bonds sold at 94⅝ yesterday, which was a new low price for the year.

Sugar and Equipment Issues.

During the morning trading several different classes of industrial issues competed in a display of strength. Railroad equipment and sugar shares were particularly prominent. Bullish influences were not sufficiently potent, however, to keep the equipments going later. Their rise of last week naturally attracted considerable profit-taking and short sellers became active around noon. The sugar issues were bolstered by a fresh advance of the raw sugar price. So scarce were offerings of Cuban American sugar shares that a turnover of a few hundred brought a 40-point advance.

News from Mexico.

Copper men with interests in Northern Mexico were not moved to attach much significance to stories of insurgency against the Carranza régime. With a Presidential campaign on south of the border mining men were inclined to wait for further information of developments before believing that the Mexican map was in process of change.

In spite of the pessimistic opinions of many financial authorities, Sterling exchange has shown an almost startling improvement during the past few weeks. In comparison French francs have shown a slight decrease in value, and therefore it is still possible for Americans to invest in French Government internal loans on a basis which provides possibilities of profits in excess of 200%.

INSPIRATION COPPER PROFITS DECREASE

Only $4,186,629 Available for Dividends in 1919, Annual Report Reveals.

The Inspiration Consolidated Copper Company has joined the list of those reporting poor earnings in 1919. The company's annual statement yesterday showed a decline of nearly 50 per cent. in the profits available for dividends as compared with the preceding year, the amount being $4,186,629 in contrast with $8,229,163. The company paid out $7,091,802 in dividends and a sum of $2,905,173 had to be taken from surplus. The company's sales of copper were valued at $11,045,221, against $17,516,323 in 1918.

The balance sheet showed that cash in bank had been reduced from $13,928,171 to $3,003,400. This movement was reflected partly in an increase of more than $2,000,000 in copper on hand and in a total of more than $3,300,000 of accounts receivable, the latter item being no more than $286,336 on Dec. 31, 1918. The surplus at the end of the year was $9,879,259.

The annual statement says that while prices for supplies increased, production fell away and a high wage scale prevailed. The year was marked by increased efficiency of labor. The cost of producing 78,038,306 pounds of copper was 13.412 cents per pound, including depletion and tax allowances. The company received $69,360 in dividends from the Arizona Oil Company, which is owned jointly with the Anaconda Copper Mining Company. The ore mined from the Inspiration's properties totaled 4,196,903 tons, leaving developed reserves of 77,477,123 tons.

Wants Federal Reserve Investigated

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Charging that 75 per cent. of the high cost of living was "due to the financing of speculators and hoarders by the Federal Reserve System," Representative King of Illinois, a Republican member of the Banking and Currency Committee, today urged the House Rulse Committee to report formally his resolution directing an investigation into the administration of the Federal Reserve act. The committee will consider the resolution Thursday.

Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee

A letter from Mr. E. D. Nims, President of the Company, a copy of which will be sent on request, is briefly summarized as follows:

BUSINESS

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company was incorporated in Missouri in 1882. Upon completion of the merger now being effected, it will directly own and operate the properties of the Bell Telephone System throughout the States of Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, which for many years it has owned or controlled through subsidiary companies. The Company also owns the entire capital stock of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (of Illinois), which owns and operates the Bell Telephone System property in East St. Louis, Illinois, and over 90% of the capital stock of the Dallas Telephone Company.

The franchises of the Company and its subsidiaries are in every respect satisfactory. The Company serves one of the most rapidly developing sections of the United States.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company owns all of the Company's common stock, excepting directors' qualifying shares.

PROVISIONS OF ISSUE

The Notes are to be the direct obligations of the Company (which has only $1,251,400 outstanding underlying bonds which may not be increased), and will be issued under a Trust Indenture, which will provide, among other covenants, that so long as any of these Notes are outstanding:

> The Company will not mortgage or pledge any of its property, or permit any of its subsidiary companies to mortgage or pledge any of their properties, but this shall not prevent the acquisition of property by means of purchase-money mortgages.
> The maximum indebtedness of the Company shall at no time exceed $50,000,000, except that additional borrowings may be made, provided that such borrowings are specifically subordinated to these Notes. Current liabilities to the extent that they are offset by current assets are not to be included in this restriction.

EARNINGS

Gross Telephone Revenues have increased from $19,013,921 in 1915 to $29,019,993 in 1919 and Net Income available for interest (after depreciation) has increased from $4,694,765 to $6,061,385 in the same period. After giving effect to the present financing, interest charges on the Notes, underlying bonds, and remaining floating indebtedness to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, will approximate $2,500,000 per annum.

FINANCIAL

Upon completion of this financing, the Company will have tangible assets (after deducting reserves for depreciation) in excess of $102,750,000 in contrast with total liabilities, including these Notes, of about $41,750,000.

The Company's plant is carried on its books at $89,200,000 against which it has set up reserves for depreciation of $17,675,000; the present reproduction cost is conservatively estimated at over $120,000,000.

For the five years ended December 31, 1919, dividends paid out of earnings amounted to $12,973,000. During the same period investments in the property out of earnings—after spending over $15,000,000 for current maintenance—amounted to over $25,500,000.

The Ohio State Telephone Company

Serial 7% Convertible Gold Notes

Dated March 1, 1920. $100,000 Semi-annual maturities September 1, 1920, to March 1, 1925

The Company will pay the Normal Federal Income Tax not in excess of two per cent. Pennsylvania State Tax of 4 mills will be refunded.

Property—
The Ohio State Telephone Company consists of 78 local telephone exchanges in Ohio including systems in Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, etc., embracing 148,000 stations. Also a comprehensive system of long distance toll lines of more than 34,000 miles of line wire. The Company has connections with long distance systems in eight other States.

Value and Franchises—
The total funded debt including these notes is less than 53% of the value of the property. The franchises are unusually satisfactory, being for the most part unlimited as to time.

Conversion Rights—
These notes are convertible into Consolidated and Refunding Mortgage 5% Bonds, due July 1, 1944, at 90. These bonds have sold at or above the conversion price every year since the issue has been outstanding.

Earnings—
Gross earnings are in excess of $5,000,000 per year. Net earnings over double total interest charges. For the calendar year 1919, after deducting all interest charges including interest on these notes, there remained a balance equivalent to over five times the annual maturities ($200,000) of these notes.

These notes are exceptionally well secured and provide a conservative high yield investment.

PLEAS FOR SHIPPING OPEN MARINE WEEK

Admiral Benson and Secretary Alexander Speak at League Luncheon.

American Built and Manned Fleet, with Own Fuel and Trade Routes, Advocated.

Pleas for the development of every factor pertaining to a great American merchant marine were made yesterday by Rear Admiral W. S. Benson, Chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, and Secretary of Commerce Joshua W. Alexander, at the luncheon held at Pier 86, North River, inaugurating the opening of National Marine Week, held under the auspices of the National Marine League. The National Marine Exposition will be open all this week at the Grand Central Palace.

After saying that ships, fuel and communication constitute the three greatest elements of the best merchant marine, Admiral Benson declared:

"You all know that great efforts have been made to cripple us in all these three elements. One of the principal things we must look for is the development of an independent system of communication, one that can be used by every American business man, that will be independent of all others, that will lead to all parts of the world without being subject to the supervision of a censor of any other power."

He appealed to the shipping men for their co-operation, and said that the competition was so keen that he knew the board would be attacked from every angle, and added: "We must always be on our guard against insidious and falsifying propaganda." He made a plea for the development of American inventions aboard ship, and said he hoped that the time was not far distant when the entire personnel of the American ships will be American. "Every dollar that is in our shipping must be an American dollar," he declared.

Secretary Alexander said the fuel deposits, both oil and coal, should be established on our trade routes and owned and controlled by American interests.

"We should give the American Bureau of Shipping every encouragement and support," he said. "We should no longer depend on foreign interests to insure and survey and classify our ships. The time has surely come when ships can be built and repaired in American shipyards as cheaply as anywhere else in the world.

Secretary Alexander referred to an article on "Great Britain's 'Invisible Reports,'" in the British Board of Trade Journal of Jan. 15, 1920. The article commented on the apparent balance of trade against Great Britain and explained the reason why the nation's financial standing was not affected by it, by saying: "We had evidently a great fund of 'invisible exports' which enabled us to buy goods from abroad without exporting actual goods in exchange. For one thing we had half the merchant tonnage of the world and were sea carriers for all nations. The freights paid and due to us gave us a large purchasing power abroad."

The ninth annual dinner of the league will be held tonight at the Hotel Commodore. "Keeping the Flag Flying," said to be the first strictly American merchant marine motion picture made, was shown last night at the exposition in the Grand Central Palace in conjunction with an address by Holden A. Evans, President of the Baltimore Dry Docks and Ship Building Company. The film was made especially for the exposition.

TWO LINERS TO DEPART.

Cedric and Baltic Sail Saturday—May Keep Each Other in Sight.

The White Star liner Cedric, which has been detained in this port for six weeks for repairs, will sail for Liverpool Saturday with a new upper section for her rudder stock, which was broken in collision with a railroad car float. The new stock weighs five tons.

The Baltic of the White Star Line will sail at the same time on Saturday for Liverpool and may keep in sight of the Cedric across the Atlantic. When the Celtic comes back into the New York-Liverpool passenger service, the Cedric will go into drydock to be overhauled and refitted with more bathrooms for the upper deck cabins and a verandah café on the upper promenade deck.

SOLDIER ADMITTED SELLING PARIS SUBWAY

"Necessary to Raise Money," He Told General Harts—Latter Denies Cruelty to Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Continuing his defense of his administration of the Paris district, Brig. Gen. Harts told a House investigating committee today that charges of cruelty at the military prisons might have been exaggerated by men "endeavoring to exculpate themselves." Prisoners were never satisfied, and always distored the truth, he said.

Questioned by Chairman Johnson of South Dakota concerning the reported sale of "rights in the Paris subway" to Frenchmen by a Sergeant Bender, General Harts said he personally investigated the report. Bender, he said, denied a sale of one the bridges over the Seine River, but frankly admitted that "certain rights to the subway had been sold because it was necessary to raise money."

Thirty cases of desertion in face of the enemy occurred in the 27th (New York) National Guard Division, the General said, in explaining that many men in Paris were skulkers who didn't want to remain with their divisions at the front.

Women to Hear Library Experts.

Experts in libary work and commercial filing, from the New York Public Library, the Municipal Reference Library, the Guaranty Trust Company, Pratt Institute and Haskins & Sells, public accountants, will speak this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, at the Central Branch Y. W. C. A., 610 Lexington Avenue, for the benefit of women workers seeking to equip themselves for employment or desiring to increase their efficiency in libraries and offices where they are employed.

The Kind of a Bond That Is the Only Bond of Its Kind!

5½% PRUDENCE-BONDS are one of a hundred bonds that come under the classification of a real estate investment.

But PRUDENCE-BONDS are one in a hundred when you come to scrutinize the ironclad character of their stability and strength.

The high grade character of the income-earning real estate behind them, the conservative character of the mortgages, the liberal and rapid increasing of the margin of safety, the solid and unqualified guarantee of principal and interest, and the integrity and intelligence of our Directors, are things that no man or woman with $100 or more to invest can afford to overlook.

PRUDENCE-BONDS ARE ISSUED IN DENOMINATIONS OF $100, $500, and $1,000. WE PAY THE 4% NORMAL FEDERAL INCOME TAX.

BACK OF YOUR BOND ARE THE NECESSITIES FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF CIVILIZATION
THE COLONIAL FIREPLACE

IN THE CITY'S KITCHENS

THE old Dutch oven and open hearth of the Colonial kitchen are now only memories of a past generation. With modern progress, wood and then coal have been replaced by a more convenient medium of cooking. Gas is the kitchen fuel of today.

The transformation of country towns with a few hundred people to crowded cities has brought new problems to their inhabitants. The lack of space for the storage of fuel, the cost of labor, transportation, and other factors all have contributed towards making gas not merely a convenience but a necessity as well.

The bonds of the public utility companies producing gas represent an investment in a necessity of modern life. A typical Halsey, Stuart & Co. offering of this character is the 7% Gold Bonds of the Laclede Gas Light Company of St. Louis, Missouri. This organization, founded in 1857, supplies all the gas to its city, the fourth largest in the United States.

Our circular N. A. 6 containing an analysis of the bonds of this and other similar companies, and their attractive features from the point of view of an investor, will be sent upon request.

The Service We Render

VI. Moodys' Rating Books

FOUR mammoth "manuals" are supplied to each subscriber annually, one covering Steam Railroads, one Industrials, one Public Utilities, one American and Foreign Government Securities and Municipal obligations.

EACH book is complete in its chosen field and contains full descriptions and statistics of all the corporate and other enterprises of this country and Canada, as well as many in foreign countries, and all government and municipal issues in the United States and Canada, with the most comprehensive statistics available on foreign government issues.

ALL securities, whether stocks or bonds, are analyzed, classified and Rated. These investment ratings are authoritative indicators of investment value and are used by thousands of investors and institutions in this country and abroad.

IN the four volumes more than 50,000 securities are Rated. To all subscribers we send monthly supplements of current earnings, new ratings and revisions of old ratings when necessary, etc.

CERTAINLY if you are either directly or indirectly interested in security investments, you will recognize the value of these volumes. Every stock or bond you own or are thinking of purchasing is "rated." At a glance you can tell whether your investments are good, bad or "indifferent."

Valuable Book for Investors

"Some Recent Issues of Industrial Preferred Stocks."

The present tendency of shrewd investors to take advantage of the large yield and unusual protective provisions of modern Industrial Preferred Stocks has prompted us to compile a comprehensive book discussing this type of security.

New Industrial Preferred Stocks at present prices, not only bring a larger income than the older preferred stocks, but enjoy in many cases more liberal safeguards.

A large number of the most attractive recent offerings are fully explained, making possible a thorough comparison between different stocks.

This book should prove of great value to investors and students of securities. It will be mailed free on request.

FOES FORCED STUTZ CORNER, SAYS RYAN

Lays Amazing Stock Exchange Situation to Efforts to Depress Shares.

WARNS OF A COURT FIGHT

Repeats Single-Settlement Offer, but Asserts He Will Protect Company.

Allan A. Ryan issued a statement yesterday telling his side of the story surrounding the corner of the stock of the Stutz Motor Car Company, one of the most amazing incidents in the history of the New York Stock Exchange. The statement asserted that the corner was forced upon Mr. Ryan by individuals who were trying to depress the stock, and also reiterated his proposal to settle, made some days ago. Mr. Ryan said that he was not courting lidigation, but that he was ready and willing to place the matter in the hands of the courts. The statement reads:

"For many days I have awaited patiently a solution of the Stutz situation. But despite the fact that I have freely given all the information at my command and have offered repeatedly to do every fair thing in my power toward an adjustment, practically nothing has been done.

"The Stutz situation was not designed nor created by me. It was the result of persistent attacks on the stock by persons having absolutely no interest in the Stutz Company, who were determinded to profit by hammering down the Stutz stock and deliberately promoting a campaign for selling that which they did not own. They hoped to force down the price so as to buy the stock at ridiculous figures, in order thereby to reap a great profit at the expense of every stockholder, as indeed they would have done but for my ability to protect the company and its stockholders.

Calls Highest Price Justified.

"My interest in the Stutz Company has never been that of a speculator. I am its largest stockholder. I became interested in the company when it was operating in a comparatively small way and have given it my continuous effort and attention to bring it to its present high state of efficiency and productivity. Its condition today is splendid from every viewpoint, and its earning power should more than justify the highest prices which the stock has reached during the recent rise. The welfare of this magnificent property and of its stockholders has always been and still is my first consideration.

"While I was recovering from a serious illness these pernicious attacks began without any provocation or instigation on my part. When I realized what was afoot I determined to protect the stock and the stockholders by every legitimate means in my power. I bought on the floor of the Exchange, in strict accordance with its rules, such stock as I cuold. I did not organize any buying pool or syndicate of any kind. I bought for myself alone and paid my own money on the purchases I made. The fact that I was buying was widely known, as I desired it should be.

"Many of the people who were selling stock were borrowing the same in large quantities from my brokers. I might have refused to lend them stock, but by so doing I should probably have precipitated a much more critical situation, and because I did not wish to do that, and also because the Committee of the Stock Exchange especially requested me to lend stock freely, I continued to lend Stutz stock on the floor of the Exchange under regular Exchange contracts and in strict accordance with Exchange rules.

Says Losers Were Fully Informed.

"The people who were short of Stutz stock learned many days ago and before the Exchange interfered with its trading just what the situation was. They made no attempt to purchase the stock, as they could readily have done on the floor of the Exchange, because many shares were bought there every day and continued to be bought as long as trading was allowed. Many of these same people, however, confronted with this situation and being still determined to slaughter the stock, continued to sell it short right up to the very las minute of trading. Some of these people failed to deliver the stock thus sold by them on the last day, and notwithstanding that their selling contract was a regular Stock Exchange agreement, they made no effort to carry it out.

"While I am a large lender of Stutz stock in the market, there are undoubtedly many others who have loaned their stock just as I have and who are also relying upon the validity and solemnity of a Stock Exchange agreement to have their loans made good. There is no detail, no feature of my contracts which I hesitate to disclose. The plainer the facts are made the clearer will be my vindication. Indeed, I will welcome a complete public investigation.

"The action of the Exchange up to the present has not, in my opinion, helped to a solution of the difficulties in which these so-called 'shorts' find themselves. Prior to the suspension of trading in the stock, I stated to the Exchange Committee that I would be very glad to assist toward a settlement and would be reasonable in terms. This suggestion was answered by a suspension of trading in the stock, thereby depriving all the Stutz stockholders of a market and perhaps bringing great loss to such of them as might need to realize.

Tells of Cash Purchases.

"Thereupon, although I was not obliged to do anything, still, having the desire of protecting the stockholders, I advertised that my firm would buy for cash such actual Stutz stock as might be brought to it for sale, and my firm did in fact mitigate the difficulties of embarrassed stockholders by buying in this manner a considerable number of shares, for which it paid in cash a price higher than the stock ever reached on te Exchange. Since tat time various lots ave been offered for sale, and some sales have been reported at much higher prices. It is my opinion that if the loans of Stutz stock are called without any settlement being reached, the stock will go even higher, and then the gentlemen who have persistently sold it short and have been determined all along to deprecite the company will bring about a result which they justly merit.

"I made to the Exchange certain definite suggestions for settlement. They were simple and fair. There was no feeling behind them and no objection could properly be taken to them. In substance they meant that I was prepared to make one settlement for all parties who owed me stock, instead of making a separate and different settlement for each of the parties; that such a settlement should be made by the Exchange Committee which was undertaking to handle the situation; and that upon the settlement being made the ban should be lifted from trading in the stock, so that it might have the same privileges on the Exchange that any other listed security has.

"It is obvious that if the Exchange were merely to retain jurisdiction of the stock until the unsuccessful 'shorts' have been relieved of their difficulties, and thereafter to deny it the privilege of the Exchange, this course would be grossly unfair to the stockholders, who are not to blame for the present situation and are entitled to have their stock enjoy the same privileges as any other listed security. I have, with some difficulty, been able to ascertain the houses who are short of the stock, and after some study it is apparent to my mind that these houses continued their short position long after they knew where I stood and what I was doing; that they hoped for official interference in order thereby to be relieved of their Exchange contracts, and that they purposely omitted to buy the stock when there was an open market for it in the belief that if they could not batter down the stock, then some future development would enable them to escape the loss which they had brought upon themselves. Apparently, they still have this objective in mind. In addition, they have banded together in the hope of finding some excuse for repudiating an Exchange contract, and are willing to adopt any specious subterfuge or flimsy pretext that will enable them to dodge their legal and moral responsibility and evade the consequences of their own acts.

"I have read with interest the many suggestions, both from brokers and legal experts, by which it is said that this result can be obtained. In reply I have only this to say, that while I am not courting litigation, I am quite content to put my rights in the hands of the court and to ascertain whether a plain, clear contract for the loan of stock made on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange in strict accordance with its rules and regulations is a solemn, binding obligation or a mere scrap of paper.

"I withhold at this time a statement of my opinion respecting the performance of the gentlemen who unsuccessfully endeavored to raid the Stutz stock. I do not consider that the fight has yet started. I am anxious to avoid as much difficulty as I can, consistent with my rights and those of the stockholders who have invested their money and continued their investment on the strength of their faith in me. But I wish it to be understood that I will protect the company and the stockholders and will defend them to the limit of my resources, and that, while I am prepared to be more than reasonable in making an adjustment if an adjustment can be had which will solve the entire situation, still, if no such adjustment is had, I am quite prepared to stand upon my rights and to let the public and the courts know just what has been attempted here and what has been done.

Charges "Sinister Purpose."

"If it has become wrong for a large stockholder to protect himself and his fellow-stockholders from deliberate and persistent raids on their stock, I would like to know it; and if it has become right for an individual or a collection of individuals having no interest in a security to go out with the deliberate intention of slaughtering it and artificially smashing it down so as to bring millions of dollars of loss to actual stockholders who have done nothing to merit it, and failing of their sinister purpose, to repudiate their obligations, then I want to know that also. In the meantime, while I intend to preserve my rights, I am ready to take up the matter of adjustment in a fair and liberal spirit with any committee or individual who really represents all those who are under obligation to return to my firm, the actual stock which they have borrowed from it."

When Mr. Ryan's statement was read over the telephone last night to James N. Rosenberg, counsel for the Protective Committee of the Stock Exchange firms, which has been organized for the protection of those who are short of the stock, he said:

"At the meeting of the Protective Committee, to be held tomorrow, Mr. Ryan's statement will undoubtedly receive proper consideration. The committee has already been asked by a substantial number of Stock Exchange houses and the plans of the committee will be fully discussed at tomorrow's meeting. That is all I have to say at this time."

After trading in Stutz stock on the Exchange was suspended odd lots sold at $400 and $430 a share. Some stock sold last week at auction for about $700 a share.

The Steam Carriage of 1828

WHEN the "New Steam Carriage" made its trial trip from London to Bath in 1828, this innovation in travel increased the possibilities of damage and loss to the owners. But no means of insuring vehicles was then available.

THE modern motor car has brought with it automobile insurance. This protection reduces the owner's loss from accident and other causes to the smallest possible minimum.

This Is National Marine Week

EVERYONE interested in the future of the American merchant marine should visit the National Marine Exposition at the Grand Central Palace this week.

Future success of the country's merchant marine depends to a large extent on the moral support and investment interest of the American people.

From the standpoint of a sound investment with a substantial return, opportunity is offered to American investors at this time to become part owners of

Railroad Demands and Equipment Stocks

Authorities estimate that within the next three years our railways will need:

12,375 Locomotives
13,500 Passenger cars
585,000 Freight cars
10,850 Miles of block signals
50,000 Miles of tracks

These needs, requiring an expenditure of over $6,000,000,000, will be filled by the leading equipment companies, which now face an era of great prosperity.

We have prepared an analysis of leading equipment issues which we shall be pleased to send on request.

"Commercial Crises"

Valuable Book Free

One well-known business man remarked, "The American Company's frequent publications are not simply interesting and instructive; they are a most worth-while contribution to modern business literature."

"Commercial Crises" is of the same high standard that we aim to make a characteristic of all our books. It thoroughly discusses the present economic situation, showing the fundamental causes of previous crises, and suggesting precautions for averting any future panics.

Every manufacturer, wholesaler and banker who reads this book will want to keep it handy for frequent reference. Write or phone for your copy today.

Maximum production

"Working to capacity" does not always mean maximum production. A single operation incorrectly executed many times a day will lessen the efficiency of any department. Repeated in many departments it will noticeably affect the output of your plant.

Often such leaks first make themselves known through the figures of the department concerned. The correction of them involves a study of these figures as well as the process itself.

A HIGH-GRADE CANADIAN BOND

We own and offer 6% First Mortgage Bonds of Dominion Canners, Limited, at a price to yield 7½% to American Investors. This high interest yield is due to the present discount on Canadian Funds.

Interest	99,798	103,099	108,264
Surplus	$720,026	$642,225	$692,265

This 6% Bond matures 1st April, 1940, and principal and interest are payable in Canada and New York City.

Dominion Canners, Limited, practically controls the entire canning output of fruit and vegetables, etc., in Canada.

We urge American Investors to take advantage of the current discount of 8½ to 9% on Canadian Funds, as we anticipate that exchange will be normal in the course of twelve months, in which case American purchases made to-day will give a direct profit on the transaction amounting practically to the present discount on New York Funds, or 8 to 9 points.

Write for particulars of the Dominion Canners' Bond and other attractive Canadian Investments.

Gates Oil Company

This company is earning about $10,000 per day or at the rate of over 150% on its 2,000,000 outstanding shares.

These earnings should be greatly augmented, as a large drilling program is now under way.

Regular dividends are 10% per annum and extra cash and stock dividends are declared from time to time.

COTTON PRICES DROP IN NERVOUS MARKET

WEATHER HELPS IN RALLY

The cotton market was extremely two-sided yesterday. The conflicting influences were strong enough to impart a good deal of irregularity and uncertainty and the market moved nervously all day, first breaking badly, rallying later and then fluctuating considerably within a narrower range in the afternoon. At the close prices were down anywhere from 7 to 58 points, the slightest losses being sustained by the near months and the greatest by the distant options.

Early in the day the market was soft. Liverpool came in slightly lower than due, and with Wall Street inclined to sell rather freely, the sharp break in most foreign exchange rates and the higher rates for call money had more than the usual influences. Then, too, the railroad strike exerted a powerful bear influence, and before the day was well started prices were down 20 to 30 points and the break continued throughout the first hour or so until the market was off 55 to nearly 80 points.

A weather map decidedly worse than was expected and an official prediction of further unfavorable climatic conditions helped rally the market after the early fall and by the time the forenoon came to an end the price level was back about where it had left off last week, and early in the afternoon it went ahead, rising 20 to 25 points net. But the rise was not held and prices again fell back. However, on the afternoon movement there was great irregularity and no definite trend.

The export movement over Sunday was about on a par with that of last week. The figures showed that 44,245 bales had gone out, as compared with 44,082 bales moving in the same days a week ago.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

BUTTER—The receipts yesterday were 635 packages. Continued shortage of all grades of fresh domestic butter, owing to strike conditions, made buyers hungry and prices were higher. Danish creamery is supplying a large part of the trade and sales were reported at 66@69c. Feeling on renovated, ladies and packing stock was firm. Creamery, higher than extras, a pound, 75½@76c; extras (92 score), 74½@75c; firsts (90 to 91 score), 72@73c; firsts (88 to 89 score), 66@70c; seconds (85 to 87 score), 61@65c; lower grades, 58@60c; held, extras, 64@65c; firsts, 60@63½c; seconds, 56@59c; unsalted, higher than extras, 78@78½c; extras, 76½@77½c; firsts, 69@75c; seconds, 63@67c; State dairy tubs, finest, 71@73c; good to prime, 63@69c; common to fair, 47@62c; renovated, extras, 57@58c; firsts, 54@56c; imitation creamery, firsts, 49@50c; ladles, current make, firsts, 47@48c; seconds, 43@44c; lower grades, 41@42c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 42@43c; No. 2, 40@41c; lower grades, 37@39c.

EGGS—The receipts yesterday were 7,568 cases. There is still a sufficient supply in receivers' hands for immediate trade needs, though there is great doubt as to how long it will last, this depending upon the continuance of the strike. Prices showed a further advance with fairly free trading, many dealers taking stock in anticipation of a possible shortage later. White eggs were also higher. Many nearby lots of California are coming in by parcel post, with a few by express, but the previous accumulations are being reduced under the limited fresh supply. Financing Canadian Export Trade

American exporters to Canada are finding that an 8 per cent. premium on the American dollar in Canada is serving to restrict their trade with Canada almost as effectively as an 8 per cent. increase in the Canadian customs tariff. The time is past when all the effects of the exchange situation can be safely laid on the shoulders of the Canadian importer; to hold their business American exporters must at least protect their Canadian customers against fluctuations in exchange before contracting to ship goods.

An Opportunity

We offer a rather unusual chance to share in the profits of the oil business through purchase of the securities of a properly managed producing oil Company before they have discounted in price the value of the Company's properties.

The Preferred Stock pays 8% dividends.

We believe there will be large profits made by those securing the Common Stock through purchase of the Preferred.

Particulars will be given on application and mention of this paper.

SMITH CUTS $844,190 FROM BUDGET BILL

Eliminates Nearly $500,000 Wanted for Bridges, Asking Time to Consider Projects.

REJECTS $115,000 FOR CAMP

Total That Remains, However, Is the Largest in the State's History.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 12.—Governor Smith tonight notified the Legislature that he had cut $844,190.03 from the Annual Appropriations bill, which as passed by the Legislature and submitted to the Governor called for $75,007,363.80 to run the State Government for the next fiscal year, the largest sum in the history of the State.

Nearly $500,000 of the amount deducted is made up of appropriations sought for the construction of new bridges in various parts of the State. The Governor disapproved these items on the ground that they should be presented to him in the thirty-day bill period "that proper consideration may be given as to the necessity for the State entering upon the project and at a time when the revenues of the State and the meanso f raising additional revenues have been fully determined." The items cut out for bridges constitute constructions over the Champlain and Black River canals and the Glens Falls feeder.

Plans of the Military Training Commission to conduct a military camp at Camp Blauvelt, in Rockland County, were dealt a blow when the Governor vetoed an item for $115,000 for furnishing, supplying and officering the camp and for transportation. The Governor let stand the appropriation for the conduct of the commission itself, although his Reconstruction Commission had recommended to him that the commission be abolished and that its functions be taken over by the State Education Department.

Virtually $60,000 asked in the appropriation bill by the Secretary of State for additional employes was cut out. There were forty laborers asked for at $1,200 each.

"I am unable to understand what operation in the offices of the Secretary of State would require the services of forty laborers all the year round," declared the Governor's veto message.

State Controller Travis asked for $3,500 for a supervising examiner in the private bank bureau, but the Governor vetoed the item for the reason that "no private bank bureau exists in the offices of the State Controller, and I am unable to understand why there should be a supervising examiner for a bureau that does not exist." The Governor further disapproved of an appropriation sought by the Controller for personal service for the collection of the State income tax, on the ground that the office force for this is sufficiently manned.

Mr. Travis also asked for $25,000 for contingencies "to be used generally for any purpose, except personal service, necessary for the proper administration" of the income tax law. "This item is disapproved because I am unable to imagine any contingency that could arise not already provided for," declared the Governor.

The Governor also by his veto message eliminated seventy jobs, the highest of which would have paid $3,500.

WILL NOT CALL ELECTION AS SOCIALISTS ASKED

ALBANY, April 12.—Governor Smith has notified S. John Block, counsel for the expelled Socialist members of the Assembly, that he has no power to call a special election in the five districts formerly represented by the members. The letter, dated Saturday, was made public today.

"The election law," the Governor wrote, "provides that special elections cannot be called to fill vacancies occurring in the office of member of Assembly unless occurring before the first of April in any year, the only exception being in case a special session of the Legislature should be called after the first day of April, in which case special elections may be called to fill such vacancies.

"So far as the Executive Office is concerned, the only evidence it has is that the vacancies occurred on the first day of April. Therefore, such special elections cannot be called unless it shall be determined later that a spelal session of the Legislature be necessary. That, of course, cannot be determined at present, as the Legislature is still in regular session."

WINSTED WORKERS QUIT.

Clockmakers Stay Away When Wage Demand Is Refused.

WINSTED, Conn., April 12.—Many employes of the William L. Gilbert Clock Company did not work today. They recently demanded ten hours' pay for nine hours' work, and on Saturday this was refused. The strikers assert that 500 out, while General Manager C. E. Williams says all departments are running, and not half the force of 600 is out.

Williams, in refusing the request, said that if granted it meant increased cost of product, decreased production, wages unchanged, fewer orders, more cancellations, less buying and the opening of the market to German-made clocks, which are now coming in and being offered at lower prices.

To Mark T. R.'s Cambridge Home.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 12.—The Harvard Memorial Society today announced that it would place a tablet in memory of Theodore Roosevelt in the house at 38 Winthrop Street, where he lived as an undergraduate.

FIGHT PORT TREATY AS HARMFUL BILL

OTHERS FILE OBJECTIONS

Former Service Commissioner McCarroll Speaks for Plan at Estimate Board Hearing.

Vigorous opposition to the proposed port treaty between New York and New Jersey, now before the Legislature at Albany for ratification, developed at yesterday's special meeting of the Board of Estimate to consider the subject. Mayor Hylan contended that foreign shipping interests were in favor of the treaty, as they hoped to gain control of valuable wharfage facilities along the waterfront. A delegation of legislators from Albany attended the hearing and several spoke against the proposition.

"I understand," said the Mayor, "that the same foreign interests who are trying to get every dock in New York City are back of this bill. We do not intend to be fooled any longer by such interests, and we do not intend to give them everything of value along our waterfronts."

State Senator John J. Boylan predicted the defeat of the treaty at Albany if the Board of Estimate would send a strong, firm statement to the Legislature against it. Senator Russell, of Brooklyn, declared it was the feeling in his district and in Queens that the enactment of the treaty would be the death blow to the Jamaica Bay improvements.

"If this bill goes through," he said, "there won't be any port of New York. It will be the port of New Jersey and Newark Bay."

Former Justice Augustus Van Wyck said the threatened danger of an interstate development of the port of New York should be antagonized by every New Yorker.

"They have failed to give us any plans," said Mr. Van Wyck. "The Board of Estimate should be consulted and know what the plans are before they are asked to favor them. I think it is a selfish combination of New Jersey with the railroads terminating there to take trade from the City of New York and divert it to New Jersey. We know the persuasive powers of the railroads terminating in that State, but why don't they come over to New York as the Pennsylvania Railroad did?"

Former Public Service Commissioner William McCarroll of Brooklyn was in favor of the plan and said the Merchants' Association, the Citizens' Union, the City Club and other civic organizations also favored it.

Cyrus C. Miller, former Borough President of the Bronx, opposed it.

The attack by Mayor Hylan and other members was answered yesterday by William R. Willcox, Chairman of the New York-New Jersey Port and Harbor Development Commission. Mr. Willcox denied the statements of the Mayor that the port authority, which the treaty creates, can pledge the credit of the city, or that it is sought to deprive the board of any of its present powers, or that the treaty seeks to do anything except provide for a legal co-operation between the States. He explained that while the port is in two States, it is, for all practical purposes, one port; that the treaty was drawn with the assistance of two legislative committees, and that every care was taken to protect the interests of this State and city.

STRATON REVEALED IN APOLOGETIC ROLE

HYLAN ASKS EARLY TRIALS

Mayor Says City Never Was So Free from Vice and That Officials Should Be Cleared.

Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield, to whom the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, recently refused to turn over the result of his investigation of alleged unlawful conditions in the mid-Broadway section of the city, made public yesterday a letter from O. L. Shackleford, State's Attorney, of Norfolk, Va., stating that Dr. Straton had made similar charges in that city, but was unable to give any concrete evidence when called before the Grand Jury.

Mr. Shackleford also stated that Dr. Straton had attacked him in a pamphlet after he had refused to assist him in getting a pardon for a man named A. G. Backus, that he brought a libel action against Dr. Straton, and that the latter effected a settlement of the suit by an admission that his charges and insinuations against Mr. Shackleford were based upon incorrect information. Mr. Shackleford inclosed a copy of Dr. Straton's letter to him, which was as follows:

"I desire to withdraw all insinuations and charges made by me against you or your character in a statement addressed by me to Gov. Westmoreland Davis entitled 'Statement of Grounds for Asking a Pardon for A. G. Backus,' and to say to you that I regret that I made such insinuations and charges.

"These insinuations and charges were made by me upon information which I deemed reliable, but subsequent investigation has satisfied me that this information was incorrect. Hence, what I have said or insinuated concerning yourself or your character as a prosecuting officer in the paper referred to was incorrect and does you a great injustice, and I am anxious to right the wrong done you.

"You are at liberty to use this letter in any way you see fit."

Challenges Pastor's Statements.

Mr. Shackleford stated that he had seen Dr. Straton quoted in a New York newspaper as saying that the controversy was settled by friends and that Mr. Shackleford had since been defeated for re-election as State's Attorney. "Both statements are false," Mr. Shackleford stated. "The libel suit was brought by me for vindication only. His unqualified retraction and apology gave me all I asked and was made through his attorneys. I have not been defeated for re-election as Commonwealth's Attorney and still hold the office."

Mr. Shackleford added that, having had litigation with Dr. Straton, he had learned to know him. He offered to give any representative of Commissioner Hirshfield any information he had concerning him.

Dr. Straton at his home, 205 West Fifty-sixth Street, said that he had refused to divulge to the Grand Jury at Norfolk the source of his information on one particular charge he had made in order to protect the man who had gave it to him. He said his explanation was entirely satisfactory to the Grand Jury at the time and that it was not until afterward that Mr. Shackleford had attempted to make a point of it.

Subsequently, Dr. Straton said, the fight against illegal conditions in Norfolk was successful. "Conditions in Norfolk were notoriously bad," he said. "We abolished the 'red light' district and put the liquor people on the run."

Says Friends Advised Course.

Dr. Straton said he had written the letter of retraction in the libel case on the advice of friends and counsel, because he learned that he had made incorrect statements concerning Mr. Shackleford, and wished to correct them as a matter of justice, and also because he did not wish the libel action to befog the main issue of the crusade against vice.

"I made powerful enemies in Norfolk because I would not stand for what was wrong," said Dr. Straton. "They have made efforts to discredit me ever since. I will hold them responsible for every false statement. I will not permit them to injure my work or influence here."

Mayor Hylan wrote District Attorney Swann yesterday, declaring that New York City had never been so free from vice and asking that the trials of the members of the police force under indictment be expedited. The Mayor said:

District Attorney Swann had no comment to make upon the letter. As a matter of fact, the trials have been expedited. That of Augustus Drum Porter, formerly Third Deputy Police Commissioner, for alleged neglect of duty, is set for next Monday, and the trials of the other indicted police officials are expected to follow immediately.

Charges against Hilvert Wheelwright and Fred Sorger, the two plainclothes men formerly of Inspector McDonald's special service headquarters squad, who made a raid on the apartment of Adele Goodell, in West Ninety-sixth Street, on Nov. 12 last, have been filed in the Police Department, and trial at Police Headquarters has been set for tomorrow. Wheelwright and Sorger are the principal witnesses against Mr. Porter, whom they allege to have found in the Goodell woman's apartment at the time of the raid. The police charges against them allege that they failed to give a true report of what took place in the Goodell apartment in their report to the Desk Lieutenant at the West 100th Street Police Station at that time. Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith was reported to have told the two policemen not to testify at the police trial.

Joseph Shenk, wealthy real estate owner and lessor of furnished apartments, and Abraham Glasser, his superintendent, who were convicted on May 29, 1916, of maintaining disorderly premises at a house in West 107th Street, began yesterday to serve the sentences of one year each, imposed by Judge Joseph F. Mulqueen of the Court of General Sessions after a long legal battle. During Shenk's trial it was brought out that he controlled 112 houses through leases and owned twelve others; that he took in approximately a million dollars a year in rentals, and that his payroll was nearly $100,000 a year.

HELD LONG WITHOUT FOOD.

Witnesses Retell Story of Raid on Alleged Radicals in Boston.

BOSTON, April 12.—A story of the Department of Justice raids on alleged alien radicals last January, in which thirty-nine men who had met in Lynn to form a Jewish co-operative bakery were arrested and left without food fifteen hours, was retold on the witness stand in the Federal Court today.

Charles Michaelson and Jacob Goldberg, testifying in habeas corpus proceedings for the release of twelve persons ordered deported, said they ewere among those taken in the raid without warrants, and were forbidden to communicate with friends. Both said they were American citizens. All except one of those detained were released the next day.

Judge George W. Anderson, who is conducting the hearing, showed particular interest in a statement of Goldberg that the officers said they needed no warrants and could detain the prisoners as long as they wished.

Flint, Mich., Gains 137 Per Cent.

SAYS REDS WILL ASK MORGAN TO SURRENDER

Plan Demand on Him and His "White Guards," Bay State Woman Tells Court.

BOSTON, April 12.—The Communist Party is committed to revolution, bloodless, if possible, but otherwise a bloody one, according to Mrs. Amy T. Colyer of Wellesley, Secretary of the Massachusetts branch of that party, who testified today in the Federal Court in connection with habeas corpus proceedings brought for the release of herself and eleven other persons held for deportation.

"Just how are you going to abolish private property?" Judge Anderson inquired.

"I can't tell you that," she replied.

Lou Bondar, also a member of the Communist Party, in his testimony referred to the five Socialists recently expelled from the New York Assembly. He said that the Socialists were "too polite to the rich classes" and added:

"That only makes a compromise with the rich guys, and they kick you for nothing."

Mrs. Colyer said that she believed in organizing society "as it was brought about in Russia and Hungary."

"In other words," was asked, "you believe in a bloody revolution in the United States, if those with property are unwise enough to resist."

"I do," she replied. "We will invite the capitalists, including Morgan and his White Guards, to surrender. If they do not they will be responsible for what may follow."

The exact date on which the capitalists would be "invited" to turn over their millions, she said, would depend "on how much the workers in this country will stand."

Revolution has no terrors for me," she added, "it all depends when, in the opinion of a majority of the workers, the time is ripe."

FRENCH LOAN TOTALS 15,730,000,000 FRANCS

Of This Total the New Money Subscriptions Reached 6,800,000,000 Francs.

PARIS, April 12.—Subscriptions to the latest French loan totaled 15,730,000,000 francs, of which 6,800,000,000 francs was in new money, it was announced today.

In the Chamber of Deputies today M. François-Marsal said the railroad strike, coming in the subscription period, had slackened the takings. He recalled that 4,000,000,000 francs had been subscribed at the end of 1919 for the Crédit National of the liberated regions and 1,000,000,000 francs for the Crédit Foncier.

"However," he added, "the excess paper currency will not let us rest there. Other loans of various types, to attract every class of citizens, must be considered."

The new loan subscriptions included 8,000,000,000 francs in National Defense bonds, more than 550,000,000 francs in National Defense obligations, and about 375,000,000 francs in French rentes.

The Bank of France collected subscriptions to the amount of 6,500,000,000 francs, and other banks nearly 4,000,000,000 francs. Subscriptions totaling 275,000,000 francs came from abroad, and 84,000,000 francs from the colonies.

GERMAN CARGO SHIPS ALL SOLD BY BOARD

Twenty-eight Were Disposed Of Last Week for a Total of $21,751,065.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—All German cargo vessels taken over by the Government during the war have been disposed of to private interests, the weekly sales report of the Shipping Board made public today shows.

During the week ending April 10, the board sold twenty-eight vessels for $21,751,065. Included among these ships were eleven of the former German merchant ships.

WOULD STOP EXODUS.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 17.—The Legislature will be asked tomorrow by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, New York Democrat, to appoint a joint committee to inquire into the wisdom of passing pending bills providing for the establishment of the "Port of New York Authority," and to suggest to the 1921 Legislature a remedy for transportation facilities between Manhattan, Brooklyn and Richmond "to prevent the State of New York from being depopulated and the people from moving to other States." Mr. Cuvillier attempted unsuccessfully to introduce the resolution tonight.

Mr. Cuvillier in his resolution will suggest that if proper transportation facilities were provided in Long Island and Staten Island, New York City residents would be relieved on high rents and the high cost of living "and not be compelled to seek another State to get relief."

The resolution will declare it to be the sense of the Legislature that "it looks with apprehension on the constant building and construction of tunnels between New York State and the State of New Jersey as having a tendency to depopulate the State of New York."

Mr. Cuvillier offered another resolution requiring the New York-New Jersey Vehicular Tunnel Commission to report to the Assembly the reason for the rejection of the Goethals-O'Rourke plan in the proposed construction of the tunnel. This will also be offered again tomorrow, having been refused introduction tonight by objection.

ROBBED BY TRIO IN AUTO.

Stolen Car Afterward Ran Down an Embankment.

An automobile thought to have contained three men ran over the embankment at the foot of Washington Avenue, Kearny, N. J., into the Passaic River, late Sunday night. The car bore the New York license number 147-359 and is supposed to have been stolen from Broadway near Forty-seventh Street while its owner, Max Becker, an insurance solicitor, of 81 Maiden Lane, was in a restaurant.

James Higgins of 150 Liberty Street, Bloomfield, was found yesterday lying in the road in front of the Soldiers' Home, about a mile from the place where the accident occurred. He was taken to police headquarters at Kearny where numerous cuts and bruises were attended to by a physician. Higgins said that three men strangers to him with a runabout offered to take him home from New York. He had $140 and a diamond ring when he got into the car, which were missing when he was picked up in the morning. The police believe that the men in the car robbed him and threw him out after which they ran over the embankment in their effort to get away.

TEACHERS GET REBUFF.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 12.—Teachers from all parts of the State were at the Capitol again tonight urging their request for 20, 30, and 40 per cent. salary increases. After learning from legislative leaders that in all probability only $14,000,000 in addition to what has been appropriated could be raised for the purpose this year, there was much angry talk in the corridors by the disappointed teachers.

This amount, it was stated, would provide for merely an average increase of $200.

Ernest L. Crandall, President of the Federation of Teachers Associations, said that the proposed appropriation was a pittance; not half of what they expected the State to raise.

PASTORS WOULD LIFT BAN ON AMUSEMENTS

ACTION AFTER HOT DEBATE

Resolution Favoring Ordination of Women to the Ministry Passed Without Discussion.

Special to The New York Times.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 12.—After a heated debate the New York Methodist Episcopal Conference, in session in St. James's Church, this city, this afternoon voted by an overwhelming majority to memorialize the Methodist General Conference to be held next month in Des Moines in favor of lifting the ban on dancing, theatres and other amusements.

The Rev. Dr. J. Lewis Hartsock, pastor of Trinity Church, Newburgh, introduced the resolution. It is not at all the idea that the clergymen approve of dancing, but they feel it is a matter for each person to settle with his or her own conscience.

Professor Ismar J. Peritz of Syracuse University spoke in favor of making the change, and the Rev. Arthur B. Moss, a son of Frank Moss of New York City, spoke against it.

The Rev. Dr. J. Sumner Stone said the "no dancing, no theatre, no circus" paragraph was inserted in the Discipline in 1872, but that Charles Wesley paid for carriage hire for his boy to go to the play house.

It was pointed out that never but once had any one been called officially to task for dancing, and the preacher who did this proved to be insane.

The conference adopted unanimously resolutions thanking THE NEW YORK TIMES for having a personal staff representative there all the week.

The conference voted, with only two negative ballots, to memorialize the General Conference to permit the ordination of women to the Methodist ministry. It had been expected that this question would cause a long and warm debate, but the resolution was passed without discussion.

The conference adopted a memorial to the general conference to so amend the Book of Discipline as to cease to set forth the belief that any little children who die are eternally damned.

It was voted unanimously to insist that only "dry" candidates be nominated for the Presidency.

The report also asked the members of the New York Legislature to kill all the beer and light wine measures providing for a larger percentage of alcohol than that allowed in the Federal law.

SAILOR HELD AS BURGLAR.

Caught After Jamaica Chase Led by American Trust Co. Official.

Peter F. Relyea, 22, a sailor attached to the Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I., was held on a charge of burglary in the Jamaica Court yesterday after an exciting chase, in which one of his pursuers was Daniel F. Quinn, a Vice President of the American Trust Company, and ex-State Superintendent of Banks.

Relyea was accused of breaking into the home of J. Velmore Guernsey, a lawyer of 105 Grand Avenue, Jamaica, while Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey were away on Sunday afternoon. A youth in sailor's uniform was seen entering the house by three boy neighbors, who called Mr. Quinn. Armed with a baseball bat, Mr. Quinn rattled the front door of the Guernsey home, and the burglar fled by the back entrance. Mr. Quinn and the three boys gave chase, but lost their quarry, although they found a $75 beaded bag, the property of Mrs. Guernsey, which the burglar dropped in his flight.

Just as the sailor disappeared, Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey drove up, and renewed the pursuit in their car, taking with them a policeman. The sailor was seen to board a trolley, and was arrested. Magistrate Conway held him in $2,500 bail.

Representative Johnson Says Convicted Reds Are Being Freed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTIN, April 12.—In a speech in the House today Representative Albert Johnson of Washington, Chairman of the Immigration Committee, touching upon the activities of the Departmen of Labor in the deportation of Reds and undesirable aliens, charged that Paul Bosco, an alien convicted of attempt to undermine the Government, had been released on bail.

Bosco, after he had been convicted at Morgantown, W. Va., Hr. Johnson added, stood up in the court room and said he hoped the Red flag would replace the Stars and Stripes in the United States at an early date.

Mr. Johnson charged also that Thomas Truss of Baltimore, who had been ordered deported as a Communist, was released last Saturday on order of Assistant Secretary of Labor Post.

Mr. Johnson intimated that through the Labor Department everything was being done to prevent the deportation of 2,700 aliens who had been arrested as members of the Communist Party.

WOULD BANISH THE TURKS.

Church Leaders Urge Congress to Exclude Them from Europe.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A memorial was presented today to the President, the Vice President and the Speaker of the House, by a committee representing the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, headed by Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. E. O. Watson, Washington Secretary of the Federal Council, appealing to the Government to exclude Turkish rule from Europe and to take some defenite step toward the assuming of America's share of responsibility for the welfare of the subject races of the former Ottoman Empire.

The petition assert samong other things, that "there is general agreement tha if America refuses o come to the relief of the situation, the Turks will continue to hold sway in Europe and, while dwelling in Constantinople, will continue to practice officially from that city their characteristically unjust administration and perpetrate their customary atrocities upon their defenseless subjects wherever their rule shall extend."

Roman Forum Custodians on Strike.

RECOVER $31,000 IN BONDS.

Alertness of Bank Teller Also Results in Five Arrests.

The alertness of a teller in the Chatham and Phenix National Bank, at Grand Street and the Bowery, led to five arrests yesterday afternoon and the recovery of stolen Liberty Bonds valued at $31,000, all a part of the loot of $90,000 obtained by burglars in the law office of James R. Deering, 135 Broadway, on Feb. 6.

A man unknown to the teller shoved a $5,000 bond through the window and asked for a loan upon it. The teller became suspicious and told the customer to wait. Retaining the bond the teller went to a telephone and called the Federal Reserve Bank, mentioning the number of the bond. "It is a stolen bond," was the reply. Then the teller notified Deputy Police Commissioner Lahey, who rushed three of his men to the bank in an auto. They intercepted the customer in the lobby, questioned him, and learned that he was a restaurant keeper named Weiner, who said a patron, Harry Miller, had asked him to get a loan on the bond. Weiner said Miller was waiting nearby. With the detectives trailing along, Weiner met Miller and handed him the bond.

Miller, who said he was a jeweler at 142 South Ninth Street, Brooklyn, declared he had bought the bond from Richard Armstrong, a chauffeur, 23 years old, of 1,553 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn, paying $4,000 for it. Later William A. White, a chauffeur, 27, of 485 Sixth Street; John L. White, 21, a laborer, 269 Albany Avenue, and David White, 31, a laborer, also of 269 Albany Avenue, were arrested. All were held at Police Headquarters last night on charges of technical burglary and altering and mutilating Federal bonds.

Other securities taken and a small amount of cash totaled $40,000.

LABORATORY HELD UP.

Four Men Personate Revenue Agents and Get $1,500.

Four men entered the Star Laboratories, manufacturing chemists, at 108 Albany Avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, told three employes there they were revenue agents come to inspect the use of alcohol in the place and requested permission to look around. They strolled about a moment, then turned suddenly upon the employes, overpowered them, handcuffed them, tied their feet and gagged them and escaped with cash and Liberty bonds amounting to $1,500.

The affair was kept secret by detectives of the Atlantic Avenue station until it came out through the seizure of four suspects in Hoboken. These men, however, were released after being questioned.

INTERNATIONAL MOTOR TRUCK CORPORATION

Notice of Special Meeting of Stockholders.

To the Stockholders of International Motor Truck Corporation:

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the stockholders of International Motor Truck Corporation, a corporation of the State of New York, will be held at the office of the Corporation, No. 252 West 64th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City, County and State of New York, on the 27th day of April, 1920, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of voting upon the following propositions:

(1) To increase the number of shares of common stock which the Corporation may issue by 239,160 shares from 80,840 shares of common stock without nominal or par value to 320,000 shares of common stock without nominal or par value; to increase the amount of the stated capital of the Corporation by $1,195,800, from $16,673,900 to $17,869,700; and to amend the Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation accordingly;

(2) In the event that said increase of the number of shares of common stock which the Corporation may issue shall be duly authorized, to authorize and consent to the issuance of 70,777 of said additional shares of common stock for the consideration of $5 per share by the transfer of $353,885 from the surplus of the Corporation to capital, and the issuance and delivery of said 70,777 shares of common stock as a stock dividend to the holders of record of common stock of the Corporation at the close of business on May 7, 1920, pro rata at the rate of one share for each share of common stock so held by said stockholders at the close of business May 7, 1920;

(3) In the event that said increase of the number of shares of common stock which the Corporation may issue is duly authorized, to authorize and consent to the offering of 141,554 of said additional shares of common stock to the record holders of common stock of the Corporation at the close of business on May 7, 1920, (including persons entitled to receive shares of such common stock under the Plan and Agreement dated July 11, 1919), for pro rata subscription at the price of $50 per share, at the rate of two shares for each share of common stock so held by said stockholders at the close of business on May 7, 1920, that is to say, upon the basis of their holdings prior to the issuance of the above mentioned stock dividend, such subscriptions to be made on or before May 24, 1920, and payment for said shares to be made in four equal instalments, as follows:

the first instalment upon subscription, the second instalment on or before July 24, 1920, the third instalment on or before September 24, 1920, and the fourth instalment on or before November 24, 1920;

it being understood that said offer will be made upon terms to be prescribed by the Board of Directors and that said offer shall not be extended to holders of scrip representing fractional amounts of common stock, but that if, on or prior to May 20, 1920, holders of such scrip shall surrender the same and receive in exchange therefor full shares of said common stock and shall thereby become record holders of full shares of common stock, such record holders shall be entitled to receive from the Corporation rights entitling them to subscribe for, on or prior to May 24, 1920, one share of said additional stock for each share of common stock so registered in their names, said rights to be issued at the time said scrip is so surrendered;

(4) To approve an underwriting agreement with Hayden, Stone & Co. for the formation of a syndicate which will underwrite the entire 141,554 shares of common stock to be offered to the common stockholders of the company as aforesaid, and to authorize and consent to the sale to said syndicate at $50 per share of so many of said 141,554 shares of common stock as shall not be subscribed for by the common stockholders of the Corporation in pursuance of the offer hereinabove described, payment for the shares of common stock which the syndicate shall be required to take to be made in four equal instalments, payable as follows:

the first instalment on or before May 29, 1920, the second instalment on or before July 24, 1920, the third instalment on or before September 24, 1920, and the fourth instalment on or before November 24, 1920; said underwriting syndicate to receive a commission of 2½% upon the entire $7,077,700 of underwriting, and Hayden Stone & Co. to receive for their services in organizing said syndicate, a commission of $35,388;

(5) In the event that the above mentioned increase in the number of shares of common stock which the Corporation may issue is duly authorized, to consent to the issuance and sale of 36,892 shares of common stock to officers, agents or employees of the Corporation at any price not less than $50 per share that may be fixed by the Board of Directors, in their discretion and without regard to the market value of said shares at the time of such issuance, and upon such terms as to payment as the Board of Directors shall deem advisable; and

To take any and all lawful action in connection with or incidental to the foregoing propositions and to consider such other business pertaining to the affairs of the Corporation as may properly come before the meeting.

The transfer books for the transfer of stock of the Corporation will close at the close of business on April 24, 1920, and will reopen on April 28, 1920.

By order of the Board of Directors.

FUND FOR HOSPITAL REACHES $610,000

Committee Plans an Intensive Campaign to Complete the $2,000,000 Needed.

RURAL PHYSICIANS MOVED

Dr. J. Bentley Squier Gets Many Letters Voicing Hopes for Advanced Training Here.

Spurred by the interest manifested by doctors the country over, the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital Endowment Committee resolved yesterday upon intensified efforts to raise the $2,000,000 needed to make the institution the world's foremost centre of advanced medical teaching.

Six hundred and ten thousand dollars had been subscribed to the fund up to 5 o'clock last night, many large donors being represented in the contributors' list. Those directing the campaign are convinced that, once the public generally is aroused to the nature of its cause and to the vital need of giving the Post-Graduate ample financial resources to the direct benefit not only of this community but of the whole country, every dollar of the amount needed will be forthcoming.

Post-Graduate is virtually the only institution in the country offering opportunity to physicians and surgeons to do post-graduate work. Post-graduate schools were founded by the army for its 40,000-odd physicians and surgeons, not only to teach them the technique of the service, but because it found so many of them were not entirely abreast of the times.

The present campaign has drawn much attention to the lack of provision for post-graduate study for men of moderate means, as contrasted with the ample provision for undergraduate study by poor boys. Many thousands of physicians and surgeons in smaller communities find that their practices furnish them but a bare living. Their very isolation from those great centres where there exists a wealth of clinical material, the utmost in laboratory facilities and the last word in research equipment and highly trained men makes them the men who most need such brushing up now and then as only a foundation like the Post-Graduate can supply.

Commenting on this phase of the institution's need for money, Dr. J. Bentley Squier, a member of the Campaign Committee and Secretary of the Faculty of the Medical School said that since the gift of $100,000 by Mrs. J. R. Rea was announced recently he had received a host of letters from medical men in small communities who for the first time see hope of coming to the great metropolitan fountainhead of learning if they can but share in this fund.

These letters have come from earnest, sincere men who find themselves handicapped by lack of opportunity to round out their early training and who are the very men who most need to be thoroughly proficient because they practice in places where noted specialists and the institutions which grow up about them are not available.

Supporters of Post-Graduate feel that every man who comes there, does his work and goes back to his home is an added medical resource of the nation, not only in his own person, but through the stimulus he conveys to his professional brothers with whom he comes in contact.

While this national aspect of the institution's work is not overlooked, there is no desire to minimize its particular importance to this community within which it is situated. For New York to boast of one of the world's foremost centres of advanced teaching and study means that its own medical men are in close and easy contact with all that is best in their profession. It is a simple feat of the imagination to grasp what that means to every person who lives here.

BRONX STORE IS HELD UP.

Thieves Escape in Auto After Binding Owner and Niece.

Two men walked into the haberdashery of Irving Maxwell, 2,803 Third Avenue, one block away from the Bronx's busiest corner at 149th Street and Third Avenue, yesterday, bound and gagged the proprietor and his niece, Miss Rhea Abramowitz, sixteen years old, and stole $18 in cash and jewelry valued at $500. They escaped in an automobile which they had left at the curb with the engine running.

Maxwell was alone in his store when the two men entered. They held him up with revolvers, bound his hands with belts, taken from his stock, gagged him with two expensive silk neckties, and placed him in a back room. Miss Abramowitz, who entered the store a few minutes later, asked for her uncle and was seized before she could escape. She was bound and gagged and placed in the back room.

The thieves took $15 from the cash register and $3 from Miss Abramowitz's handbag. They then searched Maxwell and took his gold watch, a diamond ring and a diamond stickpin. They then threw a dozen fine shirts and neckties into the automobile and disappeared.

Maxwell and his niece were released half an hour later by two friends who made an investigation after they failed to find the proprietor in his usual place in the front of the store. The police at the Alexander Avenue station had no clue to the thieves last night.

FRENCH DEBATE ON BUDGET.

Proposed New Taxes Expected to Yield 8,500,000,000 Francs.

PARIS, April 12.—The debate in the Chamber of Deputies on new taxes began today. Deputy Auriol, Socialist, said he regretted that the financial solidarity of the Allies, which had been advocated, had not been realized. He asserted that the only remedy for France's financial situation was the taxation of capital and war profits.

Budget Reporter Dumont urged the Chamber to vote the new taxes rapidly, declaring each day's delay cost the budget a million francs.

It is expected that the Government's revenues under the new taxes will be increased 8,500,000,000 francs. Among the fresh taxes is one of 10 per cent. on the gross receipts of theatres, music halls, circuses, hippodromes, race tracks and bicycle races.

M. Dumont's statement on the budget was well received by the House, which is evidently anxious to hasten the vote. This may be expected on April 24.

M. Dumont was loudly cheered when he said: "Great Britain, the United States, Japan, and Italy have engaged their honor that Germany shall pay for the bloodshed and the destruction wrought.

"This engagement will be kept. If it should prove otherwise, if France had to submit to such injustice, nothing would protect the most distant shores."

The revenue from the taxes on monopolies in France for March amounted to 859,192,000 francs, an increase of 263,000,000 francs over the budget estimate.

Appraise Bach Estate at $445,680.

MT. VERNON, N. Y., April 12.—The appraisal of the estate of the late Joseph E. Bach of New York, filed today with Surrogate Slater of Westchester County, shows that the banker left property valued at $445,680.36. Mr. Bach, who died at his country home at Hastings, left only personal property, consisting of stocks, bonds, cash and his seat on the New York Stock Exchange. The Stock Exchange seat was appraised at $50,000.

BIG CORNER DEAL PENDING.

National Sporting Club Will Add to Its Realty.

Negotiations are about to be concluded for the purchase of the northeast corner of Lexington Avenue and Forty-eighth Street, a four-story building on a lot 20 by 70. The property is now owned by William Kulde.

It is understood that the National Sporting Club of which A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., is President, is the prospective purchaser. This organization recently purchased the balance of the block front on Lexington Avenue, between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Streets, and now will control the entire block front between these two points.

Arthur C. Sheridan, who is understood to be the broker in the deal, declined to discuss the transaction yesterday. The rumored purchase price, $150,000, may set a new high mark for Lexington Avenue values in this neighborhood.

Queens Borough Transactions.

A. Cantore sold at Astoria for various owners, 532 Second Avenue to A. Williams; 127 Ridge Street to H. Bottino; 149 Elm Street to M. Silveri; 260 Seventeenth Avenue to Lance & Co.; 162 Sixteenth Avenue to Thomas Owen; 120 Jamaica Avenue to J. Citro; 395 Grand Avenue to M. Helterback; 389 Fourth Avenue to C. Brigante, and 172 Twelfth Avenue to M. Fox.

J. Albert Johntra sold the dwelling on plot 100 by 181, at 167 State Street, Flushing, for J. D. Wells to W. N. Nichols.

Big Hoboken Sale Today.

Arthur C. Sheridan will offer at auction this morning, on the premises, the Terminal Building, 68 to 70 Hudson Street, Hoboken, a seven-story office building and one of the largest in the city. Considerable interest is being shown in the sale by a number of large corporations seeking permanent homes in the business centre of Hoboken.

Sale at Malba.

Malba Estates Corporation, through Champ & Dasey, sold at Malba-on-the-Sound, Long Island, to George Henry of East Orange, N. J., the new residence known as "Old Plymouth," on North Drive, on a plot 75 by 100, which the buyer will occupy as an all year home.

Yale Again Increases Salaries.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 12.—Further salary increases for instructors and assistant professors in Yale University have been authorized by the Yale Corporation, it was announced tonight. The amount of increase ranges from $250 to $1,000 a year, to be effective July 1. This will make the salary scale for instructors from $1,500 to $3,000 a year and assistant professors $3,000 to $4,500.

Oppose Operation of Cape Cod Canal

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Operation of the Cape Cod Canal by the Government, pending final determination of condemnation proceedings, was opposed today by Secretary Baker before the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

Plan Ohio Inquiry Into Lotteries.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 12.—Federal authorities are to begin investigation of the alleged sale through Ohio of lottery tickets by four internationally known lottery companies. Sixteen Columbus men were arrested Sunday by police on charges of selling the tickets or promoting a lottery.

BRONX REALTY DEALS.

Demand for Both Dwellings and Apartment Houses.

PRIVATE DWELLINGS A MARKET FEATURE

Broadening Demand Concerns Itself with Properties in Many Sections of the City.

APARTMENT DEALS DECLINE

Two Private Houses on East Seventy-ninth Street Will Be Replaced by One.

The outstanding feature of yesterday's market was the broadening demand for private houses. Not in weeks has there been a more active day affecting properties of this character. There was a striking decline in the number of apartment house deals, indicating, perhaps, that the newly enacted legislation affecting such drastic reforms in behalf of tenants was beginning to operate against purely speculative operations based upon intended rent increases. Only two apartment sales were reported, involving moderate priced east side houses.

No particular section was favored by dwelling buyers, deals being closed for holdings on both the east and west sides. The Wood-Dolson Company sold for Mrs. Isabella Satterthwaite the two houses at 129 and 131 East Seventy-ninth Street, forming a plot 40 by 102. The property has been held at $120,000. The two buildings will be torn down and a new house erected on the site, which will be occupied by the purchaser.

Douglas L. Elliman & Co. sold for Miss Margaret Hawkesworth 51 East Fifty-first Street, a five-story American basement house on lot 20 by 100, held at $115,000, to a client for occupancy. The same brokers also sold for the estate of Dr. John Vanderpoel, Anson B. Moran, executor, 56 West Fifty-second Street, a four-story private house on lot 20 by 100, to a client for occupancy.

The Houghton Company sold for Olive A. Choate to an investing client the four-story dwelling 255 West Seventy-third Street, on a lot 18 by 102.2.

Victor Freund & Son sold for Elsa Menkle to H. A. Cushing the three-story dwelling 249 East Forty-eighth Street.

Innes & Center sold for Celia C. Picker the three-story building at 29 East Twentieth Street to a client for occupancy; also, for the estate of Louise Ehrlicher to Leonard Weill the three-story dwelling at 240 East Nineteenth Street.

Robert M. Bush & Co. sold for Joseph L. Buttenweiser the two three-story dwellings 16 and 18 Bank Street, southwest corner of Waverly Place, to a client for investment. The houses will be reimproved.

Thomas J. O'Reilly sold for the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank the four-story dwelling at 311 East Forty-first Street, on a lot 16.8 by 98, to John Campbell. This property was held at $15,000.

Walter J. Burke of the office of Edward C. H. Vogler has sold for Laura M. Rankin the four-story dwelling 153 West Seventy-ninth Street, on lot 18 by 102.2, to Frederick W. Wilson of Newburg, N. Y.

Mrs. John Schmieg sold to S. L. Pakas 313 West Eighty-eighth Street, a four-story dwelling with two-story extension and all modern improvements, on lot 19 by 102.2, held at $40,000. The Vreeland Ord Realty Company was the broker.

John J. & Peter A. Kavanagh sold for Julia Hennes to a client for occupancy 1,209 Park Avenue, a four-story dwelling on lot 20 by 100.

James L. Conway of the office of Chas. A. DuBois sold for James L. Van Sant to Alvan W. Walz the three-story dwelling, 548 West 140th Street.

Harris, Vought & Co. resold for James W. Bulmer to a client the three-story dwelling at 143 East Fifty-fifth Street on a plot 16.8 by 100.5.

F. R. Wood & Co. sold for Dr. Joseph A. Dillon to a client for occupancy, 785 West End Avenue, a three-story dwelling.

Wm. Cruickshank's Sons sold for the New York Life Insurance & Trust Company as Trustee, the dwelling at 333 Convent Avenue to Eugene C. Gibney.

Herbert Aldhous has sold to E. A. Warren of the Amsterdam News the house at 2,293 Seventh Avenue for Wm. Hartfield.

Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd and Pease & Elliman sold for Yale University 150 East Thirty-seventh Street, a four-story house on lot 20 by 98.9. The purchaser will occupy on Oct. 1.

William B. May & Co. sold for Henry McAleenan to a buyer, who will occupy, the wooden five-story residence at 18 East Ninety-fourth Street, on a lot 19 by 100.8, near Fifth Avenue.

The Duff & Brown Company sold for Mary Kronenbitter, 63 West 143d Street, a four-story dwelling, 19 by 100.

Two multi-family house deals were reported by Charles F. Faeth, who sold for Mary C. Murray the five-story tenement 54 First Avenue to Joseph Appelbome, and the five-story tenement 128 First Avenue, for the estate of Anna M. Klemmann, to Joseph Weiss.

Albert B. Ashforth, Inc., sold to a client for Agnes A. and Mary Minford, 16 East Fiftieth Street, a dwelling, 21.7 by 100.5. This property is three doors from the property leased by Saks & Co.

BUSINESS BUILDINGS SOLD.

Estate Sells $175,000 Downtown Loft Holding.

Spotts & Starr, Inc., sold for the Olga Witthaus estate to the Manport Realty Company 36 and 38 East Twentieth Street, an eight-story loft building, on a plot 40 by 92. The property, which has been in the hands of the estate for twenty-five years, was held at $175,000 and rents for about $25,000 per annum.

Pease & Elliman sold for the estate of Saul Levy the five-story 22-foot business building at 52 West Thirty-seventh Street, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues. This property has been in the Levy family for sixty-two years. The buyer, Charles Loew, a restaurant man, will occupy the store.

The Lebertan Corporation sold to the Carbondale Sponge Company for their own use 73 Warren Street, a six-story store and loft building, for all cash over a $56,500 mortgage. The property has been held at $95,000. The Charles F. Noyes Company acted as broker.

Henry Walter, representing a Los Angeles estate, sold through Porter & Co., in conjunction with W. G. MacLean, the four-story business building at 114 West 125th Street, between Lenox and Seventh Avenue, to a client of Louis Kovner. It is understood the property was held at $175,000.

Pease & Elliman sold for G. B. Marshall the five-story 20-foot building at 709 Lexington Avenue, between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Streets, to a buyer who will use it for his business, which is now on Madison Avenue.

E. Sharum sold 157-159 East 128th Street, a seven-story loft building, on plot 50 by 100. A syndicate of tenants in the building composed of Herman L. Paul, Herman Gunther and others is the purchaser. Louis Israel was the broker in the deal.

Walter C. Wyckoff sold for Potter Brothers two four-story buildings 19.9 by 60 each, at 417-419 Sixth Avenue. Charles G. Keller was associated in the deal.

The Charles F. Noyes Company sold for Mrs. Josephine Gooch to Charles S. Hadley 356 Pearl Street, a five-story loft, 23.5 by 60, held at $35,000. The same brokers recently resold 354 Pearl Street to the tenant.

Commercial Leases.

The Lewis L. Rosenthal Company leased for the United Cigar Stores Company to Lueng Ying the entire second floor in the building at the northeast corner of Broadway and 157th Street, for a term of fiteen years, at a rental of $130,000. The tenants contemplate spending $25,000 on extensive alterations and will add another link to their chain of Chinese restaurants. Morris Taylor was associated as broker.

J. Pederson leased a garage for a term of twenty-one years, at an aggregate rental of $150,000, at West Farms Road, near 176th Street. The deal was transacted through the Harris Exchange.

The three-story stable, on a plot 60 by 100.11, at the northeast corner of Lexington Avenue and 119th Street, has been leased for a long term of years by Barnett & Co. for a client to the Ryan Garage Company. The lessee will erect a three-story garage.

Weprin & Glaser, builders, have leased from Peter Biasetti for twenty-one years, with an option to purchase the six-story building, 41.7 by 98.9, at 145 and 147 West Twenty-seventh Street.

Long Term Restaurant Lease.

L. J. Phillips & Co. leased for Louis J. Reckford, Samuel J. Reckford and Daisy Strauss to the C. & L. Lunch Company, Inc., A. Chinitz and S. Levine, the southwest corner of Seventy-third Street and Columbus Avenue, a five-story building, on lot 25 feet on the street and 102.2 feet on Columbus Avenue. The lease is for a term of twenty-one years and involves a rental to be paid of about $200,000. The lunch company will make extensive alterations in the property and expects to occupy one of the stores in connection with its chain of restaurants.

First Sale Since 1790.

Anselm Frankenthaler sold to James Moss 6 and 8 Ferry Street, two four-story business buildings, on plot 43 by 60. The property adjoins the southeast corner of Gold and Ferry Streets, which is owned by Mr. Moss, and gives him a plottage of 48 by 107. The estate of John Gardner has been in possession of the property since 1790 and the heirs, who live abroad, are represented by Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft.

NEW BANK BRANCH.

Chatham and Phenix National Adds to Bowery Plot.

The Bowery branch of the Chatham and Phenix National Bank is to have a new $500,000 home at the Bowery and Grand Street. This has been made possible through the purchase by the 122 Bowery Corporation from Philip Zeillin of the property at 231 Grand Street, and the buying corporation's recent acquisition of the abutting property at 118-118½ Bowery from the Chesebrough estate, title to the latter passing on April 1. On the Bowery end are two four-story buildings, 27 by 80, and on Grand Street a three-story building, 24 by 65, the two forming an "L" around the southwest corner of those thoroughfares, on which stands the present home of the bank, 30 by 84. Eventually the combined site, measuring 57 feet on the Bowery and 105 feet on the street, will be improved for the exclusive use of the bank, the total operation involving about $500,000. Hiram Rinaldo was the broker in the transaction.

Big Brooklyn Improvement.

An important Borough Park improvement will follow the sale by the Realty Associates of the block front on the west side of New Utrecht Avenue from Fifty-second to Fifty-third Street. This plot, containing 12 lots, has a frontage of 238 feet on New Utrecht Avenue, 75 feet on Fifty-second Street and 144 feet on Fifty-third Street. The purchaser, Asher Dann, will erect a two-story brick building on the Fifty-third Street corner, which has been leased by a bank, and on the balance of the block he will build eight three-story brick buildings with stores on the ground floor and two apartments above. This block was the last remaining vacant parcel owned by the sellers on the west side of New Utrecht Avenue between Forty-seventh and Fifty-fifth Streets.

Plans Dwelling Operations.

The Selmor Homes Corporation has been formed with an initial capital of $50,000 for the purchase, development and sale of private dwellings in the Borough of Manhattan. The corporation has just purchased from the Terrain Realty Company for its first venture 27 Sutton Place, a three-story dwelling on lot 16.8 by 75 feet. This property was purchased last week by the Terrain Realty Company from the estate of Emilie Paur. M. Morgenthau, Jr., Company and Everett M. Seixas Company were brokers in the sale and resale. James Frank is President of the Selmor Homes Corporation and the other officers are Carl B. Eimer, of the Amsterdam Development and Sales Company and E. Hart, Jr.

On Staten Island.

The Meister Builders, Inc., sold to a client six lots at Great Kills, S. I. The buyer intends to build bungalows. S. Domina was the broker.

BROOKLYN BUYERS ACTIVE.

Continue to Show Great Interest in Dwellings.

The Bulkley & Horton Company sold 883 Sterling Place, a three-story limestone front, on a lot 18.6 by 127.9, for Miss Louise Allaire and Mrs. H. D. Seaman to a client for occupancy.

Green Brothers sold 494 East Sixteenth Street, Ditmas Park, Flatbush, for E. J. Furman for occupancy. The property was valued at $23,500.

Harry M. Lewis sold for Robert Van Iderstine the four-story dwelling at 164 Lafayette Avenue, between Clermont Avenue and Adelphi Street, on a lot 20.4 by 100. The purchaser is the Avondale Building Corporation, Milton H. Ansorge, President. They are preparing plans to alter same into a modern bachelor apartment.

William Liss, Inc., sold 20 Sidney Place, a one-family house, on a plot 50 by 100, for the estate of C. A. Silver to a client who will alter into bachelor apartments.

Realty Associates sold 97 St. Felix Street, between Lafayette Avenue and Hanson Place, a three-story house; also 223 Duffield Street, a frame building, on a lot 20 by 100. The above two houses were purchased by the Reno Realty Company; also 472 Waverly Avenue, a three-story house, to Henrietta Crystall, and 161 and 163 Dean Street, two-and-a-half-story house, on a plot 75 by 100, to Bertha Kruger.

Howard C. Pyle & Co. report the sale of 98 Remsen Street, southeast corner of Henry Street, the residence of Colonel Timothy S. Williams, to Dr. Manning C. Field. The dwelling is three stories in height, on a lot 25 by 125, with an L 50 feet in depth on Henry Street. Dr. Field will occupy the house in the Fall after completion of contemplated alterations. Colonel Williams acquired the house in 1914 from the late Martin Joost.

Walter S. Ross and C. C. Gretsinger sold for B. Bakerman the plot 40 by 100 on the north side of Senator Street, 240 feet west of Sixth Avenue, to a builder for improvement.

J. H. D. Bergen & Son sold for Miriam Huff of Paterson, N. J., to Herman Cohen, the property at 35 Lafayette Avenue, opposite the Academy of Music.

File Park Avenue Plans.

Plans have been filed with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings for the construction of a seventeen-story fireproof apartment hotel on the west side of Park Avenue, whole front between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Streets. It will have a frontage of 200 feet on the avenue by 149 feet on Forty-ninth Street and 128 feet on Fiftieth Street. The sub-surface of the building is to be leased to the New York Central Railroad Company and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company. The New York State Realty and Terminal Company, of which Ira A. Place is Vice President, is the owner of record. Warren & Wetmore are the architects and have estimated the cost at $2,500,000.

MAKE YOURSELF A JUNIOR ACCOUNTANT
JUNIOR ACCOUNTANTS EARN $35-$50 A WEEK.
SENIOR ACCOUNTANTS EARN $50-$200 A WEEK.

If you are ambitious to become a successful accountant our training should enable you to make yourself a junior accountant, earning from $35 to $50 a week within five months, and WITHIN TWELVE MONTHS should qualify you for a position of senior accountant, auditor or income tax expert at a salary of at least $75 a week, with possibilities of double that or more.

It is only a question of industry—a fixed purpose to devote a few spare hours a week to intensive training in accordance with the most successful business training system ever devised—the La Salle Problem Method.

Thousands of ambitious men and women have doubled their income long before graduation through this short assured problem method of instruction.

LA SALLE PLACEMENT SERVICE.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, April 12—The storm that was central Sunday night over Southeastern Kansas advanced rapidly east-northeastward, and Monday night its centre was over Western Pennsylvania. It has been attended by general rains throughout the Atlantic and Gulf States, Tennessee and Arkansas, rain, changing to snow, in the Ohio and Middle Mississippi Valleys, and snow and rain in the region of the Great Lakes. As this storm is of marked intensity, storm warnings were displayed Monday afternoon along the Atlantic Coast at and north of Jacksonville, Fla., and warnings of freezing temperature were issued for the Ohio Valley and the lower lake region. In the Far Western districts the weather remained fair, except on the North Pacific Coast, where there were rains.

The temperature has fallen decidedly in the Gulf States, the Great Central Valleys and the region of the Great Lakes, and it has risen in the Middle Atlantic States and in the Rocky Mountain and Western Plateau regions.

The storm that is now over Western Pennsylvania will move east-northeastward and be attended by rains Tuesday in the Middle Atlantic States, rains, possibly turning to snow in the North Atlantic States, and by snows followed by clearing weather Tuesday in the Upper Ohio Valley and the lower lake region. On Wednesday the weather will be fair throughout the States east of the Mississippi River.

The weather will be much colder Tuesday and continue cool through Wednesday in the Atlantic and East Gulf States.

The temperature will rise Wednesday in the region of the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley and Tennessee.

FORECAST.

Eastern New York and Southern New England—Rain, possibly turning to snow Tuesday, much colder Tuesday; Wednesday fair and cool.

Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey—Rani, possibly changing to snow Tuesday, much colder Tuesday, temperature near freezing; Wednesday fair and cool.

The Civil Service.

City.

The following list for Civil Service Examiners is announced: James Conway 91.10, Ida Metcalf 85.10, Samuel Galston 84.80, John Kavanagh 83.10, Charles I. Stengle 83, John A. Ross 83, Anne Hochfelder 81, John Bradley 72.50.

The commission announces for May 18 an open examination for superintendent of operation, male, over 21, for vacancy at the Morgan General Ordnance Depot, South Amboy, N. J., and vacancies in the Ordnance Department at Large throughout the United States, at $2,500 to $3,500 a year. The duties require that the appointee be able to supervise the construction and maintenance of warehouse, roads, buildings, sewer and water systems, and heating and lighting plants. Competitors will be rated on education 10, experience and fitness 90. Applicants must have graduated from a four-year high school course or have equivalent education and have had three years of experience as a contractor or superintendent of construction on projects costing over $5,000. An expert knowledge of the purchase, handling and storage of all building materials is also necessary.

Sterling

THE stamp of sterling on silver is a mark of real quality. In accounting, there is also the sterling quality of service. It is quite comprehensive.

In auditing books it involves not only verifying details, but certifying to facts. In tax matters, it covers not only the preparing of returns but also protecting the interest of clients. In general business matters, it acts as counsel and guide, bringing to the clients whom it serves a broad point of view of modern business.

ONE KILLED, 11 HURT IN ELEVATED CRASH

COACH JARS A BUILDING

Panic Among Office Workers—Firemen Rescue Passengers Pinned Beneath Seats.

Struck by a six-car local elevated train at a crossover switch, a Ninth Avenue seven-car express train was knocked from the rails yesterday, one of the coaches navigating the elevated structure and crashing head on into a downtown office building. The wooden coach was shattered, and drove a large hole in the brick building, scattering the passengers into the street just above the Rector Street station.

Twelve persons were injured one of whom died later, but the injuries of the others were so slight that it was necessary to take only a few to hospitals.

Frederick Eferlein of 72 West Eighty-eighth Street, suffered a fractured skull. He was taken to the Broad Street Hospital, where he died last night.

Flying glass from the collision went through the windows into offices where fifty girls were employed by the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and the tremendous jolt of the coach striking the Hazen Building, where 1,200 persons were employed, caused panic.

The news of the accident spread quickly about the financial district, and thousands of persons rushed to the scene. Ambulances were hurried from St. Vincent's, Broad Street, Gouverneur, Volunteer and New York Hospitals. Fifty police reserves were rushed from the Old Slip and Beach Street Stations to check the excitement.

The front car of the local was the only one completely wrecked, the express train being undamaged save for a hole in the centre of the second car. It is believed that all the persons injured were in the front coach of the local.

An alarm of fire brought out several companies. Members of Engine Company 6 raised ladders against the coach suspended between the elevated structure and the office building. The firemen found three passengers pinned beneath seats and they were released.

Thomas J. Smith of 503 Van Cortlandt Avenue, motorman of the local, after he had received treatment for cuts on his head and face, said he was three minutes behind schedule time at Cortlandt Street. He was following the express about a car and a half length behind. He said he looked at the signal and thought it to be "all right to go ahead."

"A local train from 155th Street, in charge of Motorman Smith and Conductor Page, struck a southbound Ninth Avenue express train which was switching from the centre to the southbound track near Rector Station. The right of way had been given to the southbound express, the motorman of the local running past the red signal.

"Motorman Smith has been for thirty-four years in the service of the company without a serious accident. While several passengers were injured, fortunately it does not appear that any were seriously hurt."

The injured were:

Mrs. ELIZABETH FALTERMAN, 458 West Forty-first Street.
THOMAS R. MOSS, 319 East Forty-ninth Street.
JOHN FULSACO, 158 Hudson Avenue, Laurel Hill, Long Island.
A. N. STEWART, 11 West Eighty-fourth Street.
S. J. KUNKEL, 236 East Twenty-fifth Street.
J. D. MAYNARD, 458 West 151st Street.
EDWARD CANTON, 300 West 151st Street.
LOUIS MURPHY, 350 West 119th Street.
THOMAS F. SMITH, 605 Van Cortlandt Avenue.
PETER FARANA, 303 West 146th Street.

The elevated service was discontinued below Christopher Street for two and a half hours. All the cars in the wreck were wooden and an engineer expressed the belief that the accident would not have resulted so seriously if steel cars had been in use.

Smith, the motorman, was released after a preliminary investigation in custody of the Interborough Company. Assistant District Attorney Joyce has begun an investigation, while Deputy Public Service Commissioner Glennon is conducting another.

1 DEAD, 1 HURT IN BLAZE.

Body of Unidentified Man Found in Onetime Armory.

One man was burned to death and another seriously injured in a fire yesterday afternoon which partly destroyed one of the old landmarks of the city, now used as a factory building, at 3, 5, 7 and 9 Bedford Street, at West Houston Street. The body of the burned man, which was not identified, was found by Acting Battalion Chief McAleer while going through the wreckage on the fourth floor.

The injured man, who was not known in the neighborhood, appeared in the window of the fourth floor while the blaze was at its height. Patrolman George Kane of the Ninth Precinct, who had turned in the alarm, cried to him to wait for a ladder. The next moment the flames were encircling the man. Seizing several bags of excelsior which were alongside the curb, the patrolman huriedly piled them on the sidewalk, and the man jumped. Instead of landing on the bags, he struck the pavement. His clothing, which had caught on fire, was almost burned off. His right arm was fractured and he suffered internal injuries. He was taken to the New York Hospital.

The fire started in the factory of the Superior Ivory Novelty Company, on the second floor. According to Morris Reitzfeld, head of the firm, it was caused by an overheated lathe, which set fire to some inflammable material near by. Mr. Reitzfeld was burned in trying to put out the flames. Workmen spread the alarm throughout the building, and there was a general rush for the fire escapes and stairways. About fifty persons were in the building at the time.

The fire made such rapid headway to the third and fourth floors, occupied by nickel-plating and cabinet manufacturing companies, that three alarms were turned in, bringing Chief Kenlon and Deputy Chief Binns to the scene. The damage was estimated at $25,000.

During the civil war the building was known as the Starr Armory, and was used as a munitions factory.

CITY TO OPERATE STATEN ISLAND CARS

Trolley Company Agrees to Arbitrate on Amount of Rent to be Paid.

The way was cleared yesterday for the city to take over and operate the four trolley lines of the Staten Island Midland Railway Company by an agreement between the city and the company to settle the amount of rent the city shall pay for the cars by arbitration. The chief obstacle in the way was the demand of the company that the city should pay $9 a day for each one of the thirty cars. President LaGuardia of the Board of Aldermen considered the price exorbitant.

Now the rent is to be fixed by a representative of the city and another by the company, and if the two cannot agree they are to select a third from another city, who shall have the deciding vote. Mayor Hylan named Grover A. Whalen, Superintendent of Plant and Structures, as the representative of the city. The company has not yet selected the person to act for it. Mr. LaGuardia said that the rent question should be disposed of within a week or ten days, and that the city would probably be able to begin its first venture into the field of municipal operation in a fortnight.

To Protect Traction Mortgage.

The Guaranty Trust Company, through its attorneys, Stetson, Jennings & Russell, filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday a lis pendens preliminary to foreclosing a mortgage aggregating $18,061,289 against the property of the New York Railways Company. The mortgage covers all of the rolling stock, franchises and other property. The company is now in the hands of Job E. Hedges as receiver. The action was taken by the trust company to protect its interests. The mortgage, dated Jan. 2, 1912, was to secure an issue of New York Railways thirty-year first real estate gold bonds.

They are twilled silks, after the celebrated manner of a famous Italian master of loom-craft; just as fine furniture today is often copied from classic originals of the Renaissance.

Milan-Ease scarfs are among the sturdiest of the neckwear gentry, which is no more than right. Beauty should be imperishable.

And they are certainly beautiful. You must see them. A gorgeous riot of rich colorings and original designing, that tie up smartly in the new "pinch-knot."

We particularly ask that you do not judge Milan-Ease scarfs by their low $1.50 price. See them; judge the price by the scarfs.

Why Teachers Refuse a Compromise

The schedule they propose is a compromise—a cunning scheme that would cheat the teachers and fool the public.

It provides a 20% increase for the City Superintendent—no increase at all for evening school teachers—only a 3% increase (amounting in dollars to almost nothing) for high school teachers.

DON'T BE FOOLED!

The Lockwood-Donohue bill, which the teachers urge you to support, provides a fair scale of increase for all teachers. Under it, elementary school teachers would get a 40% increase, high school teachers a 30% increase, principals and superintendents a 20% increase.

This means that under the provisions of the Lockwood-Donohue bill, the average salary for elementary school teachers would be $2300 a year—for high school teachers, $2650.

Act at Once!

Write or telegraph your Assemblyman and your Senator at Albany, N. Y., and tell them it is their duty to support the Lockwood-Donohue bill, which provides for a fair increase in teachers' salaries.

MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY

> "—leaves the bulk of the estate to his wife, ————, who is named as executrix."
> —Newspaper Item

In effect, he serves notice on the world that his wife is his peer in business capacity and is fully equal to the task of managing the estate.

Undoubtedly there are women who are deserving of this splendid confidence, but they constitute a nearly negligible minority.

Even in these scattered cases, it is not the part of wisdom to burden one individual with the endless detail and red tape involved in administering an estate of even moderate size.

If you wish to insure sound business management for the property you leave your family, you can do so by appointing the Mercantile Trust Company executors and trustees under your will.

In addition to the constant supervision of our trust officers, the securities held in trust for your family will be reviewed at frequent and regular intervals by a TRUST COMMITTEE composed of three men selected from the Mercantile Board of Directors, on the basis of special fitness. The President of the Company serves with this experienced Committee ex officio.

We shall be glad to explain any details.
